East African Ecosystems and Their Conservation T. R. McClanahan, T. P. Young, 1996 East Africa is one of the most diverse and interesting tropical area on the planet It is home not only to the last great megafaunal assemblage but also to human populations with the highest growth rates This book draws on the expertise of leading ecologists each intimately familiar with a particular set of East African ecosystems to provide the first in depth and integrated account of the ecology management threats and conservation of these diverse ecosystems Summarizing the tremendous wealth of scientific research that has come out of East Africa in the last few decades each chapter analyses a given ecosystem type taking the reader through the basics of its ecology its historical use and misuse by humans and its prospects for conservation Throughout the book linkages and similarities among ecosystems are emphasized the historical and contemporary role of humans in shaping these ecosystems is considered fundamental principles of ecology are considered and interesting case studies are highlighted Students and researchers in ecology conservation biology and environmental sciences will find this book useful in their work

Remote Sensing of African Mountains Samuel Adelabu, Abel Ramoelo, Adeyemi Olusola, Efosa Adagbasa, 2022-08-30 This edited volume focuses on the use of remote sensing techniques to assess and monitor mountainous ecosystems in Africa with a focus on tracking changes related to climate change and human activity The book is timely as the interaction of mountain environmental dynamics with conservation and sustainability is an under researched issue The chapters in this volume use remotely sensed data to study a variety of topics related to mountains and their ecosystems including but not limited to vegetation energy systems environmental hazards ecosystem services diseases climatic shifts geological formations and geomorphological dynamics The ability to monitor assess and analyze mountainous regions is aided by the availability of remote sensing products such as optical and microwave sensors and low cost unmanned aerial vehicles UAVs The works presented here push the frontier of knowledge on mountain studies and will help shape local national and global assessments and policies including efforts toward the achievement of the African Agenda 2063 The book will be of interest to researchers and students in remote sensing geography ecology and sustainability as well as to government organizations and conservation specialists

Glaciers, Nature, Water, and Local Community in Mount Kenya Kazuharu Mizuno, Yuya Otani, 2022-03-18 This book describes the challenges for the natural environments and local communities in the future Among the high mountains of Africa only

Kilimanjaro Mount Kenya and the Rwenzori Mountains are still capped with glaciers The retreating rate of these glaciers has accelerated and they are expected to disappear in the near future In the area around Mount Kenya the precipitation is generally low such that rainfall cannot stably supply water for farmlands and daily life It has been revealed that the glacial meltwater has produced springs at the foot of the mountain It is therefore important to characterize the condition of water sources near Mount Kenya for use by local people This book discusses the relationships between the actual state of the climate and glacier shrinkage around Mount Kenya the surrounding vegetation soil and water environments and the lives of the foothill region inhabitants confronting the glacier shrinkage This book is valuable in the contemporary age when the assurance of a sustainable relationship between nature and mankind is critical

Landscapes and Landforms of Ethiopia Paolo Billi, 2015-03-23 This book provides a succinct but comprehensive presentation of key geomorphological locations and topics including information about geomorphological heritage and maps to visit the most important sites Apart from often being remarkably scenic landscapes reveal stories that often can be traced back in time tens of million years and include unique events This is particularly true for Ethiopia where spectacular examples of different landforms are present Its geomorphology varies from highlands marked by high volcanoes and incised by deep river gorges to the rift valley lakes endorheic systems and the below sea level lowlands with characteristic landscapes which are unique in the world Landscapes and Landforms of Ethiopia highlights all these topics including essential information about geology and tectonic framework past and present climate hydrology geographical regions and long term geomorphological history It is a highly informative book providing insight for readers with an interest in geography and geomorphology

Past Climate Variability through Europe and Africa Richard W. Battarbee, Françoise Gasse, Catherine E. Stickley, 2007-11-06 This book provides a major synthesis of evidence for past climate variability at the regional and continental scale across Europe and Africa It focuses on two complementary time scales the Holocene approximately the last 11 500 years and the last glacial interglacial cycle approximately the last 130 000 years An overview of the climate system of the past has never been attempted before on this scale and as such the volume represents a benchmark for future research It is written by an expert group of climate change scientists and presents an insight into past climate variability that challenges climatologists who seek to explain climate dynamics of the past and provides climate modellers with a work of reference for data model comparison The book is an advanced but very readable text essential for all students and scientists interested in global environmental change

Zoogeography of Arachnida Petar Beron, 2018-07-27 This volume merges all geographical and paleogeographical data on all groups of the arachnofauna The book features topics such as the ecological factors climate and other barriers that influence the distribution of arachnida It also elaborates on the characteristics of the distribution such as arachnida at high altitude e g Himalaya in caves in polar regions and highlights differences between the arachnofauna of e.g. Mediterranean regions vs Central Europe West African vs Indomalayan and more. Furthermore amongst other topics the volume also includes chapters on the systems of arachnida fossil orders dispersal and dispersion endemics and relicts regional arachnogeography cave and high altitude arachnida

African Palaeoenvironments and Geomorphic Landscape Evolution Jörgen Runge, 2010-11-01 This 30th jubilee volume 2010 of Palaeoecology of Africa looks back and reflects the state of the art of what is actually known on former African climates and ecosystems in the format of review articles authored by specialists in the field. Mountain Environments Romola Parish, 2014-06-03 This book breaks the ground in Geographical texts by transcending a strictly regional or topical focus. It presents the opportunities and constraints that mountains and their resources offer to local and global populations, the impacts of environmental and economic change, development and globalisation on mountain environments. Part of the Ecogeography series edited by Richard Hugget

