The Great Decoupling Mobo Gao, Justin O'Connor, Baohui Xie, Jack Butcher, 2025-10-04 This book explores the decoupling process between the US and China from a number of perspectives The rise of China a country that is very different from the dominating West headed by the USA in terms of both political systems and civilizational traditions is profoundly unsettling for the latter Talk of decoupling the West from China has been going on for some years now and some actions have already taken place in this direction though attempts such as the replacement terminology of De risking are being made on both sides to talk down the possibility What is the current state of affairs What is the likely prospect This project sets out to explore these questions This is one of the first attempts at dealing with the issue as comprehensively as possible in that it is not only cross and inter disciplinary but also in that scholars from both the global South and North and both the East and West are participants and will interest scholars of Chinese politics and international political relations

Taiwan in the Twentieth Century Richard Louis Edmonds, Steven M. Goldstein, 2001-08-23 This book brings together a group of experts on Taiwan who attempt to analyse change on this dynamic island during the whole of the twentieth century Thus in contrast to many works on Taiwan this book shows just how important the Japanese colonial antecedents were to the formation of today's Taiwan and help us to understand the complexity of the problems this island will face in the twenty first century

Minzu as Technology Lei Hao, 2023-09-15 This book provides a unique ethnographic approach to the understanding of ethnogenesis in the Chinese context with a particular focus on how it is being reshaped in the post 2000s era It reinterprets the Chinese concept of ethnicity or minzu by investigating its evolution in relation to the proliferation of media technologies In an era characterized by digital connectivity the quest for ethnic identity has taken on new dimensions Ethnic groups like the Sibe community from Xinjiang are now extending beyond the state's traditional interpretations of minzu. Leveraging the power of media technology, they are articulating and expressing their ethnic identities in new and personalised ways. These developments have led to the emergence of what this book terms networked ethnicity, a fresh manifestation of ethnic identity formation in the era of social media. The pivotal question this book attempts to answer is: How does an ethnic group in China today understand its identity and what role does technology and media play in that process? This exploration offers a critical perspective on the complex interplay between digital technology, individual agency and ethnic identity formation. This study will be of interest to scholars of cultural studies, Chinese society, ethnic studies and media studies, or anyone keen to understand the changing landscape of ethnic identity in the digital age.
