Queer Media in China Hongwei Bao, 2021-05-30 This book examines different forms and practices of queer media that is the films websites zines and film festivals produced by for and about lesbian gay bisexual transgender and queer LGBTQ people in China in the first two decades of the twenty first century It traces how queer communities have emerged in urban China and identifies the pivotal role that community media have played in the process It also explores how these media shape community cultures and perform the role of social and cultural activism in a country where queer identities have only recently emerged and explicit forms of social activism are under serious political constraints Importantly because queer media is niche and narrowcasting rather than broadcasting and mass communication the subject compels a rethinking of some often taken for granted assumptions about how media relates to the state the market and individuals

Overall the book reveals a great deal about queer communities and identities queer activism and about media and social and political attitudes in China

Queer Premises Ben Campkin, 2023-06-01 Queer premises provide vital social and cultural infrastructure a queer infrastructure connecting different generations and locations facilitating the movement of resources across and beyond the city Queer Premises offers evidence for how London's diverse LGBTQ populations have embedded themselves into urban space systems and resources It sets out to understand how across their different material dimensions bars cafés nightclubs pubs community centres and hybrids of these typologies have been imagined created and sustained From the 1980s to the present Campkin asks how where and why these venues have been established how they operate and the purposes they serve what challenges they face and why they close down

Queer Constellations Dianne Chisholm, Queer Constellations investigates the dreams and catastrophes of recent urban history viewed through new queer narratives of inner city life The gay village gay mecca gai Paris the lesbian flaneur the lesbian bohème these and other urban phantasmagoria feature paradoxically in this volume as figures of revolutionary utopia and commodity spectacle as fossilized archetypes of social transformation and ruins of haunting cultural potential Dianne Chisholm introduces readers to new practices of walking seeing citing and remembering the city in works by Neil Bartlett Samuel Delany Robert Gluck Alan Hollinghurst Gary Indiana Eileen Myles Sarah Schulman Edmund White and David Wojnarowicz Reading these authors with reference to the history sociology geography and philosophy of space particularly to the everyday avant garde production and practice of urban space Chisholm reveals how and how effectively queer narrative documentary resembles and reassembles Walter Benjamin's constellations of Paris capital of the nineteenth century Considering experimental queer writing in critical conjunction with Benjamin's city writing the book shows how a queer perspective on inner city reality exposes contradictions otherwise obscured by mythic narratives of progress If Benjamin regards the Paris arcade as a microcosm of high capitalism wherein the unmaking of industrial society is perceived retrospectively in contemporary queer narrative we see the sexually charged and commodity entranced space of the gay bathhouse as a microcosm of late capitalism and as an exemplary site for excavating the contradictions of mass sex In Chisholm's book we discover how looking back on the ruins of queer mecca queer authors return to Benjamin to advance his dialectics of seeing how they cruise the paradoxes of market capital blasting a queer era out of the homogeneous course of history

Queer Singapore Audrey Yue, Jun Zubillaga-Pow, 2012-10-01. Singapore remains one of the few countries in Asia that has yet to decriminalize homosexuality. Yet it has also been hailed by many as one of the emerging gay capitals of Asia. This book accounts for the rise of mediated queer cultures in Singapore's current milieu of illiberal citizenship. This collection analyses how contemporary queer Singapore has emerged against a contradictory backdrop of sexual repression and cultural liberalisation. Using the innovative framework of illiberal pragmatism established and emergent local scholars and activists provide expansive coverage of the impact of homosexuality on Singapore's media cultures and political economy including law religion the military literature theatre photography cinema social media and queer commerce. It shows how new LGBT subjectivities have been fashioned through the governance of illiberal pragmatism how pragmatism is appropriated as a form of social and critical democratic action and how cultural citizenship is forged through a logic of queer complicity that complicates the flows of oppositional resistance and grassroots appropriation.

Speaking in Queer Tongues William Leap, Tom Boellstorff, 2004. Language is a fundamental tool for shaping identity and community including the expression or repression of sexual desire. Speaking in Queer Tongues investigates the tensions and adaptations that occur when processes of globalization bring one system of gay or lesbian language into contact with another Western constructions of gay culture are now circulating widely beyond the boundaries of Western nations due to influences as diverse as Internet communication global dissemination of entertainment and other media increased travel and tourism migration displacement and transnational citizenship The authority claimed by these constructions and by the linguistic codes embedded in them is causing them to have a profound impact on public and private expressions of homosexuality in locations as diverse as sub Saharan Africa New Zealand Indonesia and Israel Examining a wide range of global cultures Speaking in Queer Tongues presents essays on topics that include old versus new sexual vocabularies the rhetoric of gay oriented magazines and news media verbal and nonverbalized sexual imagery in poetry and popular culture and the linguistic consequences of the globalized gay rights movement

