The Origins of the Developmental State in Taiwan J. Megan Greene, 2008-04-30 The rapid growth of Taiwan s postwar miracle economy is most frequently credited to the leading role of the state in promoting economic development Megan Greene challenges this standard interpretation in the first in depth examination of the origins of Taiwan s developmental state Greene examines the ways in which the Guomindang state planned and promoted scientific and technical development both in mainland China between 1927 and 1949 and on Taiwan after 1949 Using industrial science policy as a lens she shows that the state even during its most authoritarian periods did not function as a monolithic entity State planners were concerned with maximizing the use of Taiwan s limited resources for industrial development Political leaders on the other hand were most concerned with the state s political survival The developmental state emerged gradually as a result of the combined efforts of technocrats and outsiders including academicians and foreign advisors Only when the political leadership put its authority and weight behind the vision of these early planners did Taiwan s developmental state fully come into being In Taiwan s combination of technocratic expertise and political authoritarianism lie implications for our understanding of changes taking place in mainland China today

Higher Education in Post-Mao China Michael Agelasto, Bob Adamson, 1998-06-01 Since the death of Chairman Mao in 1976 China has embarked upon the Four Modernizations reform programme that has transformed the social economic and political landscape of the world s most populous nation Higher education has been ascribed a key supporting role and has itself undergone major reforms This book looks beyond the articulated goals and accomplishments of the modernization of higher education in China It delves into the grass roots reality and identifies the true achievements the unintended outcomes and the major obstacles that still have to be overcome Incorporating twenty chapters from the new generation of scholars from inside and outside China Higher Education in Post Mao China presents in depth analyses of the impact of educational reforms on tertiary educators the curriculum the economic structure women and students values and aspirations In conveying the Chinese experience of higher education reform over the past two decades this book makes a major contribution to contemporary sinology and comparative education

Emergent Issues in Education Robert F. Arnove, Philip G. Altbach, Gail Paradise Kelly, 1992-01-01 In Emergent Issues in Education leading scholars in comparative education and in the politics sociology anthropology and economics of education illuminate worldwide trends in critical issues that confront policymakers and practitioners in different national settings Among the topics raised and analyzed are the organization governance and financing of education the content of curriculum texts and tests and the quality and nature of teacher training Among the issues examined is the tension that has emerged between the imperative to achieve equality of educational opportunity and the concern of educational decision makers to maintain and upgrade the quality of academic offerings Aspects of this tension are manifested in the reform movements of the 1980s especially the excellence movement that has resurfaced in the United States Reform movements are evident in countries that have experienced increased enrollment at all levels of schooling in the post World War II period In the United States as elsewhere there has been a reassessment of the relevance of education to the economy and polity and of the role of government and industry in education

Forming the Academic Profession in East Asia Terri Kim, 2018-10-10 Originally published in 2001 Forming the Academic Profession in East Asia examines the changing shape of the academic profession in South Korea Malaysia and Singapore since the colonial period and as a reflection of both the inherited models of higher education and their redefinition after the colonial period The analysis takes into account the connections and disconnections between the colonial and postcolonial periods in shaping the academic profession

A Better Future Jacqueline Bhabha, Wenona Giles, Faraaz Mahomed, 2020-09-17 Policy makers advocates and scholars have long concentrated on the importance of equal access to primary and secondary education as a foundation for a democratic and just society Despite the growing importance of higher and specialist education in an increasingly technological and skill focused global market tertiary education has attracted much less attention And yet universities and colleges are epicentres of egregious disparities in access which impinge on traditionally marginalized communities such as racial minorities migrants indigenous populations and people with disabilities By drawing attention to this issue and assembling first rate material from scholars and policy makers across the globe this book performs an invaluable service for those interested in understanding and fighting a highly significant violation of educational opportunity and social justice
