the illegal component of IUU fishing A key difference with the 2015 study is the extension of the estimation of illegal fishing from the 33 hotspots covered in the 2015 study to the entire APFIC area of competence in this study This report provides the following key outputs i development and implementation of an agreed methodology for estimating illegal fishing levels and progress ii information from case studies in three Asia Pacific countries and iii analysis of results from the agreed method estimating the incidence of illegal fishing and implication of efforts to reduce it The approach taken to achieve these goals included a structured online survey of fisheries officials in APFIC countries semi structured interviews of key informants knowledgeable about illegal fishing in the APFIC region and analysis of articles on illegal fishing from public media data across the APFIC area of competence

Devolution, Port Governance and Port Performance Mary R Brooks, Kevin Cullinane, 2006-11-13

The relationship between ports and governments has changed profoundly over the past quarter of a century Many governments have sought to extract themselves from the business of port operations and in many cases the provision of port services has devolved to local governments communities or private management and administration As such devolution implies a change in governance model this trend raises questions about consequent performance This issue examines the changed port management environment focusing particularly on government policies such as devolution regulatory reform and newly imposed governance models all of which have exerted a significant influence over the nature of that changed environment The issue is structured so as to first explore the devolution and port reform approaches for 14 countries or regions before examining how ports are governed and what the choice of governance might mean for their performance Part I introduces the issue and provides a framework for defining the basic concepts involved in devolution it paints a picture of the current port environment its likely future evolution and the expected impact this will have on the functioning of ports Part II examines the port industry in 14 countries or administrations and presents the thinking behind any devolution programs that have been implemented Part III focuses on port governance and devolution generally and examines governance from both strategic management and economics perspectives including topics such as governance models supranational governance and stakeholder conflict Part IV examines the measurement of port performance and closes by providing conclusions and a future research agenda This issue will be of interest to port managers government officials and academics alike Examines the relationship between ports and governments with a focus on devolution Divided into sections that provide an overview evaluate the port industry discuss port governance and suggest new measures of port performance 14 countries or regions are addressed Energy: a Continuing Bibliography with Indexes ,1980 Green Web-II Medani P.

Bhandari,2022-09-01 This second edition of the book Green Web II Standards and Perspectives from the IUCN Program Policy Development in Environment Conservation Domain with reference to India Pakistan Nepal and Bangladesh investigates the IUCN s role in global biodiversity conservation policy as well as in national program development in India Pakistan Nepal and Bangladesh It explores how nature protection priorities and approaches are promoted or addressed by IUCN and how environment conservation policies are created and maintained in states of South Asia with different capacities It also evaluates IUCN s competency in biodiversity climate change nature conservation and environmental policy formulation at the global regional and country levels This book adds to our knowledge firstly by contributing to a small but growing body of work on the sociology of international organizations International Governmental Organizations IGOs have previously been mainly the subject of political science Secondly it critically explores one of the largest and most active nature conservation organizations in the world Thirdly it also explores how IUCN actually goes about building protectoral programs with individual member nations Finally the research also shows the historical development of global institutions and IUCN s activities with member nations in helping to define or redefine the concept of global governance The outcomes of this research will also be beneficial for global collaboration networking and for the identification of common concerns among the many environmental and conservational organizations at the international and national level In this broader sense the research outcomes might be beneficial to constituencies of the global North as well as global South because of the nature and coverage of IUCN and its role in conservation policy formation This effort may serve as a model for additional research on international organizations Technical topics discussed in the book include The Motivation for Environmental Conservation

How personal efforts make a difference The Role of International Environment Conservation Organizations The Political Economy of Organizations Network theory Institutional theory Stakeholder theory Governance theory Governance performance and Competitiveness Popularity indices Knowledge creation and diffusion Conservation commons Plants' Responses to Novel Environmental Pressures Alessio Fini,Massimiliano Tattini,Raquel Esteban,2018-02-01 Plants have been exposed to multiple environmental stressors on long term seasonal and short term daily basis since their appearance on land However the frequency and the intensity of stress events have increased much during the last three decades because of climate change Plants have developed however a multiplicity of modular and highly integrated strategies to cope with challenges imposed by novel usually harsher environments These strategies include migration acclimation and adaptation Twelve articles in this research topic exactly focus on the relative significance of these response mechanisms for the successful acclimation of plants to a wide range of novel environmental pressures Four articles additionally explore how plants respond to severe stress conditions resulting from the concurrent action of multiple stressors Ten articles mostly examine how morpho anatomical physiological and biochemical related traits integrate when plants suffer from novel threats such as solid gaseous and electromagnetic pollutants Suitable physiological indicators for developing conservation strategies are described in the last two works This research topic highlights that bottom up as well as top down approaches will be necessary to develop in near future in the study of plants responses to environmental pressures Teaching Humanities and Social Sciences Rob Gilbert,Brian Hoepper,2016-12-19 Teaching the Humanities and Social Sciences 6E prepares teachers to develop and implement programs in the humanities and social sciences learning area from F 10 It successfully blends theory with practical approaches to provide a basis for teaching that is engaging inquiry based and relevant to students lives Publisher s website Aanwinsten van de Centrale Bibliotheek (Queteletfonds) Bibliothèque centrale (Fonds Quetelet),2004 Concepts of Capital Jacek Tittenbrun,2017-07-05 Borrowing terminology from the economic discipline specifically the concept of capital has led to an abundance of new terms in the social sciences human capital social capital and cultural capital to name the most prominent representatives on an ever growing list In this interdisciplinary transaction the concept is borrowed and the original meaning extended until the new concepts often have nothing left in common with their initial referents Here Jacek Tittenbrun offers a critical analysis of human social and cultural capital on the basis of their uses and misuses across a wide range of social sciences simultaneously revealing the source of conceptual diffusion in the real world He presents a two pronged analysis of an intellectual fashion popular in the social sciences and offers a critical analysis of a range of concepts constructed around the common core of capital The analysis is innovative as it is underpinned by a theoretical framework rooted in economic sociology and the concept of ownership in particular The approach is one of the sociology of knowledge coupled with a substantive critique application of the given concepts The volume reveals a range of processes in the real world that account for the conceptual diffusion The general reader will be

Advances in Urban Flood Management Richard Ashley, Stephen Garvin, Erik Pasche, Andreas Vassilopoulos, Chris Zevenbergen, 2007-02-01 One of the effects of global climate change is the increasing variability of extreme flood events and cyclones Current measures to mitigate flood impacts particularly in the urban environment are based on previously planned flood risk intervals and no longer provide sufficient protection Being prepared for unexpected changes and extreme flood events asks for a paradigm shift in current strategies to avoid and manage flood disasters In order to stem the increasing impact of urban floods a major rethink of current planning and flood management policies and practice is required taking into account different spatial and temporal scales This book addresses a broad spectrum of relevant issues in the emerging field of urban flood management It may act as a stimulus for further research and development in urban flood management while informing and engaging stakeholders in the promotion of integrated and cooperative approaches in water management An interdisciplinary approach which will be of interest to all those who are active in water risk and urban management
