The American Mercury George Jean Nathan, Henry Louis Mencken, 1929 The Birth Control Review Margaret Sanger, 1927 Sex, Sickness, and Slavery Marli F. Weiner, 2012-07-30 Marli F Wiener skillfully integrates the history of medicine with social and intellectual history in this study of how race and sex complicated medical treatment in the antebellum South Sex Sickness and Slavery argues that Southern physicians scientific training and practice uniquely entitled them to formulate medical justification for the imbalanced racial hierarchies of the period Challenged with both helping to preserve the slave system by acknowledging and preserving clear distinctions of race and sex and enhancing their own authority with correct medical diagnoses and effective treatment doctors sought to understand bodies that did not necessarily fit into neat dichotomies or agree with suggested treatments Focusing on Southern states from Virginia to Alabama Weiner examines medical and lay perspectives on the body through a range of sources including medical journals notes diaries daybooks and letters These personal and revealing sources show how physicians medical students and patients both free whites and slaves felt about vulnerability to disease and mental illnesses how bodily differences between races and sexes were explained and how emotions common sense working conditions and climate were understood to have an effect on the body Physicians authority did not go uncontested however Weiner also describes the ways in which laypeople both black and white resisted medical authority clearly refusing to cede explanatory power to doctors without measuring medical views against their own bodily experiences or personal beliefs Expertly drawing the dynamic tensions during this period in which Southern culture and the demands of slavery often trumped science Weiner explores how doctors struggled with contradictions as medicine became a key arena for debate over the meanings of male and female sick and well black and white North and South THE SEX WORKSHOP AND SYMBOLISM OF PRIMITIVE RACES SANGER BROWN II, M.D., 1916
