Screening The Past:

Screening the Past Pam Cook, 2004-08-02 From Mildred Pierce and Brief Encounter to Raging Bull and In the Mood for Love this lively and accessible collection explores film culture's obsession with the past offering searching and provocative analyses of a wide range of titles Screening the Past engages with current debates about the role of cinema in mediating history through memory and nostalgia suggesting that many films use strategies of memory to produce diverse forms of knowledge which challenge established ideas of history and the traditional role of historians Classic essays sit side by side with new research contextualized by introductions which bring them up to date and provide suggestions for further reading as the work of contemporary directors such as Martin Scorsese Kathryn Bigelow Todd Haynes and Wong Kar wai is used to examine the different ways they deploy creative processes of memory Pam Cook also investigates the recent history of film studies reviewing the developments that have culminated in the exciting if daunting present moment The result is a rich and stimulating volume that will appeal to anyone with an interest in cinema memory and identity

Screening the Past Tony Barta, 1998-08-20 Film and television have been accepted as having a pervasive influence on how people understand the world An important aspect of this is the relationship of history and film The different views of the past created by film television and video are only now attracting closer attention from historians cultural critics and filmmakers This volume seeks to advance the critical exploration scholars have recently begun Barta begins by addressing the various ways the past is screened for our understanding and relates the art of film to other media The essays that follow deal primarily with the changing perspectives of political and social developments and changing concepts of ideology gender or culture in films and television programs made for historically shaped reasons Chapters by filmmakers explore issues of context and intent in their own projects Scholars and general readers interested in film and cultural studies will find this an important volume

France on Film Lucy Mazdon, 2001 This collection of new essays is a comprehensive introduction to the concerns and styles which characterise contemporary popular French film

Reframing the Past Mia Treacey, 2016-02-26 Reframing the Past traces what historians have written about film and television from 1898 until the early 2000s Mia Treacey argues that historical engagement with film and television should be reconceptualised as Screened History an interdisciplinary international field of research to incorporate and replace what has been known as History and Film It draws from the fields of Film Television and Cultural Studies to critically analyse key works and connect past scholarship with contemporary research Reconsidered as Screened History the works of Pierre Sorlin Marc Ferro John O Connor Robert Rosenstone and Robert Toplin are explored alongside lesser known but equally important contributions This book identifies a number of common themes and ideas that have been explored by historians for decades the use of history on film and television as a way to teach the past the challenge of filmic and televisual history to more traditional historiography and an ongoing battle to find an appropriate historical way to engage with Film Studies and Theory Screened History offers an approach to exploring

History Film and Television that allows room for future developments while connecting them to a rich and diverse body of past scholarship Combining a narrative of historical research on film and television over the past century with a reconceptualisation of the field as Screened History Reframing the Past is essential reading both for established scholars of History and Film Film History and other related disciplines and to students new to the field Screening the Fleet Jonathan Rayner, 2025-02-04 In Screening the Fleet Prof Jonathan Rayner explores the representation of the modern Royal Navy on British television over a fifty year period from 1973 to 2023 Contextualising his subject with significant aspects of earlier naval representation in recruiting documentary and public information films from the 1940s to the 1960s Rayner then brings his focus forward to 1973 2023 The 1970s were a significant decade for naval representation on television and saw the broadcast of two definitive series the BBC's drama series Warship and the acclaimed documentary series Sailor These landmark series set the benchmark for naval representation in both realist and in fictional portrayals They also set precedents for audience perceptions and these have affected the production and the reception of the series on the Royal Navy that have followed Rayner's work investigates how advances in technology allow programme makers to use new techniques in the spheres of naval drama and documentary More recent series also need to balance the required conventions for any portrayal of the navy on television with the revelatory or iconoclastic approaches now expected by modern audiences In focussing on the changing portrayal of the Royal Navy on television however Rayner also surfaces how the Navy itself has evolved in the post World War II world The series analysed in Screening the Fleet also evidence the changing nature and increasing diversity of the naval community as a reflection of changing notions of Britishness Offering the first study of its type this volume highlights evolving and emerging trends in factual and fact based television programmes through their portrayal of a highly popular patriotic and persistent subject over a fifty year period It debates developments in television and documentary approaches using the representation of the Royal Navy and its changing position in perceptions of British identity Penny Dreadful and Adaptation Julie Grossman, Will Scheibel, 2023-01-30 This edited collection is the first book length critical study of the Showtime Sky Atlantic television series Penny Dreadful 2014 2016 which also includes an analysis of Showtime's 2020 spin off City of Angels Chapters examine the status of the series as a work of twenty first century cable television contemporary Gothic horror and intermedial adaptation spanning sources as diverse as eighteenth and nineteenth century British fiction and poetry American dime novels theatrical performance Hollywood movies and fan practices Featuring iconic monsters such as Dr Frankenstein and his Creature the bride of Frankenstein Dracula the werewolf Dorian Gray and Dr Jekyll Penny Dreadful is a mash up of familiar texts and new Gothic figures such as spiritualist Vanessa Ives played by the magnetic Eva Green As a recent example of adapting multiple sources in different media Penny Dreadful has as much to say about the Romantic and Victorian eras as it does about our present day fascination with screen monsters Hear the authors talk about the collection here <https://nrftsjournal.org/monsters-all-are-we-not-an-interview-with-julie-grossman-and> will scheibel Teenage Audiences and British Period Drama Shelley Anne Galpin, 2024-07-25 This book provides an engaging insight into the responses of teenage audiences to British period drama presenting original data collected from young people across England Situated in relation to debates regarding the heritage film and young people's consumption of the media Teenage Audiences and British Period Drama challenges the often homogenous characterisation of teenagers by demonstrating the range of responses this genre inspires in young viewers Arguing for the period drama's underestimated relevance to younger audiences the book details the varied ways that young people use film and television drama to make sense of the world and their place in it and highlights the under researched significance of collective viewing in influencing viewer response Analysis demonstrates the key role that values play in influencing judgements amongst youth audiences the importance of perceived historical accuracy and the potential for screen texts to inspire a deeper relationship with the past

