Heart Made Whole Christa Black Gifford, 2016-06-07 In Heart Made Whole

Christa Black Gifford shares her own stories of loss betrayal and personal tragedy chronicling clear steps to redemption to help those in pain invite the true Healer into the tangled mess of their broken hearts Gifford reminds readers that pain is not their enemy however unhealed pain can become their greatest foe if it is not taken to Jesus Growing up as a preacher's kid Gifford had been submerged in Christian culture for decades when she uncovered the truth that there were broken parts of her heart that weren't on friendly terms with the God who lived inside Through disappointments and traumas she had learned to guard her heart from God keeping her angry entrapped and disconnected As struggles and hardships continued she finally learned to run towards her relationship with God when things got hard instead of running away from Him like she had in the past The more that she did this building her heart's capacity for intimacy and deep relationship the more her heart began to heal from the inside out She teaches the reader to access the solution that's already living inside of them the God who forever made their heart a home When trials and tragedy hit our lives in a fallen world our hearts can get smashed to bits and we end up putting God on trial and blaming Him for the mess But Christa helps readers understand that they don't have to live controlled by their circumstances or angry with God Instead she provides powerful insight and practical steps to turn the painful fire that comes to destroy us into an unexpected friend that can produce our greatest healing The condition of the heart determines the condition of life and the heart can be bound up and healed producing freedom and abundant life With personal workbook sections for each chapter Christa helps readers experience steps to turn their pain into the healing and wholeness available to every believer Will Thou be Made Whole? Anna LaQuawn Hinton, 2025-03-17 In Refusing to Be Made Whole Disability in Black Women s Writing author Anna LaQuawn Hinton examines how contemporary Black women writers present becoming disabled as a traumatic and violent experience of Black womanhood Nevertheless Black women embrace disabled Black womanhood by turning to Africanist spiritual understandings of wholeness which view debilitating injury and illness as not only physical but also spiritual not just an individual problem but a symptom of discord in the community Black women use these belief systems to reimagine healing in ways that make space for a variety of bodymindspirits Hinton maintains that this is not only a major theme in contemporary Black women s writing but that it also shapes the formal elements characteristic of the Black women s literary tradition Refusing to Be Made Whole analyzes texts published after the civil rights movements of the 1950s and 1960s focusing particularly on the late 1970s onward when Black women s writing flourished Through the lens of writings by authors such as Toni Cade Bambara Gayl Jones Gloria Naylor Ntozake Shange Audre Lorde Alice Walker Toni Morrison Octavia Butler Sapphire and Sarah E Wright Hinton addresses prominent critical discourses within Black feminist literary studies Hinton approaches the intersections of Africanist spirituality race gender class and disability conversations about representation community motherhood and sexuality through a Black feminist disability studies framework Refusing to Be Made Whole embraces the complex and multifaceted nature of Black women s writing arguing that through this collision of race gender and spirituality Black women writers speak healing and wellness into their readers lives and their own Toward a

Composition Made Whole Jody L. Shipka, 2011-04-30 To many academics composition still represents typewritten texts on 8 5 x 11 pages that follow rote argumentative guidelines In Toward a Composition Made Whole Jody Shipka views composition as an act of communication that can be expressed through any number of media and as a path to meaning making Her study offers an in depth examination of multimodality via the processes values structures and semiotic practices people employ every day to compose and communicate their thoughts Shipka counters current associations that equate multimodality only with computer digitized or screen mediated texts which are often self limiting She stretches the boundaries of composition to include a hybridization of aural visual and written forms Shipka analyzes the work of current scholars in multimodality and combines this with recent writing theory to create her own teaching framework Among her methods Shipka employs process oriented reflection and a statement of goals and choices to prepare students to compose using various media in ways that spur their rhetorical and material awareness They are encouraged to produce unusual text forms while also learning to understand the composition process as a whole Shipka presents several case studies of students working in multimodal composition and explains the strategies tools and spaces they employ She then offers methods to critically assess multimodal writing projects Toward a Composition Made Whole challenges theorists and compositionists to further investigate communication practices and broaden the scope of writing to include all composing methods While Shipka views writing as crucial to discourse she challenges us to always consider the various purposes that writing serves The Broken Vessel
