Macroeconomic Linkage:

Macroeconomic Linkage Takatoshi Ito, Anne O. Krueger, 2009-02-15 This volume explores East Asia's macroeconomic experience in the 1980s and the economic impact of East Asia's growth on the rest of the world. The authors explore the causes of capital flows changes in trade balances and exchange rate fluctuations in East Asia and their effects on other countries. These fourteen papers are organized around four themes: the overall determinants of growth and trading relations in the East Asian region; monetary policies in relation to capital controls and capital accounts; the impact of exchange rate behavior on industrial structure and the potential for greater regional integration. The contributors examine interactions among exchange rate movements, trade balances and capital flows; how government monetary policy affects capital flows; the effect of exchange rates on industrial structure, inventories and prices; and the extent of regional integration in East Asia.

Macroeconomic Linkages Between Hong Kong and Mainland China Hans GENBERY, Dong HE, 2008-07-01 This volume sheds light on the important policy issues facing both Hong Kong and the Mainland, including how resilient the Hong Kong economy is against external shocks; how large portfolio capital outflows from China will be once its capital account is liberalized; and in what ways fund flows between Hong Kong and the Mainland affect Hong Kong's monetary and financial conditions. With 11 essays, this monograph can be divided into 2 parts. Part I studies the real linkages between Hong Kong and the Mainland, while Part II focuses on the financial linkages. A detailed introduction written by the editors will serve as a non-technical summary of the essays. Published by City University of Hong Kong Press.

Macro-Financial Linkages in the Pacific Region Akira Kohsaka, 2015-03-05 Growth perspectives in emerging market economies are increasingly dependent on international capital flows in recent decades because of their influences on business cycles. In fact, volatile international capital flows have been one of the main concerns for the macroeconomic policy authorities. Focusing on emerging economies in the Pacific region, this book reveals how they are different from those in other regions in terms of international macro-financial linkages to the global capital market and domestic financial development. The book also discusses how these characteristics have interacted with their macroeconomic policy regimes and their macroeconomic performance throughout the two major international financial crises in the past more than two decades. It suggests factors that have strengthened the resilience of these emerging economies in the Pacific region against the global financial crisis, along with the intensified intra-regional economic integration through trade and investment. The book also examines their macroeconomic management, focusing on monetary policy regimes and suggests that their factual unorthodox policies with exchange rate management and capital controls have contributed to their resilience against the intrinsic volatility of the international capital market and financial flows.

Newnham finds strong evidence to show that positive forms of linkage such as foreign aid and trade or credit incentives are more effective than negative types such as embargoes His book significantly expands our understanding of the role played by economic sanctions in international politics at the same time that it offers a more systematic way of explaining German foreign policy

Harris,2009-03-25 This book addresses the growing interest in cluster and targeted economic developments reviewing the socioeconomic theoretical foundations of industry targeting and suggesting alternative methods of identifying industries for targeting World Bank East Asia and Pacific Economic Update, Spring 2020 World Bank,2020-04-07 Growth in the developing East Asia and Pacific region slowed sharply in 2020Q1 because of the negative impact of the Covid 19 on economic activity The decline has been broad based reflecting the interconnectedness of the EAP economies and reverberations from the global economy as the virus turned into a pandemic The Covid 19 outbreak followed an extended period of subdued growth in the region amid multiple external headwinds and heightened trade policy uncertainty China and other regional economies have implemented monetary and fiscal policy measures to mitigate the negative impact of the outbreak Growth in the East Asia and Pacific EAP region is projected to slow from 5.8 percent in 2019 to lower than expected 5.2 percent in 2020 reflecting the expected negative effects of the COVID 19 In this baseline scenario which is subject to significant uncertainty growth in the region is expected to recover to 5.6 percent in 2021 as the impact of Covid 19 gradually dissipates In the medium term regional growth is expected to continue its downward trend reflecting multiple structural headwinds Policymakers should focus on designing economically efficient transmission control policies that consider both the marginal costs and the marginal benefits of preventive measures Such policies would ideally be based on countries preparedness and exposure as well as economic circumstances Targeted fiscal and monetary policies can help reduce the economic disruption caused by COVID 19 in the short term In the medium term there is need to restore depleted buffers address sources of financial instability and invest in preventing and coping with infectious disease Given the growing interdependence between EAP countries coordinated policies and investments could increase resilience to shocks The Future of Industry in the Global Context: Management & manufacturing ,1993 Proceedings of the 2022
