Willing Citizens And the Making of the Good Society, 2007

Civil Society in Comparative Perspective Bernard Enjolras, Karl Henrik Sivesind, 2009-12-01 Presents a collection of comparative studies of civil society around two main issues the comparison and analysis of civil society regimes in relation to different constructions of citizenship and welfare states and the role of civil society in governance and active participation of citizens

Carole Pateman Terrell Carver, Samuel Chambers, 2013-03 Carole Pateman's writings have been innovative precisely for their qualities of engagement pursued at the height of intellectual rigour This book draws from her vast output of articles chapters books and speeches to provide a thematic yet integrated account of her innovations in political theory and contributions to the politics of policy making The editors have focused on work in three key areas Democracy Pateman's perspective is rooted in a practical perspective enquiring into and speculating about forms of participation over and above the traditional exclusions through which representative systems have been variously constructed over time Her work pushes hard on theorists and politicians who make easy assumptions about apathy and public opinion who bracket off the workplace and the home and who see politics only in partisan activity voter behaviour and governmental policy Women Pateman's innovative and still cited work on participation antedates the feminist revolution in political theory and many of the practical struggles that developed through the later 1970s While woman centred her concerns were always worked through larger conceptions of social class economic advantage power differentials liberal individualism and contracts including marriage Her feminism was innovative in political theory and within feminism itself As a feminist Pateman defies categorization and her concepts of the sexual contract and Wollstonecraft's dilemma are canonical Welfare Pateman's innovation here is an integration of welfare issues in particular the proposals for a basic income or for a capital stake into her broad but always rigorous conception of democracy This is argued through in terms of citizenship taken as the result of a social contract In that way Pateman puts liberalism itself through an imminent critique drawing in the practicalities and risks of life in late capitalist societies Her theory as always is political taking in neo liberal attacks on welfare states and the stark realities of international inequalities Pateman's career achievements in democratic and feminist theory are brought productively to bear on debates that would otherwise occur in more limited and less provocative academic and political contexts
