The Promise of the West Mary Barmeyer O'Brien,2015-10-05 Driven by the promise of prosperity and opportunity on the frontier thousands of men and women traveled west in the mid 1800s to forge a new life Accompanying them were their children wide eyed and excited about the adventures that awaited them as they headed toward the setting sun Little did they know how treacherous and grueling the trip would be The toil and danger of overland travel forced parents to depend on their children to assist in their ultimate survival Girls were called upon to help cook set up and break camp and mind younger siblings Boys were called upon to help drive the wagons herd the oxen and horses assist with wagon repairs and guard the camp at night Even with their endless chores many pioneer boys and girls found time to record the details of their journeys in letters and diaries This collection of short episodes from the lives of these children on the trail offers fresh perspectives on the experience California. Haley's heart was shattered by the tragic death of her parents. A child of the bayou, she seeks solace in the dark, comforting shadows of her childhood home. There, things make sense. Or at least they used to. Late one evening, Haley encounters a strange and beautiful creature in her dreams. She is stunned by the terrifying glory of his pearly black wings and ashen skin, but it is his eyes that have stolen her will to escape. Deep within the mysteries of the diamond eyes of this fallen angel, she knows she is home. A pragmatic woman who does not believe in the seductive magic that swirls inescapably throughout her hometown of New Orleans, Haley brushes the dream off, but she can't stop thinking about him. Elsewhere in New Orleans, another life is distracted by dreams of an impossibly beautiful young woman with rich raven hair and a sad, wounded soul. In all of his immortal years, the angel vampire Luke has never seen someone so lovely and so broken. He knows her name is Haley, and he is helpless in his attraction to her. The two dreams become a glorious reality, and love is their reward. When he offers her immortality at his side, she must make the biggest decision of her life. Should she let her mortal life go to be with him? Is she willing to pay the terrible price for eternity at his side?
