Deification in Eastern Orthodox Theology Emil Bartos, 2007-01-01 In recent years Eastern Orthodox thought has had an increasing influence on key aspects of contemporary Western Christian thought particularly as regards the doctrine of the Trinity and mystical spirituality However the foundations and fundamental presuppositions of Eastern Christianity's theological system have remained largely unstudied and thus unknown in the West In this important study Emil Bartos examines the doctrine of deification which provides the conceptual basis for the way Staniloae and other Orthodox theologians understand the major doctrines of the Christian faith The idea that God became man that man might become God sounds almost heretical to many Western ears yet this affirmation is repeated countless times in the writings of the Eastern Fathers Beginning with the apophaticism that lies at the heart of Eastern theology Bartos examines each of the key doctrines of anthropology christology soteriology and ecclesiology as they relate to deification in Staniloae's thought Bartos' study represents not merely a contribution to contemporary dialogue between Eastern and Western theologians but also a much needed introduction to an aspect of Christian thought down the centuries that is largely neglected in the Christian West

International Reception - Southern, Central and Eastern Europe Jon Stewart, 2016-12-14 Although Kierkegaard's reception was initially more or less limited to Scandinavia it has for a long time now been a highly international affair As his writings were translated into different languages his reputation spread and he became read more and more by people increasingly distant from his native Denmark While in Scandinavia the attack on the Church in the last years of his life became something of a cause célèbre later many different aspects of his work became the object of serious scholarly investigation well beyond the original northern borders As his reputation grew he was co-opted by a number of different philosophical and religious movements in different contexts throughout the world The three tomes of this volume attempt to record the history of this reception according to national and linguistic categories Tome II covers the reception of Kierkegaard in Southern Central and Eastern Europe The first set of articles under the rubric Southern Europe covers Portugal Spain and Italy A number of common features were shared in these countries reception of Kierkegaard including a Catholic cultural context and a debt to the French reception The next rubric covers the rather heterogeneous group of countries designated here as Central Europe Hungary the Czech Republic Slovakia and Poland These countries are loosely bound in a cultural sense by their former affiliation with the Habsburg Empire and in a religious sense by their shared traces these complex processes and explores how Rumania's leaders attempted to transform the ideology of modern nationhood into strong political economic and social institutions and to find ways of preserving independence in an international political and economic order dominated by the great powers. As the new Rumania took shape the threads of historical continuity remained strikingly evident in government: a strong administrative centralization prevailed despite the maturing of parliamentary institutions and the diversity of political expression; the national economy remained beholden to agriculture despite the steady growth of industry and in cultural life traditional values persisted despite the adoption of modern forms. In foreign relations the most pressing aim was to unite all Rumanians in a single state and to defend its sovereignty within an uncertain international order. In all these endeavours the measure of achievement was the West. After the Second World War when the Communist Party came to power this historical continuity was broken. The experiment in nation building gave way to a new ideology and Rumania now turned to the Soviet political and economic model.

Temporalities of Modernism Carmen Borbély, Erika Mihálycsa, Petronia Petrar, 2023-03-22 Temporalities of Modernism gathers fourteen scholars whose contributions readdress the very tenets of modernism by approaching its multifaceted relationship with time in a series of fresh and original essays. The contemporary energies behind the collection are rooted in the turbulence of the modernist age: relativity, irreversibility, duration, fragmentation, contingency and the looming threat of the apocalyptic future. The collection includes geographical areas often neglected by the habitual reduction of modernist studies to English speaking literary high modernism or to the concentration of famous figures in the traditional capital of modernism, Paris. Thus it offers detailed presentations of Italian pre WWI modernism, Czech Dadaism or of Polish, Romanian and Hungarian writers and artists. The borders also open in terms of genres and mediums as the contributions are not limited to fiction but examine the multi-faceted productions of modernist artists: poetry, theatre, painting, music, cinema, photography etc. In addition the limits are temporally stretched out as some contributions focus on more recent writers such as Sylvia Plath and their reactivation of modernist discoveries.

Invocations of Europe Sabina Cismas, 2016-09-12 The book examines the early history of music theatre in Romania in the nineteenth century and how it was instrumentalised as a vehicle for the overall modernization and Europeanization of the country. It deals with the complex interaction between the aristocrats who imported the opera, the local public, the foreign power holders in the time of the Russian Protectorate and the opera companies and musicians who came to Romania and shaped the musical life of the country.

Historians and Nationalism Monika Baár, 2010-02-25 Monika Baár examines the work of five prominent East Central European historians in the 19th century analyzing and contrasting their body of work their promotion of a national culture and the contributions they made to European historiography

Dystopia(n) Matters Fátima Vieira, 2013-07-16 The volume is divided into two parts separated by an Intermezzo The first part Dystopia Matters benefits from the contribution of reputed scholars of the field of Utopian Studies who were asked to make a statement explaining why dystopia is important The Intermezzo completes this part and offers the reader an informed discussion of the concepts of utopia dystopia and anti utopia whilst providing ground for the case studies presented in the second part in the sections devoted to literature film and theatre In one way or another despite the variety of approaches all contributors argue for the idea that if dystopia has invaded most forms of contemporary discourse its sibling utopia has not been eradicated from the scene Furthermore the studies show that the tension between the two concepts is instrumental to our cautious conscious and tentative construction of the future

The Politics of National Character Balázs Trencsényi, 2012-02-22 The book is a comparative analysis of the ideological constructions of national specificity in Romania Bulgaria and Hungary Studying the growing infatuation with national essence it seeks to understand the radicalization of nationalism in East Central Europe in connection with the shift of the notions of historicity and temporality Trencsényi provides a contextual analysis of the symbolic resources and available ideological references that were used for creating these discourses in the respective countries While focusing on the interwar period when these conceptions became central to the political debate he also reconstructs the long term historical evolution of the discourse of national characterology Through this prism the work offers a contextual reconstruction of the main debates of these elites on national identity from the mid 19th century until 1945 In the light of the three case studies the volume contributes to discussions of the problem of modernism and anti modernism in twentieth century political thought posing the question of the intellectual responsibility of intellectuals in constructing radical ideological frameworks This book offers a broad intellectual panorama discerning the common regional features as well as the considerable divergence between these three cases while also placing them into a wider European intellectual framework of the emergence of radical nationalism PNEVMATOLOGIA
