Understanding Racial Prejudice and Ethnic Bias through a Social Psychological Lens Christoph Rosenthal, 2015-06-08 Essay from the year 2013 in the subject Psychology Social Psychology grade Distinction London School of Economics language English abstract On February 26 2012 neighbourhood watch volunteer G Zimmerman from Sanford FL fatally shot unarmed Trayvon Martin a 17 year old black teenager The eventual acquittal of Zimmerman sparked fundamental debates about racial profiling and civil rights polarizing nations and different interest groups in an argument about the possibility of a racialized shooter bias A similar case in the US from 2001 revolved around the killing of West African immigrant Amadiou Diallo who had been shot 41 times by police after reaching for an object which turned out to be his wallet instead of a gun Whereas prosecutors and spectators in favour of the victims claimed racism to be the root of such tragedies the opposing camp argued that prosecuting the shooters would have been a travesty absurdly and falsely representing self defence Though most common in judicial situations such as the shootings of Trayvon and Amadiou racial profiling can be defined as encompassing any form of discrimination based on stereotypes ethnic bias or prejudice about race and skin colour Racial bias manifests in negative repercussions for black individuals in a variety of ways for example in education recruiting and the workplace health care court room decisions and the promulgation of the death penalty Omnipresent and deeply entrenched in historical ideological and socio political contexts racial prejudice ethnic bias and socially created stigma of belonging to an ethnic minority comprise social phenomena whose thematisation and understanding are of paramount importance After providing a comprehensively integrated and analytical discussion of social representations theory attitudes research and social identity in terms of race and prejudice I will draw on a 45 minute open personal interview with a 22 year old American woman of Nigerian background to analyse some real life experiences that exemplify the still occurring empiric manifestations of racism and prejudice Arguing that these phenomena are fundamentally social this essay achieves to tackle the societally relevant challenge of forging a better understanding of racial prejudice and ethnic bias towards black minorities by employing a Community Forum on Race Relations in Grand Rapids United States Commission on Civil Rights. Michigan State Advisory Committee,1998 The Color of Words Philip Herbst,1997 The 851 terms defined include slurs used to disparage nearly every ethnic group in U S society ethnic euphemisms and code words and vogue or disputed terms heard in ongoing multicultural debates In addition to providing known etymology and usage entries explore how meaning varies by social context or circumstance and how it has changed over time Many include brief quotations from recent writings Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR

Duckworth,Akihiko Masuda,William O'Donohue,2020-05-11 This book addresses the ways in which clinical psychologists ought to conceptualize and respond to the prejudice and oppression that their clients experience Thus the link between prejudice and oppression to psychopathology is explored Basic scientific information about prejudice is reviewed and the current status of the major minority groups is explored Chapters examine the role of prejudice and oppression in institutional structures such as the Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders and professional organizations The discussion addresses ways to assess these phenomena in individual cases and how to intervene in psychotherapy The book ventures to evaluate the status of the profession of psychology with respect to prejudice stigmatization and oppression by critically examining evidence that the profession has responded adequately to these social problems These issues are hard to talk about and are not well talked about in the field This book is a push in the right direction A Feminist Perspective on Human Trafficking of Women and Girls Nancy M. Sidun,Deborah L. Hume,2019-05-16 Focusing on the trafficking of women and girls from a feminist perspective this book examines how social structures and gender influence human trafficking While women and girls are not the only victims of trafficking they tend to be disproportionately represented Structural inequities including poverty gender based violence racism class and caste based discrimination and other forms of oppression and marginalization place some individuals at substantially greater risk to be trafficked The contributors explore topics including trauma informed assessment of and therapy with survivors of human trafficking issues facing children of trafficked women when they are reintegrated into their communities post trafficking the intersection of trafficking with racial and cultural oppression critical aspects of international sex trafficking and commercial sexual exploitation of children The book concludes with a discussion of how human trafficking intersects with both intracountry adoption and brokered marriages This book was originally published as a special issue of Women Therapy The Gender, Race, and Ethnic Bias Task Force Project in the D.C. Circuit United States. Court of Appeals (District of Columbia Circuit). Task Force of the District of Columbia Circuit on Gender, Race, and Ethnic Bias,1995 Racism and Psychiatry Morgan M. Medlock,Derri Shtasel,Nhi-Ha T. Trinh,David R. Williams,2018-10-04 This book addresses the unique sociocultural and historical systems of oppression that have alienated African American and other racial minority patients within the mental healthcare system This text aims to build a novel didactic curriculum addressing racism justice and community mental health as these issues intersect clinical practice Unlike any other resource this guide moves beyond an exploration of the problem of racism and its detrimental effects to a practical solution oriented discussion of how to understand and approach the mental health consequences with a lens and sensitivity for contemporary justice issues After establishing the historical context of racism within organized medicine and psychiatry the text boldly examines contemporary issues including clinical biases in diagnosis and treatment addiction and incarceration and perspectives on providing psychotherapy to racial minorities The text concludes with chapters covering training and medical education within this sphere approaches to supporting patients coping with racism and discrimination and strategies for changing institutional practices in mental healthcare Written by thought leaders in the field Racism and Psychiatry is the only current tool for psychiatrists psychologists administrators educators medical students social workers and all clinicians working to treat patients dealing with issues of racism at the point of mental healthcare

Health Disparities in the United States Donald A. Barr, 2019-08-20 Challenging students to think critically about the complex web of social forces that leads to health disparities in the United States The health care system in the United States has been called the best in the world Yet wide disparities persist between social groups and many Americans suffer from poorer health than people in other developed countries In this revised edition of Health Disparities in the United States Donald A Barr provides extensive new data about the ways low socioeconomic status race and ethnicity interact to create and perpetuate these health disparities Examining the significance of this gulf for the medical community and society at large Barr offers potential policy and physician based solutions for reducing health inequity in the long term This thoroughly updated edition focuses on a new challenge the United States last experienced more than half a century ago successive years of declining life expectancy Barr addresses the causes of this decline including what are commonly referred to as deaths of despair from opiate overdose or suicide Exploring the growing role geography plays in health disparities Barr asks why people living in rural areas suffer the greatest increases in these deaths He also analyzes recent changes under the Affordable Care Act and considers the literature on how race and ethnicity affect the way health care providers evaluate and treat patients As both a physician and a sociologist Barr is uniquely positioned to offer rigorous medical explanations alongside sociological analysis An essential text for courses in public health health policy and sociology this compelling book is a vital teaching tool and a comprehensive reference for social science and medical professionals
