included A Different Point of View Misao Dean,1991 Misao Dean argues convincingly that Duncan's point of view was largely informed by nineteenth century Canadian idealism Making excellent use of the latest insights of feminist criticism and post colonial literary theory Dean explores the double marginalisation of Duncan as both a colonial and a woman She establishes gender as an important element in the form and content of Duncan's novels and feminism as a significant influence on Duncan's point of view

The Imperialist (1904). By: Sara Jeanette Duncan Sara Jeannette Duncan,2018-05-19 Sara Jeannette Duncan's classic portrait of a turn of the century Ontario town The Imperialist captures the spirit of an emergent nation through the example of two young dreamers Impassioned by the Imperialist idea Lorne Murchison rests his bid for office on his vision of a rejuvenated British Empire His sister Advena betrays a kindred attraction to the high flown ideals in her love for an unworldly and unavailable young minister Nimbly alternating between politics and romance Duncan constructs a superbly ironic object lesson in the Canadian virtue of compromise Sympathetic humorous and wonderfully detailed The Imperialist is an astute analysis of the paradoxes of Canadian nationhood as relevant today as when the novel was first published in 1904

Sara Jeannette Duncan 22 December 1861 22 July 1922 was a Canadian author and journalist who also published as Mrs Everard Cotes among other names First trained as a teacher in a normal school she took to poetry early in life and after a brief teaching period worked as a travel writer for Canadian newspapers and a columnist for the Toronto Globe Afterward she wrote for the Washington Post where she was put in charge of the current literature section Later she made a journey to India and married an Anglo Indian civil servant thereafter dividing her time between England and India She wrote 22 works of fiction many with international themes and settings Her novels met with mixed acclaim and are rarely read today In 2016 she was named a National Historic Person on the advice of the Historic Sites and Monuments Board of Canada
