Reflections On The History Of Art:

Reflections on the History of Art Ernst Hans Gombrich, 1987-01-01 Essays discuss Greek and Chinese art Da Vinci Michelangelo Dutch genre painting Rubens Rembrandt art collecting museums and Freud's aesthetics The Practice of Art History Otto Pächt, 1999 This is a classic essay on how to approach the subject of art history Pächt aims to sharpen perceptions by recreating the social and cultural context in which an art object was made Encyclopedia of Contemporary Literary Theory Irene Rima Makaryk, 1993-01-01 The last half of the twentieth century has seen the emergence of literary theory as a new discipline As with any body of scholarship various schools of thought exist and sometimes conflict within it I R Makaryk has compiled a welcome guide to the field Accessible and jargon free the Encyclopedia of Contemporary Literary Theory provides lucid concise explanations of myriad approaches to literature that have arisen over the past forty years Some 170 scholars from around the world have contributed their expertise to this volume Their work is organized into three parts In Part I forty evaluative essays examine the historical and cultural context out of which new schools of and approaches to literature arose The essays also discuss the uses and limitations of the various schools and the key issues they address Part II focuses on individual theorists It provides a more detailed picture of the network of scholars not always easily pigeonholed into the categories of Part I This second section analyses the individual achievements as well as the influence of specific scholars and places them in a larger critical context Part III deals with the vocabulary of literary theory It identifies significant complex terms places them in context and explains their origins and use Accessibility is a key feature of the work By avoiding jargon providing mini bibliographies and cross referencing throughout Makaryk has provided an indispensable tool for literary theorists and historians and for all scholars and students of contemporary criticism and culture Thinking Through Art Katy Macleod, Lin Holdridge, 2006 The artists philosophers art historians and cultural theorists contributing to this book address the complexity of interpreting art as research and suggest ways in which the visual and the verbal could engage in more productive and open discussions The Art of Art History Donald Preziosi, 2009 This anthology is a guide to understanding art history through critical reading of the field's most innovative and influential texts focusing on the past two centuries Encyclopedia of Historians and Historical Writing Kelly Boyd, 2019-10-09 The Encyclopedia of Historians and Historical Writing contains over 800 entries ranging from Lord Acton and Anna Comnena to Howard Zinn and from Herodotus to Simon Schama Over 300 contributors from around the world have composed critical assessments of historians from the beginning of historical writing to the present day including individuals from related disciplines like Jürgen Habermas and Clifford Geertz whose theoretical contributions have informed historical debate Additionally the Encyclopedia includes some 200 essays treating the development of national regional and topical historiographies from the Ancient Near East to the history of sexuality In addition to the Western tradition it includes substantial assessments of African Asian and Latin American historians and debates on gender and subaltern studies Encounters & Reflections Arthur C.

