Quaternary Palaeoecology Harry John Betteley Birks, Hilary H. Birks, 1980
Betteley Birks, Hilary H. Birks, 1991-10      Encyclopedia of Quaternary Science Cary Mock, 2013-03-25

The second revised edition of the Encyclopedia of Quaternary Science Four Volume Set provides both students and professionals with an up to date reference work on this important and highly varied area of research There are lots of new articles and many of the articles that appeared in the first edition have been updated to reflect advances in knowledge since 2006 when the original articles were written The second edition will contain about 375 articles written by leading experts around the world This major reference work is richly illustrated with more than 3 000 illustrations most of them in colour Research in the Quaternary sciences has advanced greatly in the last 10 years especially since topics like global climate change geologic hazards and soil erosion were put high on the political agenda This second edition builds upon its award winning predecessor to provide the reader assured quality along with essential updated coverage Contains 357 broad ranging articles 4310 pages written at a level that allows undergraduate students to understand the material while providing active researchers with a ready reference resource for information in the field Facilitates teaching and learning The first edition was regarded by many as the most significant single overview of Quaternary science ever yet Editor in Chief Scott Elias has managed to surpass that in this second edition by securing even more expert reviews whilst retaining his renowned editorial consistency that enables readers to navigate seamlessly from one unfamiliar topic to the next      Quaternary Palaeoecology International Association for Quaternary Research. The SAGE Handbook of Geomorphology Kenneth J Gregory, Andrew S Goudie, 2011-06-22

Geomorphology is the study of the Earth's diverse physical land surface features and the dynamic processes that shape these features Examining natural and anthropogenic processes The SAGE Handbook of Geomorphology is a comprehensive exposition of the fundamentals of geomorphology that examines form process and applications of the discipline Organized into five substantive sections the Handbook is an overview of Foundations and Relevance including the nature and scope of geomorphology the origins and development of geomorphology the role and character of theory in geomorphology geomorphology and environmental management and geomorphology and society Techniques and Approaches including observations and experiments geomorphological mapping the significance of models process and form dating surfaces and sediment remote sensing in geomorphology GIS in geomorphology biogeomorphology human activity Process and Environment including the evolution of regolith weathering fluids flows and fluxes sediment transport and deposition hill slopes riverine environments glacial geomorphology periglacial environments coastal environments aeolian environments tropical environments karst and karst processes Environmental Change including landscape evolution and tectonics interpreting quaternary environments environmental change disturbance and responses to geomorphic systems Conclusion including challenges and perspectives and a concluding review The Handbook has contributions from 48 international authors and was initially organized by the International Association of Geomorphologists This will be a much used and much cited reference for researchers in Geomorphology Physical Geography and the Environmental Sciences Tracking Environmental Change Using Lake Sediments John B.H. Smol, 2012-04-08 Numerical and statistical methods have rapidly become part of a palaeolimnologist's tool kit They are used to explore and summarise complex data reconstruct past environmental variables from fossil assemblages and test competing hypotheses about the causes of observed changes in lake biota through history This book brings together a wide array of numerical and statistical techniques currently available for use in palaeolimnology and other branches of palaeoecology Visit <http://extras.springer.com> the Springer's Extras website to view data sets figures software and R scripts used or mentioned in this book

Library of Congress Subject Headings Library of Congress, 2010 Climate Change and Cultural Dynamics David G. Anderson, Kirk Maasch, Daniel H. Sandweiss, 2011-07-28 The Middle Holocene epoch 8 000 to 3 000 years ago was a time of dramatic changes in the physical world and in human cultures Across this span climatic conditions changed rapidly with cooling in the high to mid latitudes and drying in the tropics In many parts of the world human groups became more complex with early horticultural systems replaced by intensive agriculture and small scale societies being replaced by larger more hierarchical organizations Climate Change and Cultural Dynamics explores the cause and effect relationship between climatic change and cultural transformations across the mid Holocene c 4000 B C Explores the role of climatic change on the development of society around the world Chapters detail diverse geographical regions Co written by noted archaeologists and paleoclimatologists for non specialists The Ancient Human Occupation of Britain Nick Ashton, Simon Lewis, Chris Stringer, 2010-11-12 The Ancient Human Occupation of Britain Project AHOB funded by the Leverhulme Trust began in 2001 and brought together researchers from a range of disciplines with the aim of investigating the record of human presence in Britain from the earliest occupation until the end of the last Ice Age about 12 000 years ago Study of changes in climate landscape and biota over the last million years provides the environmental backdrop to understanding human presence and absence together with the development of new technologies This book brings together the multidisciplinary work of the project The chapters present the results of new fieldwork and research on old sites from museum collections using an array of new analytical techniques Features an up to date treatment of the record of human presence in the British Isles during the Palaeolithic period 700 000 10 000 years before present Takes multidisciplinary approach that includes archaeology geochemistry geochronology stratigraphy and sedimentology Coincides with the culmination of the AHOB project in 2010 providing a benchmark statement on the record of human occupation in Britain that can be utilized and tested by future research Tropical Forests of the Guiana Shield D. S. Hammond, 2005 The Guiana Shield is an ancient geological formation located in the northern part of South America covering an area of one million square kilometres Despite its hostile environment it is home to many unusual and highly specialized plants and animals which constitute a rich area of biodiversity

Chapters in this book include hydrology nutrient cycling forest phenology insect plant interactions forest microclimate plant distributions forest dynamics and conservation and management of flora and fauna It provides a comprehensive and detailed review of the ecology biology and natural history of the forests of the area