Making History Peter Lambert, Phillipp Schofield, 2004-08-02 Making History offers a fresh perspective on the study of the past It is an exhaustive exploration of the practice of history historical traditions and the theories that surround them Discussing the development and growth of history as a discipline and of the profession of the historian the book encompasses a huge diversity of influences organized around the following themes the professionalization of the discipline the most significant movements in historical scholarship in the last century including the Annales School the increasing interdisciplinary trends in scholarship theory in historical practice including Marxism post modernism and gender history historical practice outside the academy The volume offers a coherent set of chapters to support undergraduates postgraduates and others interested in the historical processes that have shaped the discipline of history

Cinephilia and History, or The Wind in the Trees Christian Keathley, 2005-11-24 Cinephilia and History or The Wind in the Trees is in part a history of cinephilia in part an attempt to recapture the spirit of cinephilia for the discipline of film studies and in part an experiment in cinephilic writing Cinephiles have regularly fetishized contingent marginal details in the motion picture image the gesture of a hand the wind in the trees Christian Keathley demonstrates that the spectatorial tendency that produces such cinematic encounters a viewing practice marked by a drift in visual attention away from the primary visual elements on display in fact has clear links to the origins of film as defined by Andr Bazin Roland Barthes and others Keathley explores the implications of this ontology and proposes the cinephiliac anecdote as a new type of criticism a method of historical writing that both imitates and extends the experience of these fugitive moments

