

The Three Little Pigs

Read the story and answer the questions on the next page.

Once upon a time, there were three little pigs who set out to seek their fortunes. Before they left home, their mother warned them to build strong houses to protect themselves from the big bad wolf.

The first little pig built his house out of straw because it was the easiest thing to do. The second little pig built his house out of sticks. It was a bit stronger than the straw house, but still not very sturdy. The third little pig worked hard and built his house out of bricks.

One day, the big bad wolf came along. He knocked on the door of the straw house and said, "Little pig, little pig, let me come in." The first little pig answered, "Not by the hair on my chinny chin chin!" So the wolf huffed and puffed and blew the house down! The first little pig ran to the second pig's house made of sticks.

The wolf followed and knocked on the stick house's door. "Little pig, little pig, let me come in," he said. The second little pig replied, "Not by the hair on my chinny chin chin!" So the wolf huffed and puffed and blew the stick house down! The two pigs ran to the third pig's brick house.

The wolf followed them and knocked on the brick house's door. "Little pig, little pig, let me come in," he said. The third little pig answered, "Not by the hair on my chinny chin chin!" So the wolf huffed and puffed, but he couldn't blow the brick house down. He tried and tried, but the house was too strong.

Finally, the wolf gave up and went away. The three little pigs lived happily ever after in their strong brick house.

Not A Trio Two Stories And A Novella:

The Faulkes Chronicle David Huddle, 2015-04-01 A work of uncanny originality David Huddle's nineteenth book is the account of an extraordinary death trip taken by a charismatic and beloved woman her husband and an astonishing number of offspring from infants to young adults The Faulkes Chronicle explores how children grieve and shows how the wit and courage of even the littlest brothers and sisters can be a source of resilience Familial conversation composes an intimate requiem transforming loss into comprehension Only one of our finest writers could manage this delicate material The Faulkes Chronicle is a brief autumnal novel made of momentary details yet with an encompassing grandeur Southern Writers

Joseph M. Flora, Amber Vogel, 2006-06-21 This new edition of Southern Writers assumes its distinguished predecessor's place as the essential reference on literary artists of the American South Broadly expanded and thoroughly revised it boasts 604 entries nearly double the earlier edition's written by 264 scholars For every figure major and minor from the venerable and canonical to the fresh and innovative a biographical sketch and chronological list of published works provide comprehensive concise up to date information Here in one convenient source are the South's novelists and short story writers poets and dramatists memoirists and essayists journalists scholars and biographers from the colonial period to the twenty first century What constitutes a southern writer is always a matter for debate Editors Joseph M Flora and Amber Vogel have used a generous definition that turns on having a significant connection to the region in either a personal or literary sense New to this volume are younger writers who have emerged in the quarter century since the dictionary's original publication as well as older talents previously unknown or unacknowledged For almost every writer found in the previous edition a new biography has been commissioned Drawn from the very best minds on southern literature and covering the full spectrum of its practitioners Southern Writers is an indispensable reference book for anyone intrigued by the subject The Noir Novel
