Vulnerability of Land Systems in Asia Ademola K. Braimoh, He Qing Huang, 2014-11-17 This book provides a comprehensive yet accessible overview of land systems vulnerability assessment in Asia fundamental to the understanding of the link between global change environmental sustainability and human wellbeing The extent and intensity of human interactions with the environment have increased spectacularly since the Industrial Revolution Thus the global change research community and development practitioners increasingly recognize the need to address the adverse consequences of changes taking place in the structure and function of the biosphere and the implications for society With a focus on Asia this book provides an overview of the vulnerability of land systems and the subsequent multiple stressors in this region The book offers a discussion surrounding the potential causal processes that affect land systems vulnerability and our capacity to cope with different perturbations It also identifies factors that help to integrate vulnerability assessment into policy and decision making Addresses the complex issues arising from human environment interactions that cannot be satisfactorily dealt with by core disciplinary methods alone Key coverage of a variety of topics from the vulnerability of smallholder agriculture and urban systems to the impact of socioeconomic processes at the sub regional level Coverage of the causal processes that affect land systems vulnerability and capacity to cope with different perturbations are documented Focus on integrating vulnerability assessment into policies and decision making Includes contributions from leading academics in the field

Understanding Culture Gavin Kendall, Gary Wickham, 2001-03-29 Understanding Culture offers an accessible and comprehensive overview of the field of cultural studies whilst also proposing a different way of doing cultural studies It focuses on the ways in which cultural objects and practices serve as both a means of ordering people's lives and as markers of that ordering The book reviews the state of the discipline of cultural studies and suggests a new theoretical and methodological orientation drawing on the work of Foucault scepticism Wittgenstein Harvey Sacks and John Law uses insights from a variety of sources to examine the complex ways in which meanings are manufactured as lives are ordered in particular social settings personal life education health the city and law and presents case studies that illustrate what the new cultural studies looks like covering colonialism everyday life and identity and technology Family Health John T. Pardeck, Francis K. O. Yuen, 1999-05-30 The profession of social work has since its inception stressed the importance of the family system in practice and policy development Even though the family has always been central to effective social work practice the framing of the family system from a holistic health perspective is new to the field This collection develops a family health perspective that will facilitate effective social work practice and policy development Family health is an emerging practice orientation within the field of social work A family health orientation practice utilizes a holistic approach that examines family strength and stress inside and outside the family system How families perceive these conditions and their ability to adapt and change will greatly determine how concerns are managed by the family system A critical role of the social work practitioner is to help families deal with these pressures at both the micro and macro levels The family health perspective examined in this collection deals with assessment and intervention through a family health approach research and evaluation on family health family health and cultural diversity family health and social policy and social service delivery through a family health approach On Twenty-Five Years of Social Epistemology James Collier, 2016-03-16 This edited collection charts the development of and prospects for conceiving knowledge as a social phenomenon The origin aims and growth of the journal Social Epistemology founded in 1987 serves to anchor each of the book's contributions Each contribution offers a unique but related insight on current issues affecting the organization and production of knowledge In addition each contribution proposes necessary questions practices and frameworks relevant to the rapidly changing landscape of our conceptions of knowledge The book examines the commercialization of science the neoliberal university the status and conduct of philosophy the cultures of computer software and social networking the practical political and anthropological applications of social epistemology and how we come to define what human beings are and what activities human beings can and should sustain A diverse group of noted international scholars lends necessary original and challenging perspectives on our collective approach to knowledge This book was originally published as a special issue of Social Epistemology Communicating Science Eileen Scanlon, Roger Hill, Kirk Junker, 1999 This volume traces the modern critical and performance history of this play one of Shakespeare's most loved and most performed comedies The essay focus on such modern concerns as feminism deconstruction textual theory and queer theory Critical Analysis of Science Textbooks Myint Swe Khine, 2013-06-26 The critical analysis of science textbooks is vital in improving teaching and learning at all levels in the subject and this volume sets out a range of academic perspectives on how that analysis should be done Each chapter focuses on an aspect of science textbook appraisal with coverage of everything from theoretical and philosophical underpinnings methodological issues and conceptual frameworks for critical analysis to practical techniques for evaluation Contributions from many of the most distinguished scholars in the field give this collection its sure footed contemporary relevance reflecting the international standards of UNESCO as well as leading research organizations such as the American Association for the Advancement of Science whose Project 2061 is an influential waypoint in developing protocols for textbook analysis Thus the book shows how to gauge aspects of textbooks such as their treatment of controversial issues graphical depictions scientific historiography vocabulary usage accuracy and readability The content also covers broader social themes such as the portrayal of women and minorities Despite newer more active pedagogies textbooks continue to have a strong presence in classrooms and to embody students socio historical inheritance in science Despite their ubiquitous presence they have received relatively little on going empirical study It is imperative that we understand how textbooks influence science learning This book presents a welcome and much needed analysis Tina A Grotzer Harvard University Cambridge Massachusetts USA The present book provides a much needed survey of the current state of research into science textbooks and offers a widerange of perspectives to inform the science of writing better science textbooks Keith S Taber University of Cambridge Cambridge United Kingdom Philosophy, Rhetoric, and the End of Knowledge Steve Fuller, James H. Collier, 2003-12-08 In this second edition of Steve Fuller's original work Philosophy

Rhetoric and the End of Knowledge A New Beginning for Science and Technology Studies James Collier joins Fuller in developing an updated and accessible version of Fuller's classic volume The new edition shifts focus slightly to balance the discussions of theory and practice and the writing style is oriented to advanced students It addresses the contemporary problems of knowledge to develop the basis for a more publicly accountable science The resources of social epistemology are deployed to provide a positive agenda of research teaching and political action designed to bring out the best in both the ancient discipline of rhetoric and the emerging field of science and technology studies STS The authors reclaim and integrate STS and rhetoric to explore the problems of knowledge as a social process problems of increasing public interest that extend beyond traditional disciplinary resources In so doing the differences among disciplines must be questioned the exercise of STS and the disciplinary boundaries must be renegotiated the exercise of rhetoric This book innovatively integrates a sophisticated theoretical approach to the social processes of creating knowledge with a developing pedagogical apparatus The thought questions at the end of each chapter the postscript and the appendix allow the reader to actively engage the text in order to discuss and apply its theoretical insights Creating new standards for interdisciplinary scholarship and communication the authors bring numerous disciplines into conversation in formulating a new kind of rhetoric geared toward greater democratic participation in the knowledge making process This volume is intended for students and scholars in rhetoric of science science studies philosophy and communication and will be of interest in English sociology and knowledge management arenas as well
