World Trade Report 2013 World Trade Organization, 2013 The world is changing with extraordinary rapidity driven by many influences including shifts in production and consumption patterns continuing technological innovation new ways of doing business and of course policy The World Trade Report 2013 focuses on how trade is both a cause and an effect of change and looks into the factors shaping the future of world trade One of the most significant drivers of change is technology Not only have revolutions in transport and communications transformed our world but new developments such as 3D printing and the continuing spread of information technology will continue to do so Trade and foreign direct investment together with a greater geographical spread of income growth and opportunity will integrate a growing number of countries into more extensive international exchange Higher incomes and larger populations will put new strains on both renewable and non renewable resources calling for careful resource management Environmental issues will also call for increasing attention Economic and political institutions along with the interplay of cultural customs among countries all help to shape international cooperation including in the trade field The future of trade will also be affected by the extent to which politics and policies successfully address issues of growing social concern such as the availability of jobs and persistent income inequality These and other factors are all examined in the World Trade Report 2013 World Development Report 1994

, 1994 World Development Report 1994 examines the link between infrastructure and development and explores ways in which developing countries can improve both the provision and the quality of infrastructure services In recent decades developing countries have made substantial investments in infrastructure achieving dramatic gains for households and producers by expanding their access to services such as safe water sanitation electric power telecommunications and transport Even more infrastructure investment and expansion are needed in order to extend the reach of services especially to people living in rural areas and to the poor But as this report shows the quantity of investment cannot be the exclusive focus of policy Improving the quality of infrastructure service also is vital Both quantity and quality improvements are essential to modernize and diversify production help countries compete internationally and accommodate rapid urbanization The report identifies the basic cause of poor past performance as inadequate institutional incentives for improving the provision of infrastructure To promote more efficient and responsive service delivery incentives need to be changed through commercial management competition and user involvement Several trends are helping to improve the performance of infrastructure First innovation in technology and in the regulatory management of markets makes more diversity possible in the supply of services Second an evaluation of the role of government is leading to a shift from direct government provision of services to increasing private sector provision and recent experience in many countries with public private partnerships is highlighting new ways to increase efficiency and expand services Third increased concern about social and environmental sustainability has heightened public interest in infrastructure design and performance The Microeconomics of Product Innovation Paul Stoneman, Eleonora Bartoloni, Maurizio Baussola, 2018-02-22 Economics has not given sufficient attention to the microeconomic analysis of innovation and technological change Counteracting this imbalance The Microeconomics of Product Innovation considers how the use of economic analysis can guide and inform the search for insight in the generation and adoption of new products synonymously labelled product innovation Written in an accessible tone and restricting its analysis to the use of microeconomics this book encompasses the definition of product innovation It explores means of measurement and revealed patterns of the extent of product innovation the economic analysis of the forces driving the demand for the supply of and incentives to generate new products empirical evidence upon the determinants of the extent of product innovation the diffusion of product innovations product innovation and firm performance price measurement under product innovation product innovation and welfare and public policy and product innovation
