Suman Fernando,2014-10-14 As psychiatry has developed it has proved to be susceptible to the influence of contemporary social and political mores With its origins in nineteenth century Europe psychiatry evolved as an ethnocentric body of knowledge the vehicle of implicit and overt racism Originally published in 1988 this author however saw no reason why the contemporary psychiatrist should not challenge this ethnocentrism He provides a critical account of the development of psychiatry in relation to its cultural context and then examined contemporary practice of the time in the light of this development Throughout the book is informed by an awareness of issues of race and culture and of their difficult interactions the author emphasising both the frequency of racist attitudes and the very real cultural distinctions in our society distinctions that can be used to mask what are actually racist sentiments What emerges is not just a plea for an anti racist culture sensitive psychiatry but a blueprint for how this can be brought about He argued that the shift towards community work and social psychiatry could reorientate the profession by confronting it with its social setting and responsibilities This book represented a significant contribution to this literature for all mental health professionals and social scientists with an interest in this field at the time the author has gone on to write many more

Integrative Antiracism Edith P. Samuel,2005-01-01 From both a theoretical and practical standpoint racism is one of the most important topics that has engaged the attention of social scientists in North America in recent years As societies become more ethnically diverse people from different cultures are increasingly coming into contact with each other resulting in ever greater opportunities for racism to manifest itself In this work Edith Samuel examines the educational experiences of South Asian students and faculty members from the perspective of integrative antiracism the study of how the dynamics of social difference are mediated in people's daily lives Specifically she analyses perceptions of and responses to racism in four critical areas faculty student relationships peer group interactions curriculum and the psychosocial dimension Antiracism scholars maintain that racism is widespread on Canadian university campuses Drawing on the available literature and extensive interviews with students and faculty Samuel looks at both overt and covert forms of racism as well as structural racism that results in discrimination in admissions and employment She also looks at race class gender history and culture and how these interlocking systems produce unique experiences of racism for South Asians in academe Through the exploration of the intricate patterns of South Asians assimilation into university life Integrative Antiracism identifies the numerous barriers racial minorities encounter and suggests a variety of approaches to fostering a more equitable education system

Feagin, Kimberley Ducey, 2025-07-04 The fifth edition of Racist America is thoroughly revised and updated focusing on systemic racism and antiracism issues especially those arising since the fourth edition 2019 Expanding the discussion on racialized intersectionality as well as on the white racial frame elite white male dominance system and antiracist action this book details how these racism realities continue to impact black Latino Asian Indigenous and white Americans The book explains how and why the Black Lives Matter movement and other antiracist protests have erupted how and why Latino Asian and Indigenous Americans have responded to expanding racist discrimination and how and why a diverse array of Americans has demanded major societal responses to dismantle entrenched white racism Religion and the Racist Right Michael Barkun, 2014-02-01 According to Michael Barkun many white supremacist groups of the radical right are deeply committed to the distinctive but little recognized religious position known as Christian Identity In Religion and the Racist Right 1994 Barkun provided the first sustained exploration of the ideological and organizational development of the Christian Identity movement In a new chapter written for the revised edition he traces the role of Christian Identity figures in the dramatic events of the first half of the 1990s from the Oklahoma City bombing and the rise of the militia movement to the Freemen standoff in Montana He also explores the government's evolving response to these challenges to the legitimacy of the state Michael Barkun is professor of political science in the Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs at Syracuse University He is author of several books including Crucible of the Millennium The Burned over District of New York in the 1840s Postcolonial Thought in the French Speaking World Charles Forsdick, David Murphy, 2022-04-01 In the late 1990s Postcolonial Studies risked imploding as a credible area of academic enquiry Repeated anthologization and an overemphasis on the English language literatures led to sustained critiques of the field and to an active search for alternative approaches to the globalized and transnational formations of the post colonial world In the early twenty first century however postcolonial began to reveal a new openness to its comparative dimensions French language contributors to postcolonial debate such as Edouard Glissant and Abdelkebir Khatibi have recently risen to greater prominence in the English speaking world and there have also appeared an increasing number of important critical and theoretical texts on postcolonial issues written by scholars working principally on French language material It is to such a context that this book responds Acknowledging these shifts this volume provides an essential tool for students and scholars outside French departments seeking a way into the study of Francophone colonial postcolonial debates At the same time it supplies scholars in French with a comprehensive overview of essential ideas and key intellectuals in this area
