Scottish Landscapes:

Landscapes and Landforms of Scotland Colin K. Ballantyne, John E. Gordon, 2021-08-24 This book provides an appealing and informative overview of the outstanding landforms and landscapes of Scotland. Scotland is internationally renowned for the diversity of its geology, landforms and landscapes. The rock record spans most of geological time from the Archaean to the Palaeogene and represents the outcome of tectonic plate movements, associated geological processes and sea level and climate changes. Scotland incorporates primeval gneiss landscapes, the deeply eroded roots of the Caledonian mountain chain, landscapes of extensional tectonics and rifting and eroded remnants of volcanic complexes that were active when the North Atlantic Ocean opened during the Palaeogene. The present relief reflects uplift and deep weathering during the Cenozoic, strongly modified during successive episodes of Pleistocene glaciation. This striking geodiversity is captured in this book through 29 chapters devoted to the evolution of Scotland's scenery and locations of outstanding geomorphological significance, including ancient palaeosurfaces, landscapes of glacial erosion and deposition, evidence of postglacial landscape modification by landslides, rivers and wind, and coastal geomorphology. Dedicated chapters focus on Ice Age Scotland and the associated landscapes, which range from alpine-type mountains and areas of selective glacial erosion to ice-moulded and drift-covered lowlands and incorporate accounts of internationally renowned sites such as the Parallel Roads of Glen Roy, the Cairngorm Mountains and the inselbergs of Assynt. Other chapters consider the record of postglacial rock slope failures, such as the famous landslides of Trotternish on Skye and the record of fluvial changes since deglaciation. The sea level history of Scotland is addressed in terms of its raised and submerged shorelines, while several chapters discuss the contrasting coastal landscapes, which range from the spectacular sea cliffs of Shetland and Orkney to the beaches and dunes of eastern Scotland. The role of geoconservation in preserving Scotland's outstanding geomorphological heritage is outlined in the final chapter. The book offers an up-to-date and richly illustrated reference guide for geomorphologists, other Earth scientists, geographers, conservationists and all those interested in geology, physical geography, geomorphology, geotourism, geoheritage and environmental protection.

Scotland's Mountain Landscapes Colin K. Ballantyne, 2019-12-01 The diversity of Scotland's mountains is remarkable, ranging from the isolated summits of the far northwest through the tor-studded high plateau of the Cairngorms to the hills of the Southern Uplands. Colin Ballantyne explains the geological and geomorphological evolution of Scotland's mountains to form an unparalleled variety of mountain forms.

The Material Landscapes of Scotland's Jewellery Craft, 1780-1914 Sarah Laurenson,2023-06-29 Shortlisted for the History Book Award in Scotland s National Book Awards 2023 During the long 19th century Scotland was home to an established body of skilled jewellers who were able to access a range of materials from the country s varied natural landscape precious gold and silver sparkling crystals and colourful stones freshwater pearls shells and parts of rare animals Following these materials on their journey from hill and shore across the jeweller s bench and on to the bodies of wearers this book challenges the persistent notion that the forces of industrialisation led to the decline of craft It instead reveals a vivid picture of skilled producers who were driving new and revived areas of hand skill and who were key to fostering a focused cultural engagement with the natural world among both producers and consumers through the things they made By placing producers and their skill in cultural context the book reveals how examining the materiality of even the smallest of objects can offer new and multifaceted insights into the wider transformations that marked British history during the long 19th century Uniting a vast array of jewellery objects with a range of other sources including paintings engravings newspaper reports letters inventories of big houses and small workshops sketchbooks novels works of literary geology and early travel writings this book provides a deep dive into the cultural history of jewellery production through accessible thematic studies In doing so it sets out innovative methodologies for writing about the histories of craft production the natural environment and the material world Now available in a paperback edition it will be an important addition to the bookshelf of cultural historians and those interested in Scotland s wild landscapes and natural objects

The Making of the Scottish Countryside M. L. Parry,T. R. Slater,2021-10-12 Originally published in 1980 this book examines the evolution of the Scottish landscape from pre historic times to the mid nineteenth century It considers the way in which the structural base of agriculture and the changing farming system came to alter the Scottish rural landscape This book with its focus on the underlying landscape processes gives a developmental view of landscape change It therefore considers the crucial question of the rate and pace of landscape change and argues that the Scottish landscape was not the product of a few brief phases of quite rapid development but rather the result of a continual and gradual process of change It also looks at the regional variation of landscape change and establishes the importance of regional linkages in the diffusion of ideas especially in new technology

