Old Guy Who Feels Good:

Darryl T. Mallard, 2008-12-17 It's been over a year since Okajima Seijiro put his plan to blackmail Reina get his hands on Megumi and gain possession of the Kitsuragi fortune with the help of Boss Chiba into motion Now the seeds of their misdeeds both past and present have born bitter fruit A savage war is now raging in both the Japan's criminal and corporate worlds Although Okajima had succeeded in acquiring Megumi in an arranged marriage to his son Goro and then forcing her to become his mistress his main objective has eluded him The defiant Nobutada formally adopted Megumi's former fiancé Harada Kenta blocking Okajima's son Goro from succession and Okajima must now face the combined might of the vengeful Kitsuragi and Harada families Also Chiba has caused a bloodbath by arousing the wrath of Harada Reina's Uncle James Edward Dellroy one of America's wealthiest and certainly most dangerous black entrepreneurs Ezomo Dellroy's alternate identity is respected and even feared throughout the African Diaspora and now Japan as well The violence has now spread even as far as the Philippines as Ezomo and his Korean ally Boss Park have targeted the Yamakage's illicit Sex Trade and Maeda's gambling turf with a vengeance Now as the cost in money reputations and lives begin to mount Okajima and Chiba now look for a way out Unfortunately Kitsuragi and his allies want nothing less than vengeance for Reina's honor as in Chiba's head Megumi's freedom and the utter ruination of the Okajima family The deadliest enemies of all being none other than the women for whose sake all this chaos began in the first place Kitsuragi Nobutada's daughter Megumi and her surrogate mother Harada Akio's Afro-Asian wife Reina However Chiba's former boss and now reluctant ally Boss Maeda believes that the key to peace might just be Okajima's and Megumi's infant son dark little Noburo Gaslight Grimoire Charles Prepolec, J. Ensouling Language Stephen Harrod Buhner, 2010-08-23 The first comprehensive work on nonfiction as an art form Shows how nonfiction especially how to and self help can take on the same power and luminosity as great fiction Develops processes to reliably induce the dreaming state from which all writing comes Teaches the skill of analogical thinking that is the core perceptual tool for writers Explores the subtle techniques of powerful writing from inducing associational dreaming in the reader to language symmetry sound patterning foreshadowing feeling flow and more Approaching writing as a sacred art Stephen Buhner explores the core of the craft the communication of deep meaning that feeds not just the mind but also the soul of the reader Tapping into the powerful archetypes within language he shows how to enrich your writing by following golden threads of inspiration while understanding the crucial invisibles essential to the art of both fiction and nonfiction how to craft language with feeling and vision employ altered states of mind to access the writing trance clear your work by recognizing the powerful sway of cliché thinking and hidden baggage and intentionally generate duende that physical emotional response to art that gives you chills opens up unrecognized aspects of reality or simply resonates in your soul Covering some very practical aspects of writing such as layering and word symmetry the author also explores the inner world of publishing what you really will encounter when you become a writer He then shows how to develop a powerful and engaging book proposal based on understanding the proposal as a work of fiction the map is never the territory nor is the proposal the book that it will become This book written using all the techniques discussed within it offers a powerful experiential journey into the heart of writing. It does for nonfiction what John Gardner's books on writing did for fiction. It is one of the most significant works on writing published in our time. The Saturday Evening Post, 1925 Degrees of Explicitness John Leafgren, 2002-07-26 This book explores factors relevant in the choices speakers and writers make in regard to explicitness of reference to the subjects and objects in their utterances. Bulgarian is a particularly felicitous target language for this type of study since it possesses a rich inventory of available packaging techniques ranging from zero reference to various stressed and unstressed single forms to actual doubled reduplicated constructions. The study systematically addresses the need to avoid referential and grammatical ambiguity and the crucial influence of emphasis. Another and perhaps most interesting central factor is the status of what the communication is about which is assessed on two different levels. The book makes use of data from both published Bulgarian fiction and naturally occurring oral conversations. The fundamental similarities between these modes of communication with respect to noun phrase selection is demonstrated but explanations are also proposed for the observable differences.

Collected Prose Paul Auster, 2024-08-06 The expanded edition of an essential collection of writings, essays and interviews from Paul Auster, one of the finest thinkers and stylists in contemporary letters. The celebrated author of The New York Trilogy, The Book of Illusions, and 4 3 2 1 presents here a highly personal collection of essays, prefaces, true stories, autobiographical writings, and collaborations with artists as well as occasional pieces written for magazines and newspapers, including his breathtaking memoir Financial Times. The Invention of Solitude, ranging in subject from Sir Walter Raleigh to Kafka, Nathaniel Hawthorne to the high wire artist Philippe Petit, conceptual artist Sophie Calle to Auster's own typewriter, the World Trade Center catastrophe to his beloved New York City itself, Collected Prose records the passions and insights of a writer who will be remembered as one of the great writers of our time. San Francisco Chronicle Groundwork Paul Auster, 2020-05-05 A collection of autobiographical nonfiction including the memoir The Invention of Solitude by the Booker Prize finalist and literary original The Wall Street Journal. Paul Auster spent his decades-long writing career examining what it means to be truly alive. For the first time in this self-curated collection, he stitches together various autobiographical writings to lay bare the trajectory of both his personal life and sense of self. From his breakout memoir The Invention of Solitude, which solidified Auster's reputation as a canonical voice in American letters, to excerpts from his later memoirs Winter Journal and Report from the Interior, readers are ushered into the inner workings of Auster's self-development. His sweeping recollection winds through the halls of Columbia University during the turbulent 1960s and into life as a young poet turned novelist, journeys into the past via newspaper clippings about a century-old murder case in his family, and dives headfirst into the realities that accompany aging today. Along the way, Auster continually challenges the notion of what autobiography can be, inverting the form through fragmentation and ultimately illustrating firsthand the brilliance behind one of the great writers of our time. San Francisco Chronicle, Atkinson's Evening Post, and Philadelphia Saturday News
