Michael Prince,2009-01-01 Germans often claim that we have learned the lessons of our history But what precisely are the lessons they have drawn from their Nazi era past What experiences from that time continue to hold significant meaning for Germans today and how have those experiences shaped postwar German cultural identity Though Germans have come to recognize the evils of Nazism for them its primary evil derived from the war it unleashed and the hardships death and destruction that the war wrought on the Germans themselves and less from the losses and suffering it caused others Recent public discussion about the Allied bombing campaign against Germany the expulsion of Germans from Eastern Europe and other German experiences during and following the Second World War have revealed what some see as an emerging tendency among Germans to perceive themselves as much the victims of wartime acts as other peoples Through a survey of postwar literature film and other popular media as well as public commemorations and other means of memorializing and discussing the past K Michael Prince demonstrates that the theme of German suffering has been an abiding and even overriding element of postwar German historical memory and a chief component of German cultural identity While academics have focused their attention on Nazism atrocity and genocide and while Germany's official ceremonies and other acts of public memory have been similarly directed it was the wartime sufferings of average Germans that have remained at the core of German historical consciousness influencing their attitudes toward war in general and shaping Germany's role in world affairs

Present Pasts Andreas Huyssen, 2003 This book analyzes the relation of public memory to history forgetting and selective memory in three late twentieth century cities that have confronted major social or political traumas Berlin Buenos Aires and New York

W.G. Sebald's Hybrid Poetics Lynn L. Wolff, 2014-04-02 This book offers a new critical perspective on the perpetual problem of literature's relationship to reality and in particular on the sustained tension between literature and historiography The scholarly and literary works of W G Sebald 1944-2001 serve as striking examples for this discussion for the way in which they demonstrate the emergence of a new hybrid discourse of literature as historiography This book critically reconsiders the claims and aims of historiography by re-evaluating core questions of the literary discourse and by assessing the ethical imperative of literature in the 20th and 21st centuries Guided by an inherently interdisciplinary framework this book elucidates the interplay of epistemological aesthetic and ethical concerns that define Sebald's criticism and fiction Appropriate to the way in which Sebald's works challenge us to rethink the boundaries between discourses genres disciplines and media this work proceeds in a methodologically non-dogmatic way drawing on hermeneutics semiotics narratology and discourse theory In addition to contextualizing Sebald within postwar literature in German the book is the first English language study to consider Sebald's oeuvre as a whole Of interest for Sebald experts and enthusiasts literary scholars and historians concerned with the problematic of representing the past

Searching for Sebald Lise Patt, Christel Dillbohner, 2007 W G Sebald's books are sui generis hybrids of fiction travelogue autobiography and historical expos in which a narrator both Sebald and not Sebald comments on the quick blossoming of natural wonders and the long deaths that come of human atrocities All his narratives are punctuated with images murky photographs architectural plans engravings paintings newspaper clippings inserted into the prose without captions and often without obvious connection to the words that surround them This important volume includes a rare 1993 interview called But the written word is not a true document A Conversation with W G Sebald about Photography and Literature in which Sebald talks exclusively about his use of photographs It contains some of Sebald s most illuminating and poetic remarks about the topic yet In it he discusses Barthes the photograph s appeal the childhood image of Kafka family photographs and even images he never used in his writings In addition Searching for Sebald positions Sebald within an art historical tradition that begins with the Surrealists continues through Joseph Beuys and blossoms in the recent work of Christian Boltanski and Gerhard Richter and tracks his continuing inspiration to artists such as Tacita Dean and Helen Mirra An international roster of artists and scholars unpacks the intricacies of his unique method Seventeen theoretical essays approach Sebald through the multiple filters of art history Krauss film studies Kluge cultural theory Benjamin psychoanalysis Freud and especially photographic history and theory Barthes Kracauer and 17 modern and contemporary art projects are read through a Sebaldian filter If Sebald s artistic output acts as a touchstone for new critical theory being written on post medium photographic practices Searching for Sebald suggests a model for new investigations in the burgeoning field of visual studies

A Nation of Victims? , 2015-06-29 The re emergence of the issue of wartime suffering to the fore of German public discourse represents the greatest shift in German memory culture since the Historikerstreit of the 1980s. The international attention and debates triggered by, for example, W. G. Sebald's Luftkrieg und Literatur, Günter Grass's Im Krebsgang, Jörg Friedrich's Der Brand, testify to a change in focus away from the victims of National Socialism to the traumatic experience of the perpetrator collective and its legacies. The volume brings together German, English, and Israeli literary and film scholars and historians addressing issues surrounding the representation of German wartime suffering from the immediate post-war period to the present in literature, film, and public commemorative discourse. Split into four sections, the volume discusses the representation of Germans as victims in post-war literature and film; the current memory politics of the Bund der Vertriebenen; the public commemoration of the air raids on Hamburg and Dresden and their representation in film, photography, historiography, and literature; the impact and reception of W. G. Sebald's Luftkrieg und Literatur; the representation of flight and expulsion in contemporary writing; the problem of empathy in representations of Germans as victims; and the representation of suffering and National Socialism in Oliver Hirschbiegel's film Der Untergang.