Landscapes of Memory Gerald E. Finley, 1980-01-01 Planning and Designing Sustainable and Resilient Landscapes Cerasella Crăciun, Maria Bostenaru Dan, 2014-02-03 This book deals with planning issues in landscape architecture which start at the evaluation of the existing fabric of society its history and memory approached and conserved through photography film and scenographic installations a way in which the archetypes can be investigated be it industrial derelict sites or already green spaces and cultural landscapes It provides approaches to intervention through rehabilitation and upgrade eventually in participative manner To such evaluation and promotion a couple of disciplines can contribute such as history of art geography and communication science and of course landscape architecture The field of landscape architecture reunites points of view from such different disciplines with a view to an active approach a contemporary intervention or conservation The book presents case studies from several European countries Romania Germany Austria Italy Portugal mostly for large landscape in the outskirts of the cities and in the parks

Modern Spiritualism and Scottish Art Michelle Foot, 2023-08-10 This pioneering account of Modern Spiritualism in late 19th and early 20th century Scotland is a compelling history of the international movement s cultural impact on Scottish art From spirit mediums creating s ance art to mainstream artists of the Royal Scottish Academy this exposition reveals for the first time the extent of Spiritualist interest in Scotland With its interdisciplinary scope Modern Spiritualism and Scottish Art combines cultural and art history to explore the ways in which Scottish art reflected Spiritualist beliefs at the turn of the 20th century More than simply a history of the Spiritualist cause and its visual manifestations this book also provides a detailed account of scepticism psychical research and occulture in modern Scotland and the role that these aspects played in informing responses to Spiritualist ideology Utilising extensive archival research together with in depth analyses of overlooked paintings drawings and sculpture Michelle Foot demonstrates the vital importance of Spiritualist art to the development of Spiritualism in Scotland during the 19th century In doing so the book highlights the contribution of Scottish visual artists alongside better known Spiritualists such as Arthur Conan Doyle and Daniel Dunglas Home

Europe's Living Landscapes Bas Pedroli, Anne van Doorn, Geert de Blust, 2014-12-22 This book is the result of three symposia of the Dutch Society for Landscape Ecology The first symposium in 2005 was about the National Ecological Network in the Netherlands The reason was that the implementation of the NEN decided upon in 1990 was halfway The second symposium in 2006 was about urban ecology and the third one to be held in 2007 will be about civil infrastructure This book does not cover the conferences completely and new contributions are added The three themes are important contexts in which landscape ecologists do their research and apply their knowledge and skills Of course there are many more subjects to hold conferences about for example climate change urbanisation agriculture landscape ecology itself etc The focus of the conferences is on the Netherlands with its urbanisation intensive land use and water management as characteristic features Although many WLO members do their work abroad or in an international context these conferences offer a window on what happens in the Dutch context The experiences may be of value for other contexts and that is why we present the results in English The selected themes and the focus on the Dutch context are serious demarcations of what landscape ecology in the Netherlands is all about The book does not represent all research and applications of landscape ecology

Neo-Romantic Landscapes Stella Hockenhull, 2009-03-26 Neo Romantic Landscapes offers a reappraisal of the 1940s films of Powell and Pressburger focusing on their use of landscape Questioning the established notion that the two film makers owing to their non British personal roots are located as un British and other Stella Hockenhull draws a correlation between the two media of film and painting to suggest otherwise Emphasising the spiritual aspects of landscape and nature at a time when the experience and imagery of the war years generated a particular kind of affect arising from the aftermath of destruction she locates Powell and Pressburger s wartime films in their historical and cultural context notably Neo Romanticism By offering a close analysis of films such as A Canterbury Tale I Know Where I m Going Black Narcissus and Gone to Earth she finds similar aesthetic qualities in a number of British landscape paintings executed contemporaneously Drawing on press reviews for contemporary spectator response Neo Romantic Landscapes offers a redirection of Film Studies foregrounding the aesthetic pleasures of cinema in excess of narrative plausibility thus resituating Powell and Pressburger in the British cultural traditions of the visual arts

