School Choice and Student Well-Being A. Kelly, 2007-08-16 This review of research in school choice adapts Sen's theory of Capability developing a more complex theoretical framework for understanding education markets This gives those most affected by the perceived failure of public education a better explication of the tension between the rhetoric of public good and the reality of everyday disadvantage

Living Longer Peter Lloyd-Sherlock, 2013-07-18 Accelerated population ageing long a significant issue for developed countries is now becoming important in the developing world too Population ageing is one of the great achievements of the past century although it brings its own social economic political and cultural challenges The quality of life of older people is strongly conditioned by their capacity to manage opportunities and risks Social protection both formal and informal can be critical This book examines the links between well being and development drawing on examples from low middle and high income countries It examines ageing in a number of very different development contexts Argentina Brazil China Ghana Japan Mexico Thailand Ukraine UK and USA It highlights the complexity of relationships between development and the way later life is experienced identifies key priorities for policy makers and maps out an urgent research agenda

Eliminating Human Poverty Santosh Mehrotra, Enrique Delamonica, 2013-07-04 This book focuses on the provision of basic social services in particular access to education health and water supplies as the central building blocks of any human development strategy The authors concentrate on how these basic social services can be financed and delivered more effectively to achieve the internationally agreed Millennium Development Goals Their analysis which departs from the dominant macro economic paradigm deploys the results of broad ranging research they led at UNICEF and UNDP investigating the record on basic social services of some 30 developing countries In seeking to learn from these new data they develop an analytical argument around two potential synergies at the macro level between poverty reduction human development and economic growth and at the micro level between interventions to provide basic social services Policymakers they argue can integrate macro economic and social policy Fiscal monetary and other macro economic policies can be compatible with social sector requirements They make the case that policymakers have more flexibility than is usually presented by orthodox writers and international financial institutions and that if policymakers engaged in alternative macro economic and growth oriented policies this could lead to the expansion of human capabilities and the fulfillment of human rights This book explores some of these policy options The book also argues that more than just additional aid is needed Specific strategic shifts in the areas of aid policy decentralized governance health and education policy and the private public mix in service provision are a prerequisite to achieve the goals of human development The combination of governance reforms and fiscal and macro economic policies outlined in this book can eliminate human poverty in the span of a generation accessible reference material on current practice and research The 42 contributors come from a diverse range of backgrounds and enjoy international reputations in their chosen fields The Handbook is organised in two parts one dealing with policy issues and the other with implementation and management issues The first part on policy covers a wide range of economic social and environmental topics The second part explores the political context of implementation and development practice and goes on to cover a range of issues relating to management in the public and non state sectors and the management of development projects Each individual chapter provides background information on theory and practice describes the current state of play examines prospects for the future and includes an annotated guide to further reading This extensive handbook will become an essential reference on international development policy and management Although primarily designed for postgraduate students and scholars of development studies it will also be welcomed by development practitioners NGOs and aid agencies

The Politics of Healthcare Reform in Turkey Volkan Yilmaz, 2017-06-21 This book explores the transformation in the healthcare system in Turkey since 2003 which has been portrayed as a benchmark for building universal healthcare systems in emerging market economies Focussing on healthcare politics in an under researched developing country context it fills a significant lacuna in existing scholarship This study answers these questions What were the political dynamics that enabled the introduction of healthcare reform in Turkey What political conflicts did the reform generate How and to whose benefit have these conflicts been resolved Drawing on qualitative interviews with a diverse set of actors Y lmaz explores the actors subjective interpretations of the reform the discourses and strategies they used to influence the reform and the changing healthcare politics scene He demonstrates that the reform has been a complex political process within which actors negotiated whether and to what extent healthcare remains a citizenship right or a commodity This book will appeal to students and scholars of social policy politics health policy public health and sociology

