Quartering Ruth Havelaar, 1988 Australian National Bibliography: 1992 National Library of Australia, 1988 State Terrorism and Political Identity in Indonesia Ariel Heryanto, 2006-04-07 Approximately one million innocent Indonesians were killed by their fellow nationals neighbours and kin at the height of an anti communist campaign in the mid 1960s This book investigates the profound political consequences of these mass killings in Indonesia upon public life highlighting the historical specificities of the violence and comparable incidents of identity politics in more recent times Mixing theory with empirically based analysis the book examines how the spectre of communism and the trauma experienced in the latter half of the 1960s remain critical in understanding the dynamics of terror coercion and consent today Heryanto challenges the general belief that the periodic anti communist witch hunts of recent Indonesian history are largely a political tool used by a powerful military elite and authoritarian government Despite the profound importance of the 1965 6 events it remains one of most difficult and sensitive topics for public discussion in Indonesia today State Terrorism and Political Identity in Indonesia is one of the first books to fully discuss the mass killings shedding new light on a largely unspoken and unknown part of Indonesia s history The Press in New Order Indonesia David T. Hill, 2006-12 The Press in New Order Indonesia is the most comprehensive book available in English on the print media during the Suharto presidency Based on detailed and investigative research it provides a succinct introduction to the political and economic forces shaping this dominant sector of the Indonesian media at a pivotal time in its development The study documents the history of the press prior to the rise of President Suharto surveys the changing New Order policies to the media and analyses the various modes of control exercised through powerful government agencies and industry bodies Throughout this critical historical period of political tension and economic transition The Press in New Order Indonesia traces the development of huge media conglomerates which began to rival military muscle in shaping the media landscape of Indonesia This study explains how the student press spilled off the campuses to play a unique political role By contrast a distinctly Islamic press achieved only very modest success Focusing on Indonesian language national daily newspapers it also discusses news weeklies periodicals and magazines as well as publications in regional languages English and Chinese Brought back to life in Equinox Publishing s Classic Indonesia series The Press in New Order Indonesia is required reading for students of Indonesian languages and cultures Asian studies Southeast Asian studies media studies journalism and contemporary politics David T Hill is Professor of Southeast Asian Studies and Fellow of the Asia Research Centre Murdoch University Perth Western Australia Quartering Ruth Havelaar, 1991 ISSN 0727 6680 Autobiographical account of life under Indonesia s dictator Unmarked Graves Vanessa Hearman, 2018-08-15 The anti communist violence that swept across Indonesia in 1965 66 produced a particularly high death toll in East Java It also transformed the lives of hundreds of thousands of survivors who faced decades of persecution imprisonment and violence In this book Vannessa Hearman examines the human cost and community impact of the violence on people from different sides of the political divide Her major contribution is an examination of the experiences of people on the political Left Drawing on interviews archival records and government and military reports she traces the lives of a number of individuals following their efforts to build a base for resistance in the South Blitar area of East Java and their subsequent journeys into prisons and detention centres or into hiding and a shadowy underground existence She also provides a new understanding of relations between the army and its civilian supporters many of whom belonged to Indonesia's largest Islamic organisation Nahdlatul Ulama In recent times the Indonesian killings have received increased attention but researchers have struggled to overcome a dearth of available records and the stigma associated with communist party membership By studying events in a single province and focusing on the experiences of individuals Hearman has taken a large step toward a better understanding of a fraught period in Indonesia's recent past Activist Archives Doreen Lee, 2016-04-28 In Activist Archives Doreen Lee tells the origins experiences and legacy of the radical Indonesian student movement that helped end the thirty two year dictatorship in May 1998 Lee situates the revolt as the most recent manifestation of student activists claiming a political and historical inheritance passed down by earlier generations of politicized youth Combining historical and ethnographic analysis of Generation 98 Lee offers rich depictions of the generational structures nationalist sentiments and organizational and private spaces that bound these activists together She examines the ways the movement shaped new and youthful ways of looking seeing and being found in archival documents from the 1980s and 1990s the connections between politics and place narratives of state violence activists experimental lifestyles and the uneven development of democratic politics on and off the street Lee illuminates how the interaction between official history collective memory and performance came to define youth citizenship and resistance in Indonesia's transition to the post Suharto present Irian Jaya, 30 Years of Indonesian Control Susan J. Browne, Steven Drakeley, 1998 The question central to this paper is why after 30 years of Indonesian control has West Papuan nationalism persisted and what prospects do nationalist groups have of achieving their aim of an independent West Papua This paper contends that the answer to these questions are to be found in Indonesian politico economic policies Representations of Indonesia in Australia Natalie Helen Mobini-Kesheh, 1998 The Indonesian Killings of 1965-1966 R.
