Media and Migration Russell King, Nancy Wood, 2013-04-15 Using examples from a range of countries this book illustrates how the media intervenes to affect the reception migrants receive and how it stimulates prospective migrants to move

Aesthetic Practices and Politics in Media, Music, and Art Rocío G. Davis, Dorothea Fischer-Hornung, Johanna C. Kardux, 2010-09-13 This volume analyzes innovative forms of media and music art installations television commercials photography films songs telenovelas to examine the performance of migration in contemporary culture Though migration studies and media studies are ostensibly different fields this transnational collection of essays addresses how their interconnection has shaped our understanding of the paradigms through which we think about migration ethnicity nation and the transnational Cultural representations intervene in collective beliefs Art and media clearly influence the ways the experience of migration is articulated and recalled intervening in individual perceptions as well as public policy To understand the connection between migration and diverse media the authors examine how migration is represented in film television music and art but also how media shape the ways in which host country and homeland are imagined Among the topics considered are new mediated forms for representing migration widening the perspective on the ways these representations may be analyzed readings of enactments of memory in trans and inter disciplinary ways and discussions of globalization and transnationalism inviting us to rethink traditional borders in respect to migration nation states as well as disciplines

Media Representation and the Global Imagination Shani Orgad, 2014-03-03 This book is a clear systematic original and lively account of how media representations shape the way we see our and others lives in a global age It provides in depth analysis of a range of international media representations of disaster war conflict migration and celebration The book explores how images stories and voices on television the Internet and in advertisements and newspapers invite us to relocate to distant contexts and to relate to people who are remote from our daily lives by developing mediated intimacy and focusing on the self It also explores how these representations shape our self narratives Orgad examines five sites of media representation the other the nation possible lives the world and the self She argues that representations can and should contribute to fostering more ambivalence and complexity in how we think and feel about the world our place in it and our relation to far away others Media Representations and the Global Imagination will be of particular interest to students and scholars of media and cultural studies as well as sociology politics international relations development studies and migration studies

Media and Communication in the Chinese Diaspora Wanning Sun, John Sinclair, 2015-09-16 The rise of China has brought about a dramatic increase in the rate of migration from mainland China At the same time the Chinese government has embarked on a full scale push for the internationalisation of Chinese media and culture Media and communication have therefore become crucial factors in shaping the increasingly fraught politics of transnational Chinese communities This book explores the changing nature of these communities and reveals their dynamic and complex relationship to the media in a range of countries worldwide Overall the book highlights a number of ways in which China's going global policy interacts with other factors in significantly reshaping the content and contours of the diasporic Chinese media landscape In doing so this book constitutes a major rethinking of Chinese transnationalism in the twenty first century

New Imagined Community Uriya Shavit,2009-09-22 Advanced media technologies have transformed immigrants relations with their departure and arrival societies This title explores how Muslim Arab religious scholars have developed over the years a theory that tasks Muslims living in the West with specific duties within the framework of their anticipated global Muslim nation

Migrant Anxieties Aine O'Healy,2019-01-24 During a period of heightened global concerns about the movement of immigrants and refugees across borders Migrant Anxieties explores how filmmakers in Italy have probed the tensions accompanying the country's shift from an emigrant nation to a destination point for over five million immigrants over the course of three decades In O'Healy traces a phenomenology of anxiety that is not only present at the sociopolitical level but also interwoven into the narrative strategies of over 30 films produced since 1990 throwing into sharp relief the interface between the local and the global in this transnational era Starting with the representation of post communist migrations to Italy from Eastern Europe and subsequent arrivals from Africa through the controversial frontier of Lampedusa O'Healy explores topics as diverse as the configuration of migrant labor affective surrogacy Italian whiteness and the legacy of Italy's colonial history Showing how contemporary filmmaking practices in Italy are linked to changes in the broader media landscape O'Healy analyzes the ways in which both Italian and migrant filmmakers are reimagining Italian society and remapping the nation's borderscape

The Transformation of the Media System in Turkey Eylem Yanardağoglu,2021-12-02 The book focuses on the changes that the media system in Turkey went through since early 2000s Its perspective considers sociology of citizenship and focuses on processes such as Europeanization de Europeanization authoritarianism on the one hand and implications of digitalization and convergence on the other It tracks the transformation of the media system through the trajectories of normative participative and entrepreneurial citizenship practices The final sections focus on aspects of convergence evidenced in bottom up and participatory forms of digital media such as the birth of citizen journalism and fact checkers after the demise of conventional mainstream media in recent years

Asylum-Seeking, Migration and Church Susanna Snyder,2016-04-15 Asylum Seeking Migration and Church addresses one of the most pressing issues confronting contemporary society How are we to engage with migrants Drawing on studies of church engagement with asylum seekers in the UK and critical immigration and refugee issues in North America Snyder presents an extended theological reflection on both the issue of asylum seeking and the fears of established populations surrounding immigration This book outlines ways in which churches are currently supporting asylum seekers encouraging closer engagement with people seen as other and more thoughtful responses to newcomers Creatively exploring biblical and theological traditions surrounding the stranger Snyder argues that as well as practising a vision of inclusive community churches would do well to engage with established population fears Trends in global migration and the dynamics of fear and hostility surrounding immigration are critically and creatively explored throughout the book Inviting more complex nuanced responses to asylum seekers and immigrants this book offers invaluable insights to those interested in Christian ethics practical theology social work mission and faith and social action as well as those working in the field of migration

