Race Nature And Culture:

Race, Nature and Culture Peter Wade, 2002-06-20 Since the controversial scientific race theories of the 1930s anthropologists have generally avoided directly addressing the issue of race viewing it as a social construct Challenging this tradition Peter Wade proposes that anthropologists can in fact play an important role in the study of race Wade is critical of contemporary theoretical studies of race formulated within the contexts of colonial history sociology and cultural studies Instead he argues for a new direction one which anthropology is well placed to explore Taking the study of race beyond Western notions of the individual Wade argues for new paradigms in social science in particular in the development of connections between race sex and gender An understanding of these issues within an anthropological context he contends is vital for defining personhood and identity Race is often defined by its reference to biology blood genes nature or essence Yet these concepts are often left unexamined Integrating material from the history of science science studies and anthropological studies of kinship and new reproductive technologies as well as from studies of race Peter Wade explores the meaning of such terms and interrogates the relationship between nature and culture in ideas about race

Race, Nature, and the Politics of Difference Donald S. Moore, Jake Kosek, Anand Pandian, 2003-05-20 A collection of essays that show the interdependence of concepts of race and nature

Race, Ethnicity and Nation Peter Wade, 2007 Race ethnicity and nation are all intimately linked to family and kinship yet these links deserve closer attention than they usually get in social science above all when family and kinship are changing rapidly in the context of genomic and biotechnical revolutions Drawing on data from assisted reproduction transnational adoption mixed race families Basque identity politics and post Soviet nation building this volume provides new and challenging ways to understand race ethnicity and nation Back cover

Rendering Nature Marguerite S. Shaffer, Phoebe S. K. Young, 2015-08-28 We exist at a moment during which the entangled challenges facing the human and natural worlds confront us at every turn whether at the most basic level of survival health sustenance shelter or in relation to our comfort driven desires As demand for resources both necessary and unnecessary increases understanding how nature and culture are interconnected matters more than ever Bridging the fields of environmental history and American studies Rendering Nature examines the surprising interconnections between nature and culture in distinct places times and contexts over the course of American history Divided into four themes animals bodies places and politics the essays span a diverse array of locations and periods from antebellum slave society to atomic testing sites from gorillas in Central Africa to river runners in the Grand Canyon from white sun tanning enthusiasts to Japanese American incarcerated taxidermists at the 1893 World's Fair to tents on Wall Street in 2011 Together they offer new perspectives and conceptual tools that can help us better understand the historical realities and current paradoxes of our environmental predicament Contributors Thomas G Andrews Connie Y Chiang Catherine Cocks Annie Gilbert Coleman Finis Dunaway John Herron Andrew Kirk Frieda Knobloch Susan A Miller Brett Mizelle Marguerite S Shaffer Phoebe S K Young

Race, Nature, and the Environment Katie Meehan, 2024-11-01 What might it mean to unsettle our disciplinary understanding of race nature and the environment This book assembles diverse voices and approaches in geographic thinking on race and racialization during an era of climate crisis toxic legacies state violence mass extinctions carceral logics and racial injustices that shape and are shaped by the re production of nature The volume advances new critical scholarship on race and racialization in Anglo American geography reflects on its uneven diffusion and unmet challenges and notes the unstoppable force of insurgent thinking abolition geography critical race theory Black and Indigenous geographies scholar activism and environmental justice praxis in taking hold and transforming the discipline Together the authors work across the vibrant fields of political ecology and human environment geography grapple with timely questions of land water territory and place making render visible the spatial and socioecological reproduction of power and violence by capital and the state and make space for the enduring politics of struggle on multiple registers body home classroom park city community region and world Race Nature and the Environment will interest students academics and researchers in Geography who are keen to learn about disciplinary approaches and debates in relation to race racialization environmental justice and the politics of nature in a world marked by white supremacy The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of the Annals of the American Association of Geographers

