Race And Racism In Britain Second Edition:

The Racialisation of Disorder in Twentieth Century Britain Michael Rowe, 2017-07-05 This book develops the concept of racialisation. It argues that a full understanding of racialized discourse must pay attention to both the particular local circumstances in which they appear and well established themes which have unfolded over time. An important aspect of the study is the examination of other discourses with which racialized ideas have co joined reflecting the way in which notions of race are socially constructed. The final part of the thesis returns to debates of the 1980 s and argues that the racialisation of unrest in that decade was closely intertwined with conservative perspectives which sought to deny socio economic causes in favour of explanations based upon the supposed cultural or personal proclivities of those involved.

The Creolisation of London Kinship Elaine Bauer, 2010 In the last 50 years the United Kingdom has witnessed a growing proportion of mixed African Caribbean and white British families. With rich new primary evidence of mixed race in the capital city, The Creolisation of London Kinship thoughtfully explores this population. Making an indelible contribution to both kinship research and wider social debates, the book emphasises a long term evolution of family relationships across generations. Individuals are followed through changing social and historical contexts seeking to understand in how far many of these transformations may be interpreted as creolisation. Examined too are strategies and innovations in relationship construction, the social constraints put upon them, the special significance of women and children in kinship work and the importance of non biological as well as biological notions of family relatedness.
