Reading Matters Narrative In The New Media Ecology:

Reading Matters Joseph Tabbi, Michael Wutz, 2018-05-31 The convergence of twentieth century narrative and technology is one of the most important developments in current literary study A decade after the founding of the Society for Literature and Science and the appearance of such influential books as Kathleen Woodward's Culture of Information and William Paulson's The Noise of Culture Joseph Tabbi and Michael Wutz have edited a landmark volume to summarize this still emerging field Twelve original essays and the editors' introductory overview show how these theoretical concerns can contribute to the practical study of narrative Reading Matters covers the range of contemporary literature from the canonical novels of high modernism and postmodernism through subjects new to the academic agenda such as cyberpunk and hypertext fiction In an age that has proclaimed the death of the novel many times over the contributors argue persuasively for the continued vitality of literary narrative By responding in ingenious ways to the capabilities of other media they assert the novel has enlarged and redefined its territory of representation and its range of techniques and play while maintaining its viability in the new media assemblage

Narrative Across Media Marie-Laure Ryan, 2004-01-01 Narratology has been conceived from its earliest days as a project that transcends disciplines and media The essays gathered here address the question of how narrative migrates mutates and creates meaning as it is expressed across various media Dividing the inquiry into five areas face to face narrative still pictures moving pictures music and digital media Narrative across Media investigates how the intrinsic properties of the supporting medium shape the form of narrative and affect the narrative experience Unlike other interdisciplinary approaches to narrative studies all of which have tended to concentrate on narrative across language supported fields this unique collection provides a much needed analysis of how narrative operates when expressed through visual gestural electronic and musical means In doing so the collection redefines the act of storytelling Although the fields of media and narrative studies have been invigorated by a variety of theoretical approaches this volume seeks to avoid a dominant theoretical bias by providing instead a collection of concrete studies that inspire a direct look at texts rather than relying on a particular theory of interpretation A contribution to both narrative and media studies Narrative across Media is the first attempt to bridge the two disciplines

Media Ecologies of Literature Susanne Beyerlipp, Ralf Haekel, Johannes Schlegel, 2022-11-03 This book explores the media ecologies of literature the ways in which a literary text is interwoven in its material technical performative praxeological affective and discursive network and which determine how it is experienced and interpreted Through novel approaches to the complex contingent and interdependent environments of literature this volume demonstrates how questions about the mediality of literature particularly in the wake of digitization shed a new light on our understanding of textuality reading platforms and reception processes By drawing on recent developments in advanced media theory Media Ecologies of Literature emphasizes the productivity of innovative reconceptualizations of literature as a medium in its own right In an intentionally wide historical scope the essays engage with

The Poetics of Genre in the Contemporary Novel Tim Lanzendörfer, 2015-11-19 The Poetics of Genre in the Contemporary Novel investigates the role of genre in the contemporary novel taking its departure from the observation that numerous contemporary novelists make use of popular genre influences in what are still widely considered to be literary novels it sketches the uses of the work and the value of genre It suggests the value of a critical look at texts genre use for an analysis of the contemporary moment From this it develops a broader perspective suggesting the value of genre criticism and taking into view traditional genres such as the bildungsroman and the metafictional novel as well as the kinds of amalgamated forms which have recently come to prominence In essays discussing a wide range of authors from Steven Hall to Bret Easton Ellis to Colson Whitehead the contributors to the volume develop their own readings of genre's work and valence in the contemporary novel

Cognitive Fictions Joseph Tabbi, 2002 Bringing together cognitive science and literary analysis to map a new media ecology Cognitive Fictions limns an evolutionary process in which literature must find its place in an artificial environment partly produced and thoroughly mediated by technological means Joseph Tabbi provides a penetrating account of a developing consciousness emerging from the struggle between print and electronic systems of communication Central to Tabbi's work is the relation between the arrangement of communicating modules that cognitive science uses to describe the human mind and the arrangement of visual verbal and aural media in our technological culture He looks at particular literary works by Thomas Pynchon Richard Powers David Markson Lynne Tillman Paul Auster and others as both inscriptions of thought consistent with distributed cognitive models and as self creations out of the media environment The first close reading of contemporary American writing in the light of systems theory and cognitive science Cognitive Fictions makes needed sense of how the moment by moment operations of human thought find narrative form in a world increasingly defined by competing and often incompatible representations Book jacket

Faulkner's Media Romance Julian Murphet, 2017-07-13 This book treats William Faulkner's major fiction from Flags in the Dust through to Absalom Absalom to a searching reappraisal under the spotlight of a media historical inquiry It proposes that Faulkner's inveterate attraction to the paradigms of romance was disciplined and masked by the recurrent use of metaphorical figures borrowed from the new media ecology Faulkner dressed up his romance materials in the technological garb of radio gramophony photography and cinema along with the transportational networks of road and air that were being installed in the 1920s His modernism emerges from a fraught but productive interplay between his anachronistic predilection for chivalric chitchat and his extraordinarily knowledgeable interest in the most up to date media institutions and forms Rather than see Faulkner as a divided author who worked for money in the magazines and studios while producing his serious fiction in despite of their symbolic economies this study demonstrates how profoundly his mature art was shot through with the figures and dynamics of the materials he publicly repudiated The result is a richer and more nuanced understanding of the dialectics of his art
