Routledge Handbook of Modern Japanese Literature Rachael Hutchinson, Leith Douglas Morton, 2016-06-03 The Routledge Handbook of Modern Japanese Literature provides a comprehensive overview of how we study Japanese literature today Rather than taking a purely chronological approach to the content the chapters survey the state of the field through a number of pressing issues and themes examining the ways in which it is possible to read modern Japanese literature and situate it in relation to critical theory The Handbook examines various modes of literary production such as fiction poetry and critical essays as distinct forms of expression that nonetheless are closely interrelated Attention is drawn to the idea of the bunjin as a person of letters and a more realistic assessment is provided of how writers have engaged with ideas not labelled a novelist or poet but a writer who may at one time or another choose to write in various forms The book provides an overview of major authors and genres by situating them within broader themes that have defined the way writers have produced literature in modern Japan as well as how those works have been read and understood by different readers in different time periods The Routledge Handbook of Modern Japanese Literature draws from an international array of established experts in the field as well as promising young researchers It represents a wide variety of critical approaches giving the study a broad range of perspectives This handbook will be of interest to students and scholars of Asian Studies Literature Sociology Critical Theory and History

Sexuality and the Reading Encounter Emma Wilson,1996 Can fictions of desire determine real pleasures Do texts regulate the performance of our sexual identities In Sexuality and the Reading Encounter Emma Wilson offers a new account of the intimate relations between reading identity and identification Interweaving theoretical debate with analysis of texts by Proust Duras Tournier and Cixous her study reveals the formative potential and transferential pleasures of the reading encounter Drawing on an understanding of identity as performative alienated and fictitious this study argues that the fictions we read act as mirrors and decoys displaying seductive images of intelligible sexual identities The texts chosen for discussion here draw attention to the strategies by which identity is constructed textually They work thus to frame the reading encounter and to highlight its formative power In analysis of these texts this study works to cut across the axes of homosexuality and heterosexuality offering an alternative focus on the interdependence of identity and fantasy

Visual Culture: What is visual culture studies? Joanne Morra,Marquard Smith,2006 These texts represent both the formation of visual culture and the ways in which it has transformed and continues to transform our understanding and experience of the world as a visual domain
