Private Households and Public Politics in 3rd-5th Century Jewish Palestine Alexei Sivertsev, 2002 Alexei Sivertsev examines the nature of the Jewish aristocratic households and their public functions during the later Roman and Byzantine periods third to fifth centuries C E The author first discusses the nature of the Jewish patriarchate during the third century C E He argues that the family of patriarchs nesi im is best understood as a local city based aristocratic clan It emerged along with other contemporary clans as a result of the gradual conversion of the national aristocracy of the once independent Judean state into the municipal aristocracy of the Roman province of Palaestina in the course of the first to second centuries C E In the second part of this book Alexei Sivertsev addresses the specific public functions performed by Jewish aristocratic clans such as judicial religious administrative and legislative He also demonstrates the continuity that existed in this respect between the Second Commonwealth aristocratic clans and those of the rabbinic period Finally the third part of this study deals with the process leading to the integration of the local native aristocracies of the Roman Near East into the centralized administrative system created by the Emperors starting with Constantine the Great This process is analyzed specifically regarding the example of the Jewish ruling elite The main question in this section is the degree to which the local administrative apparatus of the newly created Byzantine bureaucracy developed out of the traditional and clan based public institutions which had existed locally throughout the Roman period

The Sinner and the Amnesiac

Form, Function, and Historical Significance of the Rabbinic Story in Yerushalmi Neziqin

Catherine Hezser, 1993 Revised version of the author's thesis Ph D Jewish Theological Seminary of America 1992

Rewriting Ancient Jewish History Amram Tropper, 2016-04-20 Half a century ago the primary contours of the history of the Jews in Roman times were not subject to much debate This standard account collapsed however when a handful of insights undermined the traditional historical method the method long enlisted by historians for eliciting facts from sources In response to these insights a new historical method gradually emerged Rewriting Ancient Jewish History critiques the traditional historical method and makes a case for the new one illustrating how to write anew ancient Jewish history At the heart of the traditional historical method lie three fundamental presumptions The traditional historical method regularly presumes that multiple versions of a text or tradition are equally authentic it presumes that many ancient Jewish sources are the products of largely immanent forces of cloistered Jewish communities and barring any local grounds for suspicion it presumes that most ancient Jewish texts faithfully reflect their sources and reliably recount events Rewriting Ancient Jewish History unfurls the failings of this approach it promotes the new historical method which circumvents the flawed traditional presumptions while plotting anew the limits of rational argumentation in historical inquiry This crucial reappraisal is a must read for students of Jewish and Roman history alike and a fascinating case study in how historians should approach their ancient sources

Jewish Travel in Antiquity Catherine Hezser, 2011 This book provides the first comprehensive study of Jewish travel and mobility in Hellenistic and Roman times based on a critical analysis of Jewish Graeco Roman and early Christian literary epigraphic and archaeological sources and a social historical evaluation of the material Catherine Hezser shows that certain segments of ancient Jewish society were quite mobile. Mobility seems to have increased in the later Roman period when an extensive road system facilitated travel within the province of Syria Palestine and the neighbouring Middle Eastern regions. Second Temple Judaism was centralized with Jerusalem as its central space and seat of priestly authority. In post 70 rabbinic Judaism on the other hand connections between rabbis could be established through mutual visits and second and third degree contacts only. Mobility formed the basis of the establishment of a decentralized rabbinic network in Palestine and Babylonia in late antiquity. Numerous narrative and halakhic traditions indicate the importance of mobility for communication and the exchange of knowledge amongst rabbis. It is argued that the rabbis who were most mobile sat at the nodal points of the rabbinic network and elicited the largest amount of influence. They would have combined business travel with scholarly exchange. Scholars' journeys between Palestine and Babylonia are viewed within the wider context of Rome and Persia's economic and cultural exchange in which Jews just like Christians may have played the role of intermediaries.

The Talmud Yerushalmi and Graeco-Roman Culture Peter Schäfer, Catherine Hezser, 1998. This volume focuses on a wide range of topics such as gender studies, aspects of everyday life, Roman festivals, magic etc, hereby reflecting on the methodological problems inherent in intercultural studies.

Jewish Interpretation of the Bible Karin Hedner Zetterholm, 2012. Although Jewish tradition gives tremendous importance to the Hebrew Bible from the beginning, Jewish interpretation of those scriptures has been practiced with remarkable freedom. Karin Hedner Zetterholm offers a clear and concise introduction to the legal, theological and historical presuppositions that shaped the dominant stream of rabbinic interpretation, including Mishnah, Talmud and Midrashim, discussing specific examples of different interpretive methods. She then explores the contours of Jewish biblical interpretation evident in the New Testament and the legacy of ancient traditions in the way different Jewish movements read the Bible today. Students of the history of biblical interpretation and of Judaism will find this an important and engaging resource.
