Barber,2003-10-07 Cyril Barber is convinced that the books of Samuel were written not to display the horror of David's sins of murder and adultery but rather to demonstrate God's faithfulness in raising up prophets, priests, and kings to move history toward the coming of Christ. The central focus of this commentary is to show that the sovereign God weaves His own historical patterns alongside human failure and sin. Some people will read this volume for the exegetical light it sheds on 2 Samuel. Others will seek personal applications and find help in the great lessons that can be learned from the mistakes and successes of the past. All who read it will derive a new appreciation for the work of God in human history. I should warn you that this commentary challenges familiar interpretations and looks at the events of 2 Samuel through a different set of glasses. But precisely for this reason I wish it a wide distribution.

Indigenous Knowledge Production Marcus Woolombi Waters, 2018-05-16. Despite many scholars noting the interdisciplinary approach of Aboriginal knowledge production as a methodology within a broad range of subjects including quantum mathematics, biodiversity, sociology, and the humanities, the academic study of Indigenous knowledge and people is struggling to become interdisciplinary in its approach and move beyond its current label of Indigenous Studies. Indigenous Knowledge Production specifically demonstrates the use of autobiographical ethnicity as a methodological approach where the writer draws on lived experience and ethnic background towards creative and academic writing. Indeed, in this insightful volume, Marcus Woolombi Waters investigates the historical connection and continuity that have led to the present state of hostility witnessed in race relations around the world, seeking to further one's understanding of the motives and methods that have led to a rise in white supremacy associated with ultra conservatism. Above all, Indigenous Knowledge Production aims to deconstruct the cultural lens applied within the West which denies the true reflection of Aboriginal and Black consciousness and leads to the open hostility witnessed across the world. This monograph will appeal to undergraduate and postgraduate students as well as postdoctoral researchers interested in fields such as Sociology of Knowledge, Anthropology, Cultural Studies, Ethnography, and Methodology.

Time in Archaeology Simon Holdaway, LuAnn Wandsnider, 2008-09-26. A tightly focused group of papers on the deconstruction and significance of the concept of time with a historical background on the development of time perspectivism and a range of case studies and examples. After reading this, you may never think about time in quite the same way.
