Levinas, Messianism and Parody Terence Holden, 2011-09-22 There is no greater testament to Emmanuel Levinas reputation as an enigmatic thinker than in his meditations on eschatology and its relevance for contemporary thought Levinas has come to be seen as a principal representative in Continental philosophy alongside the likes of Heidegger Benjamin Adorno and Zizek of a certain philosophical messianism differing from its religious counterpart in being formulated apparently without appeal to any dogmatic content To date however Levinas messianism has not received the same detailed attention as other aspects of his wide ranging ethical vision Terence Holden attempts to redress this imbalance tracing the evolution of the messianic idea across Levinas career emphasising the transformations or indeed displacements which this idea undergoes in taking on philosophical intelligibility He suggests that in order to crack the enigma which this idea represents we must consider not only the Jewish tradition from which Levinas draws inspiration but also Nietzsche who ostensibly would represent the greatest rival to the messianic idea in the history of philosophy with his notion of the parody of messianism

Judgement Ronald Beiner, 2013-06-17 Originally published in 1983 One of the basic capacities of man as a political being is his faculty of judgement Yet for all the books on concepts like freedom equality and authority surprisingly little attention has been given to this topic in the tradition of Western political thought What is the nature of political judgement What endows us as human beings with the ability to make reasonable judgements about human affairs and to judge the common world we share with others By what means do we secure validity for our judgements What are the underlying conditions of this human capacity and what implications does it have for the understanding of politics These questions central as they are to any reflection on politics have rarely been addressed in a systematic way This book examines Kant's concept of taste and Aristotle's concept of prudence as well as recent works of political philosophy by Arendt Gadamer and Habermas all crucially influenced by Kant and Aristotle

Zerilli, 2016-12-12 In this sweeping look at political and philosophical history Linda M G Zerilli unpacks the tightly woven core of Hannah Arendt's unfinished work on a tenacious modern problem how to judge critically in the wake of the collapse of inherited criteria of judgment Engaging a remarkable breadth of thinkers including Ludwig Wittgenstein Leo Strauss Immanuel Kant Frederick Douglass John Rawls Jürgen Habermas Martha Nussbaum and many others Zerilli clears a hopeful path between an untenable universalism and a cultural relativism that forever defers the possibility of judging at all Zerilli deftly outlines the limitations of existing debates both those that concern themselves with the impossibility of judging across cultures and those that try to find transcendental rational values to anchor judgment Looking at Kant through the lens of Arendt Zerilli develops the notion of a public conception of truth and from there she explores relativism historicism and universalism as they shape feminist approaches to judgment Following Arendt even further Zerilli arrives at a hopeful new pathway seeing the collapse of philosophical criteria for judgment not as a problem but a way to practice judgment anew as a world building activity of democratic citizens The result is an astonishing theoretical argument that travels through and goes beyond some of the most important political thought of the modern period California.