Danto,1997-01-01 Provides a collection of essays on modern art covering such artists as Andy Warhol David Hockney and Robert Mapplethorpe      Teaching Art History with New Technologies Kelly Donahue-Wallace,Laetitia La Follette,Andrea Pappas,2009-05-05 Digital images Internet resources presentation and social software interactive animation and other new technologies offer a host of new possibilities for art history instruction Teaching Art History with New Technologies Reflections and Case Studies assists faculty in negotiating the digital teaching terrain The text documents the history of computer mediated art history instruction in the last decade and provides an analysis of the increasing number of tools now at the disposal of art historians It presents a series of reflections and case studies by early adopters who have not just replaced older materials with new but who have advanced the discipline s pedagogy in doing so The essays illustrate how new technologies are changing the way art history is taught summarize lessons learned and identify challenges that remain Given the transitional state of the field with faculty ranging from the computer phobic to the computer savvy these case studies represent a broad spectrum from those that focus on the thoughtful integration of new technologies into traditional teaching to others that look beyond the familiar art history lecture or seminar format They provide both practical suggestions and theoretical models for historians of art and visual culture interested in what computer mediated applications have been successful in art history teaching and where such new approaches may be leading us      Art History for Comics Ian Horton,Maggie Gray,2022-09-20 This book looks at comics through the lens of Art History examining the past influence of art historical methodologies on comics scholarship to scope how they can be applied to Comics Studies in the present and future It unearths how early comics scholars deployed art historical approaches including stylistic analysis iconography Cultural History and the social history of art and proposes how such methodologies updated in light of disciplinary developments within Art History could be usefully adopted in the study of comics today Through a series of indicative case studies of British and American comics like Eagle The Mighty Thor 2000AD Escape and Heartbreak Hotel it argues that art historical methods better address overlooked aspects of visual and material form Bringing Art History back into the interdisciplinary nexus of comics scholarship raises some fundamental questions about the categories frameworks and values underlying contemporary Comics Studies      Reflections on History and Historians Theodore S. Hamerow,1987 History as a field of learning is in a state of crisis It has lost much of its influence in institutions of higher learning and its place in public esteem Historians have in large part lost touch with the intelligent lay reader and with the undergraduate college student History s value to society is being questioned In this work a distinguished historian views the profession to which he has been devoted for more than thirty years Theodore S Hamerow s learned observations will be welcomed by all historians and by those involved in the management of higher education and should be required reading for all graduate students in history Far from being a sentimental look at the past Hamerow s work confronts the unpleasant reality of the present History he says flatly is a discipline in retreat The profession is in serious trouble and there are no signs that its problems will be resolved in the foreseeable future After identifying the current crisis Hamerow proceeds to trace the development of the profession over the last hundred years and to examine its characteristics in modern society In this section of the book he shares some fascinating practical observations on the ways in which the profession operates Hamerow explains why some historians rise to prominence while others do not He also examines causes of the dissatisfactions that afflict many historians and their students Hamerow also examines the way in which academic historians live their lives as he expands on the daily realities that they face He then explains how those realities have shaped scholarship and led to the new history The broad use of social science methods he observes has had the effect of isolating the new historians from traditional historians indeed from one another Couched in the arcane prose of machine readable languages says Hamerow history has become inaccessible to the intelligent lay reader who had once read historical works with interest understanding and appreciation In concluding his examination Hamerow asks What is the use of history It has long been a favorite question asked by historians but seldom one over which they agonized for very long After considering various arguments for the usefulness of historical investigation Hamerow offers his own justification There are times says Hamerow when even the most spontaneous or instructive cultural pursuits need to be examined in the light of the purposes they serve and the goals they seek Now might be a good time for all historians to take a long look at the direction their discipline has taken in the past century at the functions it has come to perform and at the serious dilemma it now faces Hamerow is a steady and helpful guide to any such examination

The Invention of Art History in Ancient Greece Jeremy Tanner, 2006-03-23 The ancient Greeks developed their own very specific ethos of art appreciation advocating a rational involvement with art This book explores why the ancient Greeks started to write art history and how the writing of art history transformed the social functions of art in the Greek world It looks at the invention of the genre of portraiture and the social uses to which portraits were put in the city state Later chapters explore how artists sought to enhance their status by writing theoretical treatises and producing works of art intended for purely aesthetic contemplation which ultimately gave rise to the writing of art history and to the development of art collecting The study which is illustrated throughout and draws on contemporary perspectives in the sociology of art will prompt the student of classical art to rethink fundamental assumptions about Greek art and its cultural and social implications

The Routledge Companion to Digital Humanities and Art History Kathryn Brown, 2020-04-15 The Routledge Companion to Digital Humanities and Art History offers a broad survey of cutting edge intersections between digital technologies and the study of art history museum practices and cultural heritage The volume focuses not only on new computational tools that have been developed for the study of artworks and their histories but also debates the disciplinary opportunities and challenges that have emerged in response to the use of digital resources and methodologies Chapters cover a wide range of technical and conceptual themes that define the current state of the field and outline strategies for future development This book offers a timely perspective on trans disciplinary developments that are reshaping art historical research conservation and teaching

This book will be of interest to scholars in art history historical theory method and historiography and research methods in education      Reflections on Art History Courtney Sanford,2021-06-07 Gain a deeper understanding of art history as you draw and paint your own versions of 25 masterpieces from art history A brief introduction to the artist and the time period gets you started then step by step instructions and inspiration help you create your own work of art in response      The New Art History Jonathan P.