The International Handbook of Educational Research in the Asia-Pacific Region J.P. Keeves, Ryo Watanabe, 2013-11-11 The aim of the Handbook is to present readily accessible but scholarly sources of information about educational research in the Asia Pacific region The scale and scope of the Handbook is such that the articles included in it provide substantive contributions to knowledge and understanding of education in the Asia region In so doing the articles present the problems and issues facing education in the region and the findings of research conducted within the region that contribute to the resolution of these problems and issues Moreover since new problems and issues are constantly arising the articles in the Handbook also indicate the likely directions of future developments The different articles within the Handbook seek to conceptualize the problems in each specific content area under review provide an integration of the research conducted within that area the theoretical basis of the research the practical implications of the research and the contribution of the research towards the resolution of the problems identified Thus the articles do not involve the reporting of newly conducted research but rather require a synthesis of the research undertaken in a particular area with reference to the research methods employed and the theoretical frameworks on which the research is based In general the articles do not advocate a single point of view but rather present alternative points of view and comment on the debate and disagreements associated with the conduct and findings of the research Furthermore it should be noted that the Handbook is not concerned with research methodology and only considers the methods employed in inquiry in so far as the particular methods of research contribute to the effective investigation of problems and issues that have arisen in the conduct and provision of education at different levels within the region

Gender Justice, Development, and Rights Maxine Molyneux, Shahra Razavi, 2002-11-07

Recent years have seen a shift in the international development agenda in the direction of a greater emphasis on rights and democracy While this has brought many positive changes in women's rights and political representation in much of the world these advances were not matched by increases in social justice Rising income inequalities coupled with widespread poverty in many countries have been accompanied by record levels of crime and violence Meanwhile the global shift in the consensus over the role of the state in welfare provision has in many contexts entailed the down sizing of public services and the re allocation of service delivery to commercial interests charitable groups NGOs and households

Gender Justice Development and Rights reflects on this ambivalent record and on the significance accorded in international development policy to rights and democracy in the post Cold War era Key items on the contemporary policy agenda neo liberal economic and social policies democracy and multiculturalism are addressed here by leading scholars and regional specialists through theoretical reflections and detailed case studies Together they constitute a collection which casts contemporary liberalism in a distinctive light by applying a gender perspective to the analysis of political and policy processes Case studies from Latin America sub Saharan Africa Middle East East Central Europe South and South east Asia contribute a cross cultural dimension to the analysis of contemporary liberalism the dominant value system in the modern world and how it exists and is resisted in developing and post transition societies

Reforming Education and Challenging Inequalities in Southern Contexts Pauline Rose, Madeleine Arnot, Roger Jeffery, Nidhi Singal, 2021-03-24

This book offers in depth analyses of how education interacts with social inequality in Southern contexts Drawing on a range of disciplinary frameworks it presents new analyses of existing knowledge and new empirical data which define the challenges and possibilities of successful educational reform It is a tribute to the work of the late Christopher Colclough who as a leading figure in education and international development played a key role in the global fight for education for all children The book critically engages with international evidence of educational access retention and outcomes offering new understandings of how social inequalities currently facilitate mediate or restrict educational opportunities It exposes the continuing influence of wealth and regional inequalities and caste and gendered social structures Researchers in Ethiopia Ghana India Pakistan and Uganda highlight how the aspirations of families living in poverty remain unfilled by poor quality education and low economic opportunities and how schools and teachers currently address issues of gender disability and diversity The book highlights a range of new priorities for research and identifies some necessary strategies for education reform policy approaches and school practice if educational equality for all children is to be achieved The book will be of great interest to researchers scholars educational practitioners and policy makers in the fields of economics politics and sociology of education international education poverty research and international development The Foreword Chapters 1 6 7 and 12 of this book are freely available as downloadable Open Access PDFs at <https://www.taylorfrancis.com/books/e/9780429293467> under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license Foreword Chapters 1 6 and 12 and a Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 license Chapter 7

Revival: Achieving Schooling for All in Africa (2003) Christopher Colclough, Samer Al-Samarrai, Mercy Tembon, 2017-09-29 This title was first published in 2003 Sub Saharan Africa has the lowest primary enrolments of any major region in the developing world and the number of children out of school is increasing at a faster rate here than anywhere else in the developing world This timely study in line with the Millennium Development Goals examines the methods adopted by the international community to tackle the chronic problems of schooling and poverty in developing countries Incorporating the results of research conducted at both macro and micro levels using a range of methodologies it examines the national differences in school enrolments using a regional and international comparative framework Utilizing both cross section and household survey data the book examines the causes of under enrolment in a micro context based on results from a major international research programme on gender and primary schooling in Africa The challenges for international aid to provide resources and help secure reforms in support of the international development goals in education are also outlined This book will appeal to researchers and teachers on African development officials in international agencies working on education and development and Government officials in African education

