Hubin, 1984 Excavating Victorians Virginia Zimmerman, 2009-01-08 Excavating Victorians examines nineteenth century Britain's reaction to the revelations about time and natural history provided by the new sciences of geology and archaeology The Victorians faced one of the greatest paradigm shifts in history the bottom dropped out of time and they had to reinvent their relationship to the earth and to time and history These new sciences took the Victorians by storm inundating them with fossils skeletal remains and potsherds artifacts or traces that served at once as relics from the past objects in the present and markers of time's passage Virginia Zimmerman explores how the Victorians utilized a nexus of literature excavation and reflections on time to ease anxieties about the individual's fate in the face of time's overwhelming expanse The function of artifacts is also considered through careful readings of Tennyson's The Princess and Dickens's Little Dorrit and Our Mutual Friend Zimmerman shows how these literary works make use of the language tropes and even generic conventions of excavation and how they participate in the effort to rescue the individual from temporal insignificance The Baker & Taylor Secondary School Selection Guide, 1975