Historical Geography, GIScience and Textual Analysis Charles Travis,Francis Ludlow,Ferenc Gyuris,2020-02-29 This book illustrates how literature history and geographical analysis complement and enrich each other s disciplinary endeavors The Hun Lenox Globe constructed in 1510 contains the Latin phrase Hic sunt dracones Here be dragons warning sailors of the dangers of drifting into uncharted waters Nearly half a millennium earlier the practice of earth writing geographia emerged from the cloisters of the great library of Alexandria as a discipline blending the twin pursuits of Strabo s poetic impression of places and Herodotus chronicles of events and cultures Eratosthenes a librarian at Alexandria and the mathematician Ptolemy employed geometry as another language with which to pursue earth writing From this ancient East Mediterranean fount the streams of literary perception historical record and geographical analysis phenomenological and Euclidean found confluence The aim of this collection is to recover such means and seek the fount of such rich waters by exploring relations between historical geography geographic information science GIS geoscience and textual analysis The book discusses and illustrates current case studies trends and discourses in European American and Asian spheres where historical geography is practiced in concert with human and physical applications of GIS and the broader geosciences and the analysis of text broadly conceived as archival literary historical cultural climatic scientific digital cinematic and media Time as a multi scaled concept again broadly conceived is the pivot around which the interdisciplinary contributions to this volume revolve In The Landscape of Time 2002 the historian John Lewis Gaddis posits What if we were to think of history as a kind of mapping He links the ancient practice of mapmaking with the three part conception of time past present and future Gaddis presents the practices of cartography and historical narrative as attempts to manage infinitely complex subjects by imposing abstract grids to frame the phenomena being examined longitude and latitude to frame landscapes and occidental and oriental temporal scales to frame timescapes Gaddis contends that if the past is a landscape and history is the way we represent it then it follows that pattern recognition constitutes a primary form of human perception one that can be parsed empirically statistically and phenomenologically In turn this volume reasons that literary historical cartographical scientific mathematical and counterfactual narratives create their own spatio temporal frames of reference Confluences between the poetic and the positivistic the empirical and the impressionistic the epic and the episodic and the chronologic and the chorologic can be identified and studied by integrating practices in historical geography GIScience geoscience and textual analysis As a result new perceptions and insights facilitating further avenues of scholarship into uncharted waters emerge The various ways in which geographical historical and textual perspectives are hermeneutically woven together in this volume illuminates the different methods with which to explore terrae incognitae of knowledge beyond the shores of their own separate disciplinary islands

Planning and LGBTQ Communities Petra L. Doan, 2015-03-24 Although the last decade has seen steady progress towards wider acceptance of lesbian gay bisexual transgendered and queer LGBTQ individuals LGBTQ residential and commercial areas have come under increasing pressure from gentrification and redevelopment initiatives As a result many of these neighborhoods are losing their special character as safe havens for sexual and gender minorities Urban planners and municipal officials have sometimes ignored the transformation of these neighborhoods and at other times been complicit in these changes Planning and LGBTQ Communities brings together experienced planners administrators and researchers in the fields of planning and geography to reflect on the evolution of urban neighborhoods in which LGBTQ populations live work and play The authors examine a variety of LGBTQ residential and commercial areas to highlight policy and planning links to the development of these neighborhoods Each chapter explores a particular urban context and asks how the field of planning has enabled facilitated and or neglected the specialized and diverse needs of the LGBTQ population A central theme of this book is that urban planners need to think beyond queer space because LGBTQ populations are more diverse and dispersed than the white gay male populations that created many of the most visible gayborhoods The authors provide practical guidance for cities and citizens seeking to strengthen neighborhoods that have an explicit LGBTQ focus as well as other areas that are LGBTQ friendly They also encourage broader awareness of the needs of this marginalized population and the need to establish more formal linkages between municipal government and a range of LGBTQ groups Planning and LGBTQ Communities also adds useful material for graduate level courses in planning theory urban and regional theory planning for multicultural cities urban geography and geographies of gender and sexuality

Public Art in Canada Annie G rin,James S. McLean,2011-03-18 Arguably public art is experienced daily by more people than most offerings in galleries yet our notion of what constitutes public art is surprisingly limited Public Art in Canada broadens the critical discussion by exploring public art s varied means of engaging with public space and the public sphere Annie G rin and James S McLean have assembled contributions from new and established Canadian scholars curators and artists Each contributor enlivens our understanding of public art as a practice and its place in the social and aesthetic formation of which it is a part As a result the book provides an overview of the current debates in the field of public art that are informed by the theories and critical literature of art history communication studies cultural studies sociology and urban studies The rigorous essays and original works of art collected in this volume present a compelling demonstration of the strategies aesthetic and otherwise used by artists to elicit intellectual sensual or emotional responses that can only be obtained through artistic practices in public places Public Art in Canada is a major contribution to the study of Canadian art and culture
