Martin Sloane A Novel:

Martin Sloane Michael Redhill, 2009-02-28 The story of a relationship across two decades of Jolene's search for Martin Sloane when one day he disappears from their home without warning or explanation is told in a novel that brilliantly and movingly explores the vagaries of love and friendship the burdens of personal history and the enigmatic power of art

Martin Sloane Michael Redhill, 2001-10-30 In 1984 Jolene Iolas a student in upstate New York encounters Martin Sloane's art while visiting a Toronto gallery Flush with the confidence of youth she strikes up a correspondence with the older artist and eventually the two become lovers Introduced to a constancy of love she has never known Jolene relaxes into the rituals of being someone's other half She learns Martin's story and cherishes it as her own He becomes a fixture in her life a star in her sky And then he vanishes There is no hint of his fate no chain of cause to be followed Over a long fall the shock slowly hardening into fact Jolene sheds her life losing everything including her oldest friend Molly to inexpressible grief Ten years pass Jolene slowly learns to stop trying to make sense of it all But before she can fully return to life the opportunity to confront a ghost arises Word has come from Molly of all people that someone named Sloane has been exhibiting artworks identical to Martin's in Irish galleries Jolene travels to Dublin where she reluctantly reconnects with Molly and together they find themselves lost in a jumble of pasts as they try to piece together what happened to Martin Sloane An exquisitely crafted novel Martin Sloane is about the mysteries of love and art the weight of history and what it means to bear memory for the missing and the dead

Martin Sloane Michael Redhill, 2002-06 What does it really mean to love another person The question hovers like a persistent wisp of fog over the story of Martin Sloane an Irish born artist who creates intricate object filled boxes and Jolene Iolas the young American woman who finds herself drawn first to Martin Sloane's art and then to the man himself The story of their relationship across two decades and of Jolene's search for Martin Sloane when one day he disappears from their home without warning or explanation is told in a novel that brilliantly and movingly explores the vagaries of love and friendship the burdens of personal history and the enigmatic power of art Goodness Michael Redhill, 2005 Winner of the Best of the Edinburgh Fringe Prize Althea Do you believe in your own death Every moment you are alive is endless and the present goes on and on with you inside it Of course the end is truly coming but it's so far off and in the meantime the spring bulbs need bringing out of the dark and the windows must be cleaned These distant murmurings of unrest are like the way you sometimes hear your name on the wind and you shudder Because it's eerie that the wind should know your name This remarkable autobiographical play by the award winning author of Building Jerusalem and Martin Sloane is a Russian doll like play concentric stories enveloping each other A writer is told in confidence a terrible tale of murder and injustice and he promises never to repeat the story Goodness is the writer breaking his word Recently divorced Michael Redhill goes to Poland to get away from his life and to do some research on the Holocaust Thwarted by witnesses unwilling to talk he returns home via England but in London is introduced to someone who can tell him a real story of evil Through this reluctant witness Redhill learns of a genocide He encounters through the memory of the storyteller an alleged war criminal about to be put on trial But this is an old man with Alzheimer's who can no longer remember the time his crimes were allegedly committed Has his guilt dissolved with his memory Could he be pretending to be ill in order to escape punishment The witness conjures for Redhill the war criminal's passionate and beautiful daughter who will defend her father at all costs There is also the prosecuting attorney who has much in common with the old man whose destruction he seeks As well as an uncomfortable attraction to his daughter Each is drawn to the other All is witnessed by a female prison guard the one who tells the playwright years later what really happened in the quest to give a nation some closure Everyone's story is compelling and the ending is as unexpected as it is shocking Who do we believe A prison guard still wounded by history A writer suffering from heartache A dying war criminal What is our responsibility Who does memory serve Did the past really happen And if it did who has a claim on it Goodness is a play about what happens in the gaps between experiencing telling and hearing

Simple Recipes Madeleine Thien, 2009-10-31 With delicate language and wisdom Madeleine Thien explores the longing of families pulled apart by conflicts between generations cultures and values Each of these stories captures a deeply personal world in which characters struggle to reconcile family loyalty with individual desires In House a 10 year old girl longs for the alcoholic mother who left the house one day never to return In Dispatch a woman tries to hold her marriage together even after finding proof that her husband is in love with someone else In A Map of the City a young woman's troubled relationship with her father overshadows the course she takes in her adult life Thien's fresh perspective and spare haunting prose have already won her prizes and the praise of established masters Simple Recipes is the beginning of a luminous writing career

The Trial of Katterfelto Michael Redhill, 2025-09-02 I will grant here at the outset that the Doctor was not who he seemed but this shall turn out to be of little import in the tale to come He is as am I but a charge in a wire We were conductors for another force vassals to a vessel This vessel I cannot speak of for some pages however central it will become but I gallop ahead of myself I believe it is important that you see how I came to meet the good Doctor and for you to meet us for who we were Perhaps you will marvel as have I at how chance encounters can be charged with the power to alter the course of one's life or even history In the late eighteenth century the conjurer and amateur scientist Gustavus Katterfelto has made a name for himself travelling across the English countryside with a bag of tricks For audiences his astonishing stunts are pure magic For Katterfelto each one is carefully engineered and executed with the help of his colleague confidante and amanuensis and our narrator Roger Gossage Yet one day in their travels the two men come across a mystifying object beyond their ken a metal horn that emits a disembodied woman's voice She calls herself Siri of Toronto and claims to speak from a place plagued by climate catastrophe and social unrest As they begin to use the horn in their magic shows Gossage and Katterfelto must work to understand the origin and intent of Siri's call a quest that will put them up against the limits of reason and test Roger's allegiance to the man he calls his friend Endlessly inventive richly imagined and entirely its own The Trial of Katterfelto is a consciousness expanding novel that writes directly into the most urgent questions we face as a species who we are what we have done and what we might do from here Contemporary Jewish Writing in Canada

Michael Greenstein,2004-01-01 Contemporary Jewish Writing in Canada brings together important and innovative works from modern Jewish writers living in Canada This anthology presents a variety of male and female voices both established and new some translated from French or Yiddish Caught between a conservative British tradition and an aggressive American influence with a long immigrant history Canadian Jewish literature has charted a unique intermediate course The largest community of Jewish writers in Canada can be found in Montreal where a vibrant Yiddish culture has flourished surrounded by a Francophone majority Beginning with A M Klein and carrying through the works of Leonard Cohen and Mordecai Richler Jewish writing in Montreal has adapted to changing political and linguistic pressures over the course of the twentieth century A number of Jewish authors in this anthology write in French and are involved in translation not just of language but of cultural values as well The second largest concentration of Jewish writers in Canada is in Winnipeg and the western part of the country where Jewish communities have strong Yiddish and socialist roots A generation of younger writers however have shifted from these earlier centers to Toronto where they form part of a multicultural mosaic blending Jewish Canadian and cosmopolitan values From Anne Michaels s Greek island to Aryeh Lev Stollman s Berlin and Michael Redhill s Irish synagogue Canadian Jewish literature engages exile at home abroad and abroad at home Lost Classics