Making Sense of Nature Noel Castree, 2013-08-15 We listen to a cacophony of voices instructing us how to think and feel about nature including our own bodies The news media wildlife documentaries science magazines and environmental NGOs are among those clamouring for our attention But are we empowered by all this knowledge or is our dependence on various communities allowing our thoughts sentiments and activities to be unduly governed by others Making Sense of Nature shows that what we call nature is made sense of for us in ways that make it central to social order social change and social dissent By utilising insights and extended examples from anthropology cultural studies human geography philosophy politics sociology science studies this interdisciplinary text asks whether we can better make sense of nature for ourselves and thus participate more meaningfully in momentous decisions about the future of life human and non human on the planet This book shows how nature can be made sense of without presuming its naturalness The challenge is not so much to rid ourselves of the idea of nature and its collateral concepts such as genes but instead we need to be more alert to how why and with what effects ideas about nature get fashioned and deployed in specific situations Among other things the book deals with science and scientists the mass media and journalists ecotourism literature and cinema environmentalists advertising and big business This innovative text contains numerous case studies and examples from daily life to put theory and subject matter into context as well as study tasks a glossary and suggested further reading The case studies cover a range of topics range from forestry in Canada and Guinea to bestiality in Washington State to how human genetics is reported in Western newspapers to participatory science experiments in the UK Making Sense of Nature will empower readers from a wide range of fields across the social sciences humanities and physical sciences Critical Philosophy of Race Robert Bernasconi, 2023 The fifteen essays by distinguished philosopher of race Robert Bernasconi that are collected here demonstrate why the critical philosophy of race needs to take a historical turn Genealogies of the concepts of both race and racism clarify why some of the dominant strategies for combatting racism tend to be ineffective For example the Boasian UNESCO strategy that highlights biology's rejection of race neglects cultural racism Drawing on the work of Frantz Fanon the late Sartre and Michel Foucault Robert Bernasconi argues for a holistic approach that integrates the concrete experience of racism faced by individuals into the study of institutional structural and systemic racism His philosophical studies of such Black philosophers as Ottobah Cugoana Antenor Firmin and W E B Du Bois contribute to challenging the dominant philosophical canon This volume will be an essential resource for scholars and students interested in this resurgent topic Ethics and Environment. Éthique et environnement Peter Kemp, Noriko Hashimoto, 2016 This book offers a serious take on the social environmental crisis that our world suffers from today In the first section the authors look at ethical responsibility in relation to the natural environment whereas in the second section they examine ethical responsibility in the cultural and social environment The third part includes papers devoted to the philosophy of Paul Ricoeur 1913-2005 written by Ricoeur scholars The essays focus on ethics and the natural social or cultural environment in Ricoeur's thought Half of the essays are in English the other half are in French and German Series Eco-Ethica Vol 5 Subject Religious Studies Christianity Studies Philosophy The Ashgate Research Companion to Modern Imperial Histories Professor John Marriott, Professor Philippa Levine, 2013-07-28 Taking a broad comparative approach to imperial experiences this volume provides an authoritative survey of the latest research into the histories of modern empires The focus is on the era of modern imperial history dating approximately from the early sixteenth century to the present Such a periodization enables the volume to include the European experience of imperial expansion and settlement important historical experiences outside the west such as those of Russia Japan and China the collapse of European empires attendant on decolonization in the post World War II period and the contemporary example of North America The companion is divided into three sections Times Spaces and Themes which allows chronological geographical and thematic approaches to be successfully combined In so doing this volume provides a unique research tool that will be invaluable to all students and scholars interested in the history of empires imperialism and colonialism in the post classical world Montreal 2010 - Facing Multiplicity: Psyche, Nature, Culture Pramila Bennett, 2012 Jungian analysts from all over the world gathered in Montreal from August 22 to 27 2010 The 11 plenary presentations and the 100 break out sessions attest to the complex dynamics and dilemmas facing the community in present day culture The Pre Congress Workshop on Movement as Active Imagination papers are also recorded There is a foreword by Tom Kelly with the opening address of Joe Cambray and the farewell address of Hester Solomon From the Contents Jacques Languirand From Einstein's God to the God of the Amerindians John Hill One Home Many Homes Translating Heritages of Containment Denise Ramos Cultural Complex and

Goodman, Deborah Heath, M. Susan Lindee, 2003-11-06 Individual essays address issues raised by the science politics and history of race evolution and identity genetically modified organisms and genetic diseases gene work and ethics and the boundary between humans and animals The result is an entree to the complicated nexus of questions prompted by the power and importance of genetics and genetic thinking and the dynamic connections linking culture biology nature and technoscience The volume offers critical perspectives on science and culture with contributions that span disciplinary divisions and arguments grounded in both biological perspectives and cultural analysis

Nature, Culture and Gender P. Mary Vidya Porselvi, 2016-04-20 Folktales in India have been told heard read and celebrated for many centuries In breaking new ground Indian folktales have been reread and examined in the light of the Mother Earth discourse as it manifests in the lifeworlds of women nature and language The book introduces ecofeminist criticism and situates it within an innovative folktale typology to connect women and environment through folklore The book proposes an innovative paradigm inspired by the beehive to analyze motifs relationships concerns worldviews and consciousness of indigenous women and men who live close to nature as well as other socially marginalized groups In the current global context fraught with challenges for ecology and hopes for sustainable development this book with its interdisciplinary approach will interest scholars and researchers of literature environmental studies gender studies and cultural anthropology Culture and Context in World Politics Stephanie Lawson, 2006-09-05 This wide ranging historically informed study examines the career of the culture concept and related notions of context in comparative and international politics tracing connections through the disciplines of anthropology and history as well as through issues in nationalism and democracy Nature Noel Castree, 2005 Synthesizing complex theories debates and information on nature this text explores the ways in which nature has been studied emphasizing the relationships and differences between diverse branches of geography Nature, Human Nature, & Human Difference Justin E. H. Smith, 2015-06-30 People have always been xenophobic but an explicit philosophical and scientific view of human racial difference only began to emerge during the modern period Why and how did this happen Surveying a range of philosophical and natural scientific texts dating from the Spanish Renaissance to the German Enlightenment Nature Human Nature and Human Difference charts the evolution of the modern concept of race and shows that natural philosophy particularly efforts to taxonomize and to order nature played a crucial role Smith demonstrates how the denial of moral equality between Europeans and non Europeans resulted from converging philosophical and scientific developments including a declining belief in human nature s universality and the rise of biological classification The racial typing of human beings grew from the need to understand humanity within an all encompassing system of nature alongside plants minerals primates and other animals While racial difference as seen through science did not arise in order to justify the enslavement of people it became a rationalization and buttress for the practices of trans Atlantic slavery From the work of Fran ois Bernier to G W Leibniz Immanuel Kant and others Smith delves into philosophy s part in the legacy and damages of modern racism With a broad narrative stretching over two centuries Nature Human Nature and Human Difference takes a critical historical look at how the racial categories that we divide ourselves into came into being

