This book itself is a gift of love. It soothes and speaks to my deepest self. It unravels the confusion within me and makes my own soul clear to myself.

Mary Corah
Portland, Oregon

Love's Prism sheds light on the meaning and mutuality of love. For love is the essential task of human beings, and the most difficult, confusion, and ambivalent. The author presents these complexities through the specific love of one woman for herself, other women, men, and her unborn children, as well as the secret other side of love, the soul's yearning to be loved.

When one places oneself before this life-giving, life-defining crystal and regards it in openness and humility, delusion can find its truth, despair its hope, and ambivalence its breakthrough. Love's Prism will enhance the spiritual growth of its readers.

Dr. Alla Renee Bozarth holds degrees in performing arts from Northwestern University and a certificate in Gestalt psychotherapy from the Gestalt Training Center of San Diego. She is also among the first eleven women ordained Episcopal priests in 1974, in Philadelphia. At present as priest and psychotherapist she practices "spiritual mid-wifery" - guiding others to find spiritual and emotional health - at Wisdom House in Sandy, Oregon.