Glacier Fluctuations and Climatic Change Johannes Oerlemans, 2013-06-29 Proceedings of the Symposium on Glacier Fluctuations and Climatic Change held in Amsterdam June 1-5 1987

The Formation and Evolution of Africa Douwe J. J. van Hinsbergen, 2011 The African continent preserves a long geological record that covers almost 75% of Earth's history. The Pan African orogeny c. 600-500 Ma brought together old continental kernels West Africa Congo Kalahari and Tanzania to form Gondwana and subsequently the supercontinent Pangaea by the late Palaeozoic. The break up of Pangaea since the Jurassic and Cretaceous primarily through opening of the Central Atlantic Indian and South Atlantic oceans in combination with the complicated subduction history to the north gradually shaped the African continent. This volume contains 18 contributions that discuss the geology of Africa from the Archaean to the present day

Tropical Glaciers Georg Kaser, Henry Osmaston, 2002 Glaciers in the tropics and their environmental consequences

Plant Ecology of Indian Himalaya Rajendra Mohan Panda, 2022-09-28 This book discusses plant invasions and environmental impacts on the Himalayas through a novel procedure and helps to understand the influences of climate physiography soil and disturbance on plant richness in mountain systems. Assessing invasion risks to mountain space under future climate change scenarios is highly significant for appropriate preparedness and this book details analytical and modeling techniques to assess the conditions of mountain ecosystem and ecology to better inform our preparation for future environmental challenges. The book presents the state of the art understanding of the species environment relationships in a global biodiversity hotspot relatively unexplored areas for the Himalayan life form richness. The book provides not only the academic but also the professional community and policymakers a review and update on modeling applications for determining interactions of the plant species with the environment of a subtropical mountain ecosystem across a climatic gradient. Currently there is no book in the market addressing the implementation and applications of modeling in the Himalayan plant and environment continuum and most of the existing books cover the species richness pattern along the elevation gradient and basic ethnobotanical features of a mountain system Since the book covers the applications of novel methods and modeling for ecological analysis of mountain ecosystems it will also be significant for the professional market Therefore the book aims to fill the gap between scientists and professionals in the use of modeling strategies to monitor biodiversity in mountain systems for the formulation of conservation adaptation and mitigation principles Eocene and Oligocene Paleosols of Central Oregon Greg John Retallack, Erick A. Haritashya, 2011-06-29 The earth's cryosphere which includes snow glaciers ice caps ice sheets ice shelves sea ice river and lake ice and permafrost contains about 75% of the earth's fresh water It exists at almost all latitudes from the tropics to the poles and plays a vital role in controlling the global climate system It also provides direct visible evidence of the effect of climate change and therefore requires proper understanding of its complex dynamics This encyclopedia mainly focuses on the various aspects of snow ice and glaciers but also covers other cryospheric branches and provides up to date information and basic concepts on relevant topics It includes alphabetically arranged and professionally written comprehensive and authoritative academic articles by well known international experts in individual fields The encyclopedia contains a broad spectrum of topics ranging from the atmospheric processes responsible for snow formation transformation of snow to ice and changes in their properties classification of ice and glaciers and their worldwide distribution glaciation and ice ages glacier dynamics glacier surface and subsurface characteristics geomorphic processes and landscape formation hydrology and sedimentary systems permafrost degradation hazards caused by cryospheric changes and trends of glacier retreat on the global scale along with the impact of climate change This book can serve as a source of reference at the undergraduate and graduate level and help to better understand snow ice and glaciers It will also be an indispensable tool containing specialized literature for geologists geographers climatologists hydrologists and water resources engineers as well as for those who are engaged in the practice of agricultural and civil engineering earth sciences environmental sciences and engineering ecosystem management and other relevant subjects Tropical Geomorphology Avijit Gupta, 2011-08-04 Although similar geomorphic processes take place in other regions in the tropics these processes operate at different rates and with varying intensities Tropical geomorphology therefore provides many new discoveries regarding geomorphic processes This textbook describes both the humid and arid tropics It provides thoroughly up to date concepts and relevant case studies and emphasises the importance of geomorphology in the management and sustainable development of the tropical environment including climate change scenarios The text is supported by a large number of illustrations including satellite images Student exercises accompany each chapter Tropical Geomorphology is an ideal textbook for any course on tropical geomorphology or the tropical environment and is also invaluable as a reference text for researchers and environmental managers in the tropics

Mountain Research and Development, 1999 Ice Ages, Climate Dynamics and Biotic Events: The Late Pennsylvanian

World S.G. Lucas, W.A. DiMichele, S. Opluštil, X. Wang, 2023-06-19 The Late Pennsylvanian was a time of ice ages and associated climate dynamics. A major reduction in Gondwana ice volume was followed by a prolonged period of relative global warmth culminating in the last great ice age of the late Paleozoic. It also was a major turning point in the evolution of life on land when the coal forests of the Middle Pennsylvanian gave way to new kinds of Late Pennsylvanian wetland vegetation and new kinds of animals appeared. Changes in the terrestrial biota began during the Middle Pennsylvanian, accelerating and proceeding in a spatially complex manner throughout the Late Pennsylvanian. The Late Pennsylvanian is thus a laboratory for studying environmental changes in a glacial world and for assessing coeval biotic changes in part to establish the possible links between the two. No book has been dedicated to this time interval so this volume fills a gap in our understanding of a dynamic Late Pennsylvanian world that is much like the late Cenozoic world.
