and academic clichs by offering detailed accounts of postwar disputes over nuclear weapons Arctic waters oil and gas and the Iraq War Although early Cold War disputes were governed by a diplomatic culture that was genuinely special the limits of Canadian autonomy are now defined by the ever shifting alignment of interest groups in Washington and by international agreements and organizations Alberta Formed - Alberta Transformed Alberta 2005 Centennial History combination of history description analysis and theory building makes the book highly informative and useful Katz shows that although energy supply is one of the greatest problems facing our generation and a key factor in the competition among world powers Congress has often been unable to form effective energy policies By examining Congress s reaction to the energy policy initiatives of recent administrations the organizational and sociological limitations of the nation s ability to grapple with the development of a comprehensive energy policy and the attempts to build a governmental organization to administer it Katz provides new insight into Congress as an organization as well as into the proclivities and dynamics of the U S policy system He also applies his own theory of organization to Congress to help predict and explain Congressional behavior