Critically Assessing the Reputation of Waldorf Education in Academia and the Public: Recent Developments the World Over, 1987-2004 Ann-Kathrin Hoffmann, Marc Fabian Buck, 2024-05-01 The second of two volumes dedicated to this little explored topic continues to gather international perspectives to critically assess how Waldorf education has been perceived and discussed in both public and academic arenas Both books thereby challenge the historic concept of Waldorf education as an international movement championing progressive education Spanning the period 1987 2004 this second volume focuses on more recent developments in Waldorf education in Japan Israel Spain Poland Kenya France Slovenia and China Throughout both books over 25 leading scholars present 16 case studies spanning 14 countries to discuss the history and perception of Waldorf education in the context of respective school systems and societies By exploring the ramifications of these case studies against the background of existing research the books offer cutting edge perspectives and prompts for scholarly debates for this as yet underresearched field This book will be of interest to researchers scholars and postgraduate students in international and comparative education the theory of education and the philosophy of education Policy makers interested in the history of education as well as practicing teachers and school staff at Waldorf education institutions may also benefit from the volume

Poverty and Inequality in Middle Income Countries Einar Braathen, Julian May, Marianne Ulriksen, Gemma C. Wright, 2016-04-15 This collection offers a timely reassessment of viable ways of addressing poverty across the globe today The profile of global poverty has changed dramatically over the past decade and around three quarters of the poor now live in middle income countries making inequality a major issue This requires us to fundamentally rethink anti poverty strategies and policies as many aspects of the established framework for poverty reduction are no longer effective Featuring contributions from Latin America Africa and Asia this much needed collection answers some of the key questions arising as development policy confronts the challenges of poverty and inequality on the global national and local scale in both urban and rural contexts Providing poverty researchers and practitioners with valuable new tools to address new forms of poverty in the right way Poverty and Inequality in Middle Income Countries shows how a radical switch from aid to redistribution based social policies is needed to combat new forms of global poverty

Really Good Schools James Tooley, 2021-04-12 Almost overnight a virus has brought into question America's nearly 200 year old government run K 12 school system and prompted an urgent search for alternatives But where should we turn to find them Enter James Tooley's Really Good Schools A distinguished scholar of education and the world's foremost expert on private low cost innovative education Tooley takes readers to some of the world's most impoverished communities located in some of the world's most dangerous places including India and such war torn countries as Sierra Leone Liberia and South Sudan There in places where education experts fear to tread Tooley finds thriving private schools that government multinational NGOs and even international charity officials deny exist Why Because the very existence of low cost high quality private schools shatters the prevailing myth in the U S U K and western Europe that absent government affordable high quality schools for the poor could not exist But they do And they are ubiquitous and in high demand Founded by unheralded local educational entrepreneurs these schools are proving that self organized education is not just possible but flourishing often enrolling far more students than free government schools do at prices

within reach of even the most impoverished families In the course of his analysis Tooley asks the key questions What proportion of poor children is served How good are the private schools What are the business models for these schools And can they be replicated and improved The evidence is in In poor urban and rural areas around the world children in low cost private schools outperform those in government schools And the schools do so for a fraction of the per pupil cost Ubiquity affordability quality value for money equity choice and sustainability these are the seven categories by which schooling should be judged according to Tooley In every instance one is forced to conclude that low cost non governmental entrepreneurial education as practiced by the poor around the globe contains the key to their rise to prosperity and leadership positions within their own respective cultures Alarmed by recent government barriers in education Americans can now find hope in the triumph in the face of acute adversity of these remarkable schools Because of the pandemic parents in America and Europe are discovering that the education of their children is indeed possible and likely far better without government meddling with rigid seat time mandates outdated school calendars absurd age driven grade levels and worse testing regimes And having experienced the first fruits of educational freedom parents will be increasingly open to the possibilities of ever greater educational entrepreneurship and innovation Thankfully they have Really Good Schools to show the way