Landscapes Beyond Land Arnar Árnason, 2012-09-15 Land is embedded in a multitude of material and cultural contexts through which the human experience of landscape emerges Ethnographers with their participative methodologies long term co residence and concern with the quotidian aspects of the places where they work are well positioned to describe landscapes in this fullest of senses The contributors explore how landscapes become known primarily through movement and journeying rather than stasis Working across four continents they explain how landscapes are constituted and recollected in the stories people tell of their journeys through them and how in turn these stories are embedded in landscaped forms

The Late Medieval Landscape of North-east Scotland Colin Shepherd, 2021-10-31 The landscape of the north east of Scotland ranges from wild mountains to undulating farmlands from cosy quaint fishing coves to long sandy bays This landscape witnessed the death of MacBeth the final stand of the Comyns earls of Buchan against Robert the Bruce and the last victory in Britain of a catholic army at Glenlivet But behind these momentous battles lie the quieter histories of ordinary folk farming the land and supping their local malts Colin Shepherd paints a picture of rural life within the landscapes of the north east between the 13th and 18th centuries by using documentary cartographic and archaeological evidence He shows how the landscape was ordered by topographic and environmental constraints that resulted in great variation across the region and considers the evidence for the way late medieval lifestyles developed and blended sustainably within their environments to create a patchwork of cultural and agricultural diversity However these socio economic developments subsequently led to a breakdown of this structure resulting in what Adam Smith in the 18th century described as oppression. The 12th century Renaissance, the Protestant Reformation and the Industrial Revolution are used here to define a framework for considering the cultural changes that affected this region of Scotland. These include the dispossession of rights to land ownership that continue to haunt policy makers in the Scottish government today. While the story also shows how a regional cultural divergence recognized here can undermine big theories of socio-political change when viewed across the wider stage of Europe and the Americas.

The Cultural Landscape & Heritage Paradox Tom Bloemers, Henk Kars, Arnold Van der Valk, 2010. The basic problem is to what extent we can know past and mainly invisible landscapes and how we can use this still hidden knowledge for actual sustainable management of landscapes' cultural and historical values. It has also been acknowledged that heritage management is increasingly about the management of future change rather than simply protection. This presents us with a paradox: to preserve our historic environment we have to collaborate with those who wish to transform it, and in order to apply our expert knowledge we have to make it suitable for policy and society. The answer presented by the Protection and Development of the Dutch Archaeological Historical Landscape programme (pdL bbo) is an integrative landscape approach which applies inter- and transdisciplinarity, establishing links between archaeological historical heritage and planning and between research and policy.

Haunted Landscapes Ruth Heholt, Niamh Downing, 2016-11-17. Haunted Landscapes offers a fresh and innovative approach to contemporary debates about landscape and the supernatural. Landscapes are often uncanny spaces embroiled in the past, associated with absence, memory and nostalgia. Yet experiences of haunting must in some way always belong to the present; they must be felt. This collection of essays opens up new and compelling areas of debate around the concepts of haunting, affect and landscape. Landscape studies, supernatural studies, haunting and memory are all rapidly growing fields of enquiry, and this book synthesises ideas from several critical approaches: spectral, affective and spatial, to provide a new route into these subjects. Examining urban and rural landscapes, haunted domestic spaces, landscapes of trauma and borderlands, this collection of essays is designed to cross disciplines and combine seemingly disparate academic approaches under the coherent locus of landscape and haunting. Presenting a timely intervention in some of the most pressing scholarly debates of our time, Haunted Landscapes offers an attractive array of essays that cover topics from Victorian times to the present.

Appreciating Physical Landscapes T.A. Hose, 2016-02-01. Geotourism as a form of sustainable geoheritage tourism was defined and developed from the early 1990s to contextualize modern approaches to geoconservation and physical landscape management. However, its roots lie in the late seventeenth century and the emergence of the Grand Tour and its domestic equivalents in the eighteenth century. Its participants and numerous later travellers and tourists, including geologists and artists, purposefully explored wild landscapes as geotourists. The written and visual records of their observations underpin the majority of papers within this volume; these papers explore some significant geo-historical themes, organizations, individuals and locations across three centuries, opening with seventeenth century elite travellers and closing with modern landscape tourists Other papers examine the resources available to those geotourists and explore the geotourism paradigm The volume will be of particular interest to Earth scientists historians of science tourism specialists and general readers with an interest in landscape history
