Racial Situations John Hartigan Jr.,2020-10-06 Racial Situations challenges perspectives on race that rely upon oft repeated claims that race is culturally constructed and hence simply false and distorting John Hartigan asserts instead that we need to explain how race is experienced by people as a daily reality His starting point is the lives of white people in Detroit As a distinct minority whites in this city can rarely assume they are racially unmarked and normative privileges generally associated with whiteness Hartigan conveys their attempts to make sense of how race matters in their lives and in Detroit generally Rather than compiling a generic sampling of white views Hartigan develops an ethnographic account of whites in three distinct neighborhoods an inner city underclass area an adjacent debatably gentrifying community and a working class neighborhood bordering one of the city s wealthy suburbs In tracking how racial tensions develop or become defused in each of these sites Hartigan argues that whites do not articulate their racial identity strictly in relation to a symbolic figure of black Otherness He demonstrates instead that intraracial class distinctions are critical in whites determinations of when and how race matters In each community the author charts a series of names hillbilly gentrifier and racist which whites use to make distinctions among themselves He shows how these terms function in everyday discourses that reflect the racial consciousness of the communities and establish boundaries of status and privilege among whites in these areas

Dropping Anchor, Setting Sail Jacqueline Nassy Brown, 2009-01-10 The port city of Liverpool England is home to one of the oldest Black communities in Britain Its members proudly date their history back at least as far as the nineteenth century with the global wanderings and eventual settlement of colonial African seamen Jacqueline Nassy Brown analyzes how this worldly origin story supports an avowedly local Black politic and identity a theme that becomes a window onto British politics of race place and nation and Liverpool s own contentious origin story as a gloriously cosmopolitan port of world historical import that was nonetheless central to British slave trading and imperialism This ethnography also examines the rise and consequent dilemmas of Black identity It captures the contradictions of diaspora in postcolonial Liverpool where African and Afro Caribbean heritages and transnational linkages with Black America both contribute to and compete with the local as a basis for authentic racial identity Crisscrossing historical periods rhetorical modes and academic genres the book focuses singularly on place enabling its most radical move its analysis of Black racial politics as enactments of English cultural premises The insistent focus on English culture implies a further twist Just as Blacks are racialized through appeals to their assumed Afro Caribbean and African cultures so too has Liverpool an Irish working class city whose expansive port faces the world beyond Britain long been beyond the pale of dominant notions of authentic Englishness Dropping Anchor Setting Sail studies race through clashing constructions of Liverpool

Liquor Store Theatre Maya Stovall, 2020-10-09 For six years Maya Stovall staged Liquor Store Theatre a conceptual art and anthropology video project included in the Whitney Biennial in 2017 in which she danced near the liquor stores in her Detroit neighborhood as a way to start conversations with her neighbors In this book of the same name Stovall uses the project as a point of departure for understanding everyday life in Detroit and the possibilities for ethnographic research art and knowledge creation Her conversations with her neighbors which touch on everything from economics aesthetics and sex to the political and economic racism that undergirds Detroit's history bring to light rarely acknowledged experiences of longtime Detroiters In these exchanges Stovall enacts an innovative form of ethnographic engagement that offers new modes of integrating the social sciences with the arts in ways that exceed what either approach can achieve alone

The Sage Encyclopedia of Mood and Anxiety Disorders Dara G. Friedman-Wheeler, Amy Wenzel, 2024-10-24 Courses in psychological distress and disorders are among the most popular courses in psychology programs and mood and anxiety disorders are among the most prevalent disorders covered in these classes and encountered by mental health professionals Although there are books on mood and anxiety disorders on particular aspects of them and on their presentation in specific populations such works do not provide students new to the field with a comprehensive and accessible ready reference for understanding these disorders with respect to their phenomenology etiology and treatment and through an inclusive lens that consistently considers how these symptoms appear and are construed across cultures addressing societal factors such as race culture equity and oppression It is hoped that The SAGE Encyclopedia of Mood and Anxiety Disorders will fill this gap allowing students and other interested readers to become familiar with past and current approaches and theories and to enhance their understanding of the sociocultural factors that affect how we discuss approach and treat these types of psychological distress As such consideration of sociocultural factors will infuse the three volume set The encyclopedia will consist of approximately 450 entries essays arranged alphabetically within three volumes

Street Therapists Ana Y. Ramos-Zayas, 2022-12-22 Drawing from almost a decade of ethnographic research in largely Brazilian and Puerto Rican neighborhoods in Newark New Jersey Ana Y Ramos Zayas in Street Therapists examines how affect emotion and sentiment serve as waypoints for the navigation of interracial relationships among US born Latinos Latin American migrants blacks and white ethnics Tackling a rarely studied dynamic approach to affect Ramos Zayas offers a thorough and sometimes paradoxical new articulation of race space and neoliberalism in US urban communities After looking at the historical political and economic contexts in which an intensified connection between affect and race has emerged in Newark New Jersey Street Therapists engages in detailed examinations of various community sites including high schools workplaces beauty salons and funeral homes among others and secondary sites in Belo Horizonte Brazil and San Juan to uncover the ways US born Latinos and Latin American migrants interpret and analyze everyday racial encounters through a language of psychology and emotions As Ramos Zayas notes this emotive approach to race resurrects Latin American and Caribbean ideologies of racial democracy in an urban US context and often leads to new psychological stereotypes and forms of social exclusion Extensively researched and thoughtfully argued Street Therapists theorizes the conflictive connection between race affect and urban neoliberalism

Bertho, Beverly Crawford, Edward A. Fogarty, 2008-09-30 Over the past decade a virtual cottage industry has arisen to produce books and articles describing the nature origins and impact of globalization Largely and surprisingly absent from this literature however has been extensive discussion of how globalization is affecting the United States itself Indeed it is rarely even acknowledged that while the United States may be providing a crucial impetus to globalization the process of globalization once set in motion has become a force unto itself Thus globalization has its own logic and demands that are having a profound impact within the United States often in ways that are unanticipated This set offers the first in depth systematic effort at assessing the United States not as a globalizing force but as a nation being transformed by globalization Among the topics studied are globalization in the form of intensified international linkages globalization as a universalizing and or Westernizing force globalization in the form of liberalized flows of trade capital and labor and globalization as a force for the creation of transnational and superterritorial entities and allegiances These volumes examine how each of these facets of globalization affects American government law business economy society and culture Black World/Negro Digest, 1972-11 Founded in 1943 Negro Digest later Black World was the publication that launched Johnson Publishing During the most turbulent years of the civil rights movement Negro Digest Black World served as a critical vehicle for political thought for supporters of the movement It'S Not Always Racist ... but Sometimes It Is Dionne Wright Poulton Ph.D., 2014-04-14 Not all incidents related to race should be considered instances of racism And not all people who make comments about race are racists In Its Not Always Racist but Sometimes It Is author Dionne Wright Poulton PhD argues that society misuses these terms racism and racist and that this misuse of language damages society She advocates engaging in ongoing open and honest dialogue Through this discussion Dr Poulton shows why the United States continues to have problems with race She teaches specific tools and language to help you critically analyze situations that happen in your everyday life and in society affording you the opportunity to insightfully break down each situation into its simplest form and to make sense of it Its Not Always Racist but Sometimes It Is offers solutions and practical advice on how to repair the damage done through racism and prevent further harm It creates a space for genuine dialogue on race racism and racial bias