Tarnished Hero Dr. Daniel Schultz, 2019-11-21 James mark Sullivan was part of the post famine Irish immigration to the United States in the late 19th century Overcoming family misfortune he moved from newsboy to journalist to Yale educated lawyer Relocating to New York City his association with Tammany Hall involved him in the Crime of the Century Becker Rosenthal murder case a role not previously explored Sullivan's involvement won him a patronage appointment as ambassador to Santo Domingo Scandals about graft and corruption forced his resignation However another factor which contributed to his dismissal unexplained until now was his effort at subversion of his government's policy of neutrality which was connected to his ties to Irish nationalism. He later established the first indigenous Irish film company with a pronounced Nationalist agenda making several films which are now classics of the silent film era. Following the death of his wife and son during the influenza epidemic of 1918, he returned to the United States. Failing to revive his legal career, he moved to Florida, dying in relative obscurity. The Kubrick Legacy Mick Broderick, 2019-02-21. The six chapters assembled in The Kubrick Legacy showcase important trends in the evolution of filmmaker Stanley Kubrick's artistic legacy. In the 20 years since his death, an enormous range of information and scholarship has surfaced in part from the Kubrick estate's public preservation, archiving, exhibition, and promulgation of the auteur's staggering collection of research materials and film artefacts. These essays from international scholars chart incarnations of the official Kubrick exhibition of extensive artifacts touring the globe for the past decade, the filmmaker's lasting impact on established authors with whom he collaborated, the profound influence of Kubrick's use of existing music in film scores, the exponential rise of conspiracy theories and misinterpretation of his work since his death, the repeated imitation of and homage to his oeuvre across decades of international television advertising, and the re-discovery of Kubrick on screen in both documentary form and dramatic characterization. The Kubrick Legacy provides a tantalizing critical snapshot of the enduring impact and influence of one of the twentieth century's most enigmatic and consummate screen artists. Journal of the National Cancer Institute, 2001-11. A Subject Index to Current Literature. Australian Public Affairs Information Service, Performative Histories, Foundational Fictions. Anu Koivunen, 2003-09-17. Films are integral to national imagination. Promotional publicity markets domestic films not only as entertaining, exciting, or moving, but also as topical and relevant in different ways. Reviewers assess new films with reference to other films and cultural products as well as social and political issues. Through such interpretive framings by contemporaries and later generations, popular cinema is embedded both in national imagination and endless intertextual and intermedial frameworks. Moreover, films themselves become signs to be cited and recycled as illustrations of cultural, social, and political history as well as national mentality. In the age of television, old films continue to live as history and memory. In Performative Histories, Foundational Fictions, Anu Koivunen analyzes the historicity as well as the intertextuality and intermediality of film reception by focusing on a cycle of Finnish family melodrama and its key role in thinking about gender, sexuality, nation, and history. Close reading posters, advertisements, publicity stills, trailers, review journalism, and critical commentary, she demonstrates how The Women of Niskavuori (1938 and 1958), Loviisa (1946), Heta Niskavuori (1952), Aarne Niskavuori (1954), Niskavuori Fights (1957), and Niskavuori (1984) have operated as sites for imagining our agrarian past, our Heimat, and heritage as well as the strong Finnish woman or the weak man in crisis. Based on extensive empirical research, Koivunen argues that the Niskavuori films have mobilized readings in terms of history and memory, feminist nationalism, and men's movement, left-wing allegories, and right-wing morality as well as realism and melodrama. Through processes of citation, repetition, and re-cycling, the films have acquired not only a heterogeneous and contradictory interpretive legacy but also an affective force The Guide to Clinical Preventive Services ,2006 This compact portable quick reference handbook from the U S Preventive Services Task Force offers evidence based recommendations on the use of clinical preventive services in adult and pediatric patient care It provides specific guidelines for counseling testing and interventions based on age gender and risk factors for disease A letter grading system is used to indicate which preventive services are strongly recommended recommended not recommended or not supported by sufficient evidence Topics covered include cancer screening heart and vascular diseases infectious diseases injury and violence mental health and substance abuse metabolic nutritional and endocrine conditions musculoskeletal conditions and obstetric and gynecologic conditions The Changing Face of Evil in Film and Television ,2007-01-01 The popular media of film and television surround us daily with images of evil images that have often gone critically unexamined In the belief that people in ever increasing numbers are turning to the media for their understanding of evil this lively and provocative collection of essays addresses the changing representation of evil in a broad spectrum of films and television programmes Written in refreshingly accessible and de jargonised prose the essays bring to bear a variety of philosophical and critical perspectives on works ranging from the cinema of famed director Alfred Hitchcock and the preternatural horror films Halloween and Friday the 13th to the understated documentary Human Remains and the television coverage of the immediate post 9 11 period The Changing Face of Evil in Film and Television is for anyone interested in the moving image representation of that pervasive yet highly misunderstood thing we call evil Australian Film Festivals Kirsten Stevens,2016-11-10 This is the first book to offer an in depth examination of the history operation and growth of film festivals as a cultural phenomenon within Australia Tracing the birth of film festivals in Australia in the 1950s through to their present abundance it asks why film festivals have prospered as audience driven spectacles throughout Australia while never developing the same industry and market foci of their international fellows Drawing on over sixty years of archival records festival commentary interviews with festival insiders and ephemera this book opens up a largely uncharted history of film culture activity in Australia The Guide to Clinical Preventive Services ,2010 Healthy Aging Patrick P. Coll,2019-03-29 This book weaves all of these factors together to engage in and promote medical biomedical and psychosocial interventions including lifestyle changes for healthier aging outcomes The text begins with an introduction to age related changes that increase in disease and disability commonly associated with old age Written by experts in healthy aging the text approaches the principles of disease and disability prevention via specific health issues Each chapter highlights the challenge of not just increasing life expectancy but also decreasing disease burden and disability in old age The text then shifts into the whole person implications for clinicians working with older patients including the social and cultural considerations that are necessary for improved outcomes as Baby Boomers age and healthcare systems worldwide adjust Healthy Aging is an important resource for those working with older patients including geriatricians family medicine

Rape-Revenge Films Alexandra Heller-Nicholas, 2021-04-12 Often considered the lowest depth to which cinema can plummet the rape revenge film is broadly dismissed as fundamentally exploitative and sensational catering only to a demented regressive demographic This second edition ten years after the first continues the assessment of these films and the discourse they provoke Included is a new chapter about women directed rape revenge films a phenomenon that revitalized since MeToo exploded in late 2017 is a filmmaking tradition with a history that transcends a contemporary context Featuring both famous and unknown movies controversial and widely celebrated filmmakers as well as rape revenge cinema from around the world this revised edition demonstrates that diverse and often contradictory treatments of sexual violence exist simultaneously