Vegetation and Landscape Dynamics of the Iberian Pyrenees During the Last 3000 Years Valentí Rull, Teresa Vegas-Vilarrúbia, 2024-05-20 The high resolution palynological study of the varved sediments of Lake Montcort s has provided a unique record of the regional vegetation shifts over the last 3000 years and of the natural and anthropogenic drivers of ecological change unparalleled in the Mediterranean This book shows in detail how the terrestrial ecosystems of Montcort s have responded to climatic events such as the Medieval Climate Anomaly or the Little Ice Age as well as to varying intensities of anthropogenic pressure from the Bronze Age to the present The knowledge gained from this palaeoecological study is useful not only for understanding how the modern landscapes of the Pyrenees were shaped but also for conserving biodiversity and ecosystems in the face of future environmental changes related to ongoing global change The book is aimed at researchers university teachers and advanced graduate students in a wide range of disciplines including ecology palaeoecology environmental science biodiversity geography sedimentology archaeology anthropology and biodiversity conservation

Biological Resources of Water Sajal Ray, 2018-04-25 The book is divided into two sections and represents the current trend of research in aquatic bioresource In the section Biology Ecology and Physiological Chemistry high impact articles are contributed on reproduction population genetics evolution biodiversity biology and ecology of different aquatic faunas Physiological chemistry of lipid bioactive pharmaceuticals and chemical ecological aspects of aquatic organisms were discussed In the section entitled Conservation and Sustainable Management authors highlighted conservation and management related issues of various bioresources in different regions of the earth The book mentions the biological ecological physiological and genetic significance of aquatic organisms with resource potential

The authors stressed on rational utilisation and management of bioresource ensuring minimal damage of the aquatic ecosystem This book would provide a direction towards sustainable ecological management of bioresource Climate Change in Deserts Martin Williams,2014-08-11 A synthesis of the environmental and climatic history of every major desert and desert margin for researchers and advanced students Handbook of Holocene Palaeoecology and Palaeohydrology B. E. Berglund,Magdalena Ralska-Jasiewiczowa,1986-03-26 This handbook reviews the key palaeoecological methods applied to primarily organic lake and mire deposits Particular attention is paid to Holocene environmental changes in the temperate zone but most methods can be applied to older Quaternary deposits and to areas outside the temperate zone The need for uniform methods of correlating stratigraphical data on a continental scale is emphasized Proceedings of the Fifth International Symposium on Trichoptera M. Bournaud,H. Tachet,2012-12-06 When we offered to host the 5th International Symposium on Trichoptera in Lyon in July 1986 we knew that for us the great Adventure was about to begin On that July morning in 1983 in Clemson South Carolina we could only dimly imagine what the future held in store One of the worst moment came in fact when we were told by th official scientific authorities that no subsidies would be forthcoming This refusal meant that we would be unable to give any financial help to those colleagues with only modest means at their disposal Let us hope that the publication of the Proceedings will convince certain French scientists and the powers that be that the study of Trichoptera represents a valid and exciting field of research The American raid on Tripoli which did not at the time seem to have any link with Trichoptera threatened to act as a deterrent as far as the North American participants were concerned However the fears expressed by some of our colleagues and not without reason when we consider the series of terrorist attacks later carried out in France were soon allayed although the organisers of the Congress must confess to having kept a discreet eye open for any suspicious brown paper parcels or unattended luggage Climate and circulation of the tropics S. Hastenrath,2012-12-06 Tropical atmosphere and ocean are receiving increased attention in relation to the functioning of the global climate system the remarkable climatic variability in low latitudes and the associated manifold environmental and societal consequences Beyond the traditional emphasis of meteor ology on weather analysis and forecasting there is a growing interest in the climate and large scale circulation of the tropics This book may serve as a text for graduate and upper division undergraduate students in meteorology and is also intended as a reference work for practicing meteorologists and researchers in the atmospheric oceanic and other environmental sciences I began writing this book in 1979 but the roots reach further back Early experiences in North Africa fuelled my curiosity about the low latitudes In 1960 I seized the opportunity to work in the National Meteorological Service of El Salvador in Central America My interest in the tropics continued after joining the University of Wisconsin in 1963 Field research brought me to the equatorial Pacific and many times to the tropical Americas and Africa This involved visits and correspondence with many weather services My acquaintance with Australasia and South Asia is limited to short study visits but includes continuous contacts with colleagues at key research institutions in India namely the India Meteorological Department the Indian Institute of Tropical Meteorology and Andhra University A guest semester at the University of the Witwatersrand in 1971 and related travels provided a perspective on the problems of Southern Africa

The SAGE Handbook of Environmental Change
John A Matthews, 2012-01-31

The SAGE Handbook of Environmental Change is an extensive survey of the interdisciplinary science of environmental change including recent debates on climate change and the full range of other natural and anthropogenic changes affecting the Earth ocean atmosphere system in the past present and future It examines the historic importance present status and future prospects of the field over two volumes With more than 40 chapters the books situate the defining characteristics and key paradigms within a state of the art review of the field including its changing nature and diversity of approaches evidence base key theoretical arguments resonances with other disciplines and relationships between theory research and practice Opening with a detailed contextualizing essay by the editors the work is arranged into six parts

Part One Approaches to Understanding Environmental Change
Part Two Evidence of Environmental Change and the Geo ecological Response Part Three Causes Mechanisms and Dynamics of Environmental Change
Part Four Key Issues of Human induced Environmental Changes and Their Impacts
Part Five Patterns Processes and Impacts of Environmental Change at the Regional Scale Part Six Responses of People to Environmental Change and Implications for Society Global in its coverage scientific and theoretical in its approach the books bring together an international set of respected editors and contributors to provide an exciting timely addition to the literature on climate change With the subjects interdisciplinary framework this book will appeal to academics researchers postgraduates and practitioners in a variety of disciplines including geography geology ecology environmental science archaeology anthropology politics and sociology
