Healthcare leaders are facing major change in how healthcare is delivered as we move from fee for service payment models to pay for value Physicians and hospitals are evolving from separate financial entities with relationships varying from customers workshops to competitors to unified systems Government policy maker payers and hordes of consultants advise hospitals to increase physician leadership in all parts of the system However few have proposed how this can be done when the gaps between hospitals and physicians are so wide Physicians do not trust healthcare leaders lack leadership and teamwork skills and have little knowledge of how systems work Some hospital leaders are working to overcome these gaps by setting up dyad leadership teams consisting of a physician and an experienced manager leader The physician member of the team helps with the first gap the nurse or other dyad partner is important to manage the other gaps Until now with the publication of Dyad Clinical Leadership there has not been a source to help clinical dyad partners learn and understand how to work together in this emerging management model Kathleen D Sanford DBA RN CENP FACHE Senior Vice President and Chief Nursing Officer at Catholic Health Initiatives CHI builds on CHI's success with this unique playbook for the model Faculty Health in Academic Medicine Thomas Cole, Thelma Jean Goodrich, Ellen R. Gritz, 2009-01-06 In the 21st century academic medical centers across the United States continue to make scientific breakthroughs to make improvements in patient care and to provide the most advanced information and guidance in matters affecting public health. The signs of growth are everywhere in new research buildings, new partnerships with industry, new forms of molecular medicine and new sensitivity to the role of the human spirit in healing. This growth is due in large part to the dedication and productivity of our faculty who are providing more patient care, more research, more teaching and more community service than ever before. Today there are roughly 135,000 physicians, scientists and other faculty working at approximately 125 academic medical centers around the country. Increasingly they are asked to do more with less. Since the 1990s academic medical centers in the United States have lost the financial margin they once enjoyed, thereby putting new pressures on research, education and clinical care. Medical school faculty previously given funded time for teaching and research are increasingly drafted to bring in clinical revenues to cover their salaries. Dedicated to the missions of research, teaching and care, our faculty have responded well to these challenges and perform at a very high level. However, we are beginning to see the results of ongoing stress.
