Curwin, 2010-04-15 Motivation and hope are two items in short supply in many urban schools But it doesn't have to be that way according to Richard L. Curwin Based on input from teachers across the United States and on his own personal experiences Curwin offers suggestions that every school can use to keep students in the classroom and looking toward a brighter future In Meeting Students Where They Live Curwin urges teachers and administrators in urban schools to move away from a focus on control uniformity lack of tolerance and ironclad rules toward an approach based on compassion understanding tolerance and safety for all Each chapter examines problems common to urban schools and offers comprehensive long reaching remedies plus concrete strategies for engaging troubled and hard to reach youth Meeting Students Where They Live explores ways to Welcome all students Build lessons that involve and engage Stay motivated and energized Design assignments that students will actually do and Use evaluation to encourage and build learning rather than defeat it Meeting Students Where They Live also includes classroom activity sheets submitted by teachers working in a variety of urban environments from inner city schools to a detention center Promoting Family Wellness and Preventing Child Maltreatment Isaac Prilleltensky, Geoffrey Brian Nelson, Leslea Peirson, 2001-01-01 Deals with the promotion of emotional well being in families and the prevention of child maltreatment Values policies and resources are examined as both facilitators of and barriers to effective action Preparing To Teach Writing James D. Williams, 2003-03

If Parents Cared Enough... Mary M. Hall-Rayford, 2012-09-10 Everyone knows by now or least thinks they know that a majority of students especially inner city students fall short on standardized tests in most public schools Media reports as well as government entities always infer that the fault of low student performance falls on the shoulders of the teachers Really Teachers have no control over the environment in which a child is raised Teachers have no control over whether parents read or do not read to their children

Teachers have no control over district policies that do not add up to real school reform Teachers have no control over legislators who care more about politics than educating children So how is it that it is always the teachers fault that students do not perform well Student performance in schools excel when parents are actively engaged in creating and maintaining an environment that is conducive to learning raising children who are respectful and responsible getting involved in the business of learning in the schools with the local school board and in electing officials responsible for legislation regarding education