Welcome Home Mr Swanson Ann-Kristin Wallengren, 2014-01-10 Between 1840 and 1940 more than one million people emigrated from Sweden to America The fact that so many chose to leave to seek a better life across the Atlantic was a major trauma for the Swedish nation Filmmakers were not slow to pick up on an exodus that proved to be of lasting importance for the Swedes national identity In Welcome Home Mr Swanson film studies scholar Ann Kristin Wallengren analyzes the ways in which Swedish emigrants and Swedish American returnees are depicted in Swedish film between 1910 and 1950 continuing on to recent films and television shows Were Sweden's emigrants seen as national traitors or as brave trailblazers who might return home with modern ideas Many of the Swedish films were distributed to the United States and Wallengren discusses the notions of Sweden and Swedishness that circulated there as a result She also considers the image of Swedish immigrant women in American films a representation that bore little resemblance to the Swedes idealized view Wallengren shows how ideologies of nationality had a prominent place in the films narratives resulting in movies that project enduring perceptions of Swedish national identity and the American way of life

Studying Mobile Media Larissa Hjorth, Jean Burgess, Ingrid Richardson, 2012-04-23 The iPhone represents an important moment in both the short history of mobile media and the long history of cultural technologies Like the Walkman of the 1980s it marks a juncture in which notions about identity individualism lifestyle and sociality require rearticulation this book explores not only the iPhone's particular characteristics uses and affects but also how the iPhone moment functions as a barometer for broader patterns of change In the iPhone moment this study considers the convergent trajectories in the evolution of digital and mobile culture and their implications for future scholarship Through the lens of the iPhone as a symbol culture and a set of material practices around contemporary convergent mobile media the essays collected here explore the most productive theoretical and methodological approaches for grasping media practice consumer culture and networked communication in the twenty first century

Soap Operas, Gender and the Sri Lankan Diaspora Shashini Gamage, 2021-07-29 This book is a transnational ethnographic study of Sri Lankan women's television soap opera cultures in Australia and Sri Lanka Both Sri Lankan migrant women's soap opera clubs in Melbourne Australia and female friendship groups watching soap operas in Colombo Sri Lanka are examined Conducted in the sociopolitical backdrop of post civil war Sri Lanka this study examines how nationalist ideologies of womanhood shape meanings in Sri Lankan television soap operas that predominantly cater to female audiences How women interpret resist deconstruct and reconstruct good bad binaries of women's bodies freedoms and rights as represented in the soap operas are mapped providing an ethnographic examination of how nationalist meanings translate into cultural capital in spaces of television production and reception in national and diasporic everyday lives

Frontiers of Fear Ariane Chebel D'Appollonia, 2012-04-03 On both sides of the Atlantic restrictive immigration policies have been framed as security imperatives since the 1990s This trend accelerated in the aftermath of 9/11 and subsequent terrorist attacks in Europe In Frontiers of Fear Ariane Chebel d'Appollonia raises two central questions with profound consequences for national security and immigration policy First does the securitization of immigration issues actually contribute to the enhancement of internal security Second does the use of counterterrorist measures address such immigration issues as the increasing number of illegal immigrants the resilience of ethnic tensions and the emergence of homegrown radicalization Chebel d'Appollonia questions the main assumptions that inform political agendas in the United States and throughout Europe analyzing implementation and evaluating the effectiveness of policies in terms of their stated objectives She argues that the new security based immigration regime has proven ineffective in achieving its prescribed goals and even aggravated the problems it was supposed to solve A security insecurity cycle has been created that results in less security and less democracy The excesses of securitization have harmed both immigration and counterterrorist policies and seriously damaged the delicate balance between security and respect for civil liberties

Photography, Memory, and Refugee Identity Lynda Mannik, 2013-04-20 On 13 December 1948 a small ship carrying 347 Estonian refugees fleeing Soviet rule arrived at Pier 21 in Halifax In Photography Memory and Refugee Identity anthropologist Lynda Mannik analyzes the refugee experience through the photographic record of those who made that harrowing voyage across the Atlantic more than sixty years ago Drawing on a collection of photographs taken during the voyage and at the Pier 21 detention centre Mannik asks surviving passengers to describe their migration their reception in Canada and their feelings about the terms refugee and boat person She explores to what extent the photos reflect the passengers experiences as they remember them and how those experiences compare with representations of refugees in news media in government rhetoric and at the Pier 21 Museum in Halifax Ultimately Mannik demonstrates that the photographs in the SS Walnut collection bear witness to the refugee experience even as the meanings attached to them have changed over time and in shifting contexts
