Most film buffs know that Citizen Kane was based on the life of publisher William Randolph Hearst. But few are aware that key characters in films like Double Indemnity, Cool Hand Luke, Jaws, Rain Man, A Few Good Men, and Zero Dark Thirty were inspired by actual persons. This survey of a clef characters covers a selection of fictionalized personalities beginning with the Silent Era. The landmark lawsuit surrounding Rasputin and the Empress 1932 introduced disclaimers in film credits assuring audiences that characters were not based on real people even when they were. Entries cover screen incarnations of Wyatt Earp, Al Capone, Bing Crosby, Amelia Earhart, Buster Keaton, Howard Hughes, Janis Joplin, and Richard Nixon, along with the inspirations behind perennial favorites like Charlie Chan and Indiana Jones. American Cinema and Cultural Diplomacy Thomas J. Cobb, 2020-07-25. This book contends that Hollywood films help illuminate the incongruities of various periods in American diplomacy. From the war film Bataan to the Revisionist Western The Wild Bunch, cinema has long reflected US foreign policy's divisiveness both directly and allegorically. Beginning with the 1990s presidential drama The American President and concluding with Joker's allegorical treatment of the Trump era, this book posits that the paradigms for political reflection are shifting in American film from explicit subtexts surrounding US statecraft to covert representations of diplomatic disarray. It further argues that the International Relations theorist Walter Mead's concept of a US polity dominated by contesting beliefs or a kaleidoscope permeates these changing paradigms. This synergy reveals a cultural milieu where foreign policy fissures are increasingly encoded by cinematic representation. The interdisciplinarity of this focus renders this book pertinent reading for scholars and students of American Studies, Film Studies, and International Relations, along with those generally interested in Hollywood filmmakers and foreign policy. Cinema and Popular Geo-politics Marcus Power, 2013-09-13. With a detailed range of approaches, this new collection investigates how cinematic narratives can and have been used to portray different political threats and dangers. Including a range of chapters with a contemporary focus, it studies issues such as how the geopolitical world has been constructed through film, how cinema can provide explanatory narratives in periods of cultural and political anxiety, uneasiness, and uncertainty. Examining the ways in which film impacts upon popular understandings of national identity and the changing geopolitical world, the book looks at how audiences make sense of the geo-political messages and meanings contained within a variety of films from the US productions of Hollywood to Palestinian, Mexican, British, and German cinematic traditions. This thought-provoking book draws on an international range of contributions to discuss and fully investigate world cinema in light of key contemporary issues. This book was previously published as a special issue of
