Lewis,Olav Hammer,2010-11-19 There has been a significant but little noticed aspect of the interface between science and religion namely the widespread tendency of religions to appeal to science in support of their truth claims Though the appeal to science is most evident in more recent religions like Christian Science and Scientology no major faith tradition is exempt from this pattern Members of almost every religion desire to see their truths supported by the authority of science especially in the midst of the present historical period when all of the comforting old certainties seem problematic and threatened The present collection examines this pattern in a wide variety of different religions and spiritual movements and demonstrates the many different ways in which religions appeal to the authority of science The result is a wide ranging and uniquely compelling study of how religions adapt their message to one of the major challenges presented by the contemporary world      Envisioning Magic Peter Schäfer,Hans

Naturalism and Protectionism in the Study of Religions Juraj Franek, 2020-02-06 How should we study religion Must we be religious ourselves to truly understand it Do we study religion to advance our knowledge or should the study of religions help to reintroduce the sacred into our increasingly secularized world Juraj Franek argues that the study of religion has long been split into two competing paradigms reductive naturalist and non reductive protectionist While the naturalistic approach seems to run the risk of explaining religious phenomena away the protectionist approach appears to risk falling short of the methodological standards of modern science Franek uses primary source material from Greek and Latin sources to show that both competing paradigms are traceable to Presocratic philosophy and early Christian literature He presents the idea that naturalists are distant heirs not only of the French Enlightenment but also of the Ionian one Likewise he argues that protectionists owe much of their arguments and strategies not only to Luther and the Reformation but to the earliest Christian literature This book analyses the conflict between reductive and non reductive approach in the modern study of religions and positions the Cognitive Science of Religion against a background of previous theories ancient and modern to demonstrate its importance for the revindication of the naturalist paradigm      Encyclopaedia of Religion and Ethics James Hastings, John Alexander Selbie, Louis Herbert Gray, 1928      The Fairy-faith in Celtic Countries Walter Yeeling Evans-Wentz, 1911 In this study which is first of all a folk lore study we pursue principally an anthropo psychological method of interpreting the Celtic belief in fairies though we do not hesitate now and then to call in the aid of philology and we make good use of the evidence offered by mythologies religions metaphysics and physical sciences      The Fairy-Faith in Celtic Countries W.Y.