Rethinking the Great White North Andrew Baldwin, Laura Cameron, Audrey Kobayashi, 2011-09-21 Canadian national identity is bound to the idea of a Great White North Images of snow wilderness and emptiness seem innocent yet this path breaking volume shows they contain the seeds of contemporary racism Rethinking the Great White North moves the idea of whiteness to the centre of debates about Canadian history geography and identity Informed by critical race theory and the insight that racism is geographical as well as historical and cultural the contributors trace how notions of race whiteness and nature helped shape Canada s identity as a white country in travel writing and treaty making scientific research and park planning and within small towns cities and tourist centres These nuanced explorations of diverse historical geographies of nature not only revisit the past they offer a new vocabulary for contemporary debates on Canada s role in the North and the nature of multiculturalism

John Burroughs and the Place of Nature James Perrin Warren, 2010-02-25 This study situates John Burroughs together with John Muir and Theodore Roosevelt as one of a trinity of thinkers who between the Civil War and World War I defined and secured a place for nature in mainstream American culture Though not as well known today Burroughs was the most popular American nature writer of his time Prolific and consistent he published scores of essays in influential large circulation magazines and was often compared to Thoreau Unlike Thoreau however whose reputation grew posthumously Burroughs was a celebrity during his lifetime he wrote more than thirty books enjoyed a continual high level of visibility and saw his work taught widely in public schools James Perrin Warren shows how Burroughs helped guide urban and suburban middle class readers back to nature during a time of intense industrialization and urbanization Warren discusses Burroughs s connections not only to Muir and Roosevelt but also to his forebears Emerson Thoreau and Whitman By tracing the complex philosophical creative and temperamental lineage of these six giants Warren shows how in their friendships and rivalries Burroughs Muir and Roosevelt made the high literary romanticism of Emerson Thoreau and Whitman relevant to late nineteenth and early twentieth century Americans At the same time Warren offers insights into the rise of the nature essay as a genre the role of popular magazines as shapers and conveyors of public values and the dynamism of place in terms of such opposed concepts as retreat and engagement nature and culture and wilderness and civilization Because Warren draws on Burroughs s personal critical and philosophical writings as well as his better known narrative essays readers will come away with a more informed sense of Burroughs as a literary naturalist and a major early practitioner of ecocriticism John Burroughs and the Place of Nature helps extend the map of America s cultural landscape during the period 1870 1920 by recovering an unfairly neglected practitioner of one of his era s most effective forces for change nature writing

African American Environmental Thought Kimberly K. Smith,2021-02-02 African American intellectual thought has long provided a touchstone for national politics and civil rights but as Kimberly Smith reveals it also has much to say about our relationship to nature In this first single authored book to link African American and environmental studies Smith uncovers a rich tradition stretching from the abolition movement through the Harlem Renaissance demonstrating that black Americans have been far from indifferent to environmental concerns Beginning with environmental critiques of slave agriculture in the early nineteenth century and evolving through critical engagements with scientific racism artistic primitivism pragmatism and twentieth century urban reform Smith highlights the continuity of twentieth century black politics with earlier efforts by slaves and freedmen to possess the land She examines the works of such canonical figures as Frederick Douglass Booker T Washington W E B Du Bois and Alain Locke all of whom wrote forcefully about how slavery and racial oppression affected black Americans relationship to the environment Smith s analysis focuses on the importance of freedom in humans relationship with nature According to black theorists the denial of freedom can distort one s relationship to the natural world impairing stewardship and alienating one from the land Her pathbreaking study offers the first linkage of the early conservation movement to black history the first detailed description of black agrarianism and the first analysis of scientific racism as an environmental theory It also offers a new way to conceptualize black politics by bringing into view its environmental dimension as well as a normative environmental theory grounded in pragmatism and aimed at identifying the social conditions for environmental virtue Smith s work offers a new approach to established writers and thinkers and shows that they justly deserve a place in the canon of American environmental thought African American Environmental Thought enriches our understanding of black politics and environmental history and of environmental theory in general Because slavery and racism have shaped the meaning of the American landscape this body of thought offers us fresh conceptual resources by which we can make better sense of our world
