Trumbower, 2001-09-27 Christianity is a religion of salvation in which believers have always anticipated post mortem bliss for the faithful and non salvation for others Here Trumbower examines how and why death came to be perceived as such a firm boundary of salvation Analyzing exceptions to this principle from ancient Christianity he finds that the principle itself was slow to develop and not universally accepted in the Christian movement s first four hundred years In fact only in the West was this principle definitively articulated due in large part to the work and influence of Augustine      Old Christianity against Papal novelties.
