Mining the Media Archive Dot Tuer, 2006

Mining the Media Archive gathers together an exciting collection of essays by writer and cultural theorist Dot Tuer Ranging from monographs on new media artists to a history of Canada's most controversial artist run centre the CEAC to testimonial writing on cultural politics and post colonialism in Canada and Argentina Tuer's writings address issues of global media and local remembrance through a unique blend of storytelling archival research and cultural analysis Retooling the Humanities Daniel Coleman, Smaro Kamboureli, 2012-07-02 Is market driven research healthy Responding to the language of knowledge mobilization that percolates through Canadian postsecondary education the literary scholars who contributed these essays address the challenges that an intensified culture of research capitalism brings to the humanities in particular Stakeholders in Canada's research infrastructure university students professors and administrators grant policy makers and bureaucrats and the public who are the ultimate inheritors of such knowledge are urged to examine a range of perspectives on the increasingly entrepreneurial university environment and its growing corporate culture On Aboriginal representation in the Gallery Lydia Jessup, Shannon Bagg, 2002-01-01 In recognizing the established intellectual and institutional authority of Aboriginal artists curators and academics working in cultural institutions and universities this volume serves as an important primer on key questions and issues accompanying the changing representational practices of the community cultural center the public art gallery and the anthropological museum Published in English Policy Matters Clive Robertson, 2006 In this book Clive Robertson examines the subject of arts administration through the three major topics of artist run culture as movement and apparatus custody battles with at the Canada Council and Carings for art and culture Includes interviews with Paule Leduc Roch Carrier Edythe Goodriche and Bruce Russell From Art Metropole website viewed 23 May 2018 Museum Pieces Ruth Bliss Phillips, 2011 The ways in which Aboriginal people and museums work together have changed drastically in recent decades This historic process of decolonization including distinctive attempts to institutionalize multiculturalism has pushed Canadian museums to pioneer new practices that can accommodate both difference and inclusivity Ruth Phillips argues that these practices are indigenous not only because they originate in Aboriginal activism but because they draw on a distinctively Canadian preference for compromise and tolerance for ambiguity Phillips dissects seminal exhibitions of Indigenous art to show how changes in display curatorial voice and authority stem from broad social economic and political forces outside the museum and moves beyond Canadian institutions and practices to discuss historically interrelated developments and exhibitions in the United States Britain Australia and elsewhere Drawing on forty years of experience as an art historian curator exhibition critic and museum director she emphasizes the complex and situated nature of the problems that face museums introducing new perspectives on controversial exhibitions and moments of contestation A manifesto that calls on us to re imagine the museum as a place to embrace global interconnectedness Museum Pieces emphasizes the transformative power of museum controversy and analyses shifting ideas about art authenticity and power in the modern museum The Routledge Companion to Arts Marketing Daragh O'Reilly, Ruth Rentschler, Theresa A. Kirchner, 2013-12-17 The relationship between the arts and marketing has been growing ever more complex as the proliferation of new technologies and social media has opened up new forms of communication This book covers the broad and involved relationship between the arts and marketing It frames arts marketing in the context of wider related issues such as the creative and cultural industries cultural policy and arts funding developments in the different art forms and the impact of environmental forces on arts business models and markets The Routledge Companion to Arts Marketing provides a comprehensive up to date reference guide that incorporates current analyses of arts marketing topics by leaders of academic research in the field As such it will be a key resource for the next generation of arts marketing scholars and teachers and will constitute the single most authoritative guide on the subject internationally

What Have Charities Ever Done for Us? Cook, Stephen, Mason, Tania, 2021-04-13 When the coronavirus pandemic took hold early in 2020 charities were among the first to respond to the resulting social and economic distress But recent scandals and a more critical climate have overshadowed the vital role they play What Have Charities Ever Done for Us rebalances the debate using case studies and interviews to illustrate how charities support people and communities foster heritage and culture and pioneer responses to crucial social ethical and environmental questions It also sets the historical context examines cases that have attracted criticisms analyses the political response and considers how the governance transparency and independence of charities could be improved Charities at their best are the conscience of society and benefit most people at some point in their lives This book brings to life the breadth and depth of their work and the contribution they make to social progress

Arts for Change Beverly Naidus, 2009-04-01 Arts for Change presents strategies and theory for teaching socially engaged art with an historical and contemporary overview of the field The book features interviews with over thirty maverick artists faculty from colleges and universities in the United States Canada and Great Britain whose pedagogy is drawn from and informs activist arts practice The issues these teaching artists address are provocative and diverse Some came to this work through personal healing from injustice and trauma or by witnessing oppressions that became intolerable Many have taught for decades deeply influenced by social movements of the 1960s and 1970s yet because the work is controversial tenured positions are rare

Writing the Everyday Danielle Fuller, 2004 In Writing the Everyday Danielle Fuller analyses writing by Atlantic Canadian women from diverse backgrounds Drawing extensively on original interviews with writers editors and publishers Fuller investigates how and why communities form around texts that record women's everyday realities histories and traditions showing that prose writing and poetry performances combine oral storytelling family history and other aspects of local cultures with popular literary genres to address issues of racism sexism and poverty

Artist, Audience,

Accomplice Sydney Stutterheim, 2024-07-15 In Artist Audience Accomplice Sydney Stutterheim introduces a new figure into the history of performance art and related practices of the 1970s and 1980s the accomplice Occupying roles including eyewitness romantic partner studio assistant and documenter this figure is situated between the conventional subject positions of the artist and the audience The unseen and largely unacknowledged contributions of such accomplices exceed those performed by a typical audience because they share in the responsibility for producing artworks that entail potential ethical or legal transgressions Stutterheim analyzes the art of Chris Burden Hannah Wilke Martin Kippenberger and Lorraine O Grady showing how each cannily developed strategies of shared culpability that evoked questions about the accomplice's various rights and roles In this way Stutterheim argues that the artist's authority is not sovereign total or exclusive but rather fluid and relational By examining the development of an alternative model of participatory art that relies on a network of accomplices Stutterheim radically revises current understandings of artistic agency aesthetic property and acknowledged authorship

Rural Arts Management Elise Lael Kieffer, Jerome Socolof, 2024-07-10 The arts and arts management exist in every corner of the world from the largest city to the smallest town However just as a metropolis and a hamlet bear little resemblance to each other despite similar basic needs arts organizations in the former frequently bear little resemblance to those in the latter and many foundational arts management texts give little attention to rural settings This book combines insights from research and practice to fill that knowledge gap and help readers understand arts administration in rural communities Focusing on the North American setting but including comparative examples and references from around the world this book examines how areas of practice familiar to any arts manager work in rural areas including research and best practices for navigating the paucity of resources frequently encountered in rural communities Emphasizing a by rural for rural perspective this book frames the arts as integral components of vibrant rural communities and valuable tools for meeting these communities' needs Written by arts and nonprofit management professors with backgrounds in rural arts research and practice this book provides a valuable resource for scholars advanced students and reflective practitioners at the intersection of the arts and rural studies
