Race To The Stratosphere:

Race to the Stratosphere David H. DeVorkin, 1989 Beretter om amerikanske videnskabelige forskning i 1930'erne med bemandede balloner der kunne nå stratosfæren Broken Icarus David Hanna, 2022-06-15 2022 History Book Festival Official Selection The 1930s still conjure painful images of the great want of the Depression and overseas the exuberant crowds motivated by self-appointed national saviors dressing up old hatreds as new ideas But there was another story that embodied mankind in that decade In the same year that both Adolf Hitler and Franklin D Roosevelt came to power the city of Chicago staged what was up to that time the most forward looking international exhibition in history The 1933 World's Fair looked to the future unabashedly as one full of glowing promise No technology loomed larger at the Fair than aviation And no persons at the Fair captured the public's interest as much as the romantic figures associated with it Italy's internationally renowned chief of aeronautics Italo Balbo German Zeppelin designer and captain Doctor Hugo Eckener and the husband and wife aeronaut team of Swiss born Jean Piccard and Chicago born Jeannette Ridlon Piccard This golden age of aviation and its high priests and priestesses portended to many the world over that a new age was dawning an age when man would not only leave the ground behind but also his uglier less admirable heritage of war poverty corruption and disease It was only later in the decade that the dark correlation between the rise of some of aviation's superstars and the rise of fascism was to be revealed But for a moment in 1933 this all lay in a future that still seemed so promising In Broken Icarus author David Hanna tracks the inspiring trajectory of aviation leading up to and through the World's Fair of 1933 as well as the field of flight's more sinister ties to fascism domestic and abroad to present a unique history that is both riveting and revelatory Rockets and Revolution Michael G. Smith, 2014-12-01 Rockets and Revolution offers a multifaceted study of the race toward space in the first half of the twentieth century examining how the Russian European and American pioneers competed against one another in the early years to acquire the fundamentals of rocket science engineer simple rockets and ultimately prepare the path for human spaceflight Between 1903 and 1953 Russia matured in radical and dramatic ways as the tensions and expectations of the Russian revolution drew it both westward and spaceward European and American industrial capacities became the models to imitate and to surpass The burden was always on Soviet Russia to catch up enough to achieve a number of remarkable firsts in these years from the first national rocket society to the first comprehensive surveys of spaceflight Russia rose to the challenges of its Western rivals time and again transcending the arenas of science and technology and adapting rocket science to popular culture science fiction political ideology and military programs While that race seemed well on its way to achieving the goal of space travel and exploring life on other planets during the second half of the twentieth century these scientific advances turned back on humankind with the development of the intercontinental ballistic missile and the coming of the Cold War Air Force Magazine, 1999-07 We Called it MAG-nificent E. N. Brandt, 2013-05-01 During World War I in 1916 Herbert Dow founder of The Dow Chemical Company received news of star shells weapons that glowed eerily as they descended over the trenches of the enemy making them easier to attack The critical component in these flares was magnesium a metal that was suddenly in great demand Dow along with a half dozen other U S firms swiftly began manufacturing magnesium but by 1927 Dow was the only U S company still in the business Dow s key innovation was a method of extracting the metal from seawater an engineering accomplishment finally achieved at Freeport Texas only eleven months prior to the Pearl Harbor attack Dow was the principal supplier of magnesium for U S and British planes during World War II a distinction that ironically yielded an indictment from the U S government on monopoly charges The company eventually became the world s largest manufacturer of magnesium until 1990 when the Chinese entered the market and offered the metal at rock bottom prices Dow quietly ended its production of magnesium in 1998 Brandt s history is an engaging look at Dow s eighty three year romance with this remarkable metal Splinters of

Infinity Mark Wolverton,2024-03-12 The riveting story of a modern age scientific feud between two Nobel Prize winning scientists over the nature of cosmic rays and the universe Set in a revolutionary era of physics and science when a series of rapid fire discoveries was upending our understanding of the universe Splinters of Infinity by Mark Wolverton tells a little known story the tale of two of America s foremost physicists Robert Millikan 1868 1953 and Arthur Compton 1892 1962 who found themselves locked in an intense often deeply personal conflict about cosmic rays Confirmed in 1912 cosmic rays enigmatic forms of penetrating radiation seemed to raise all new questions about the origins of the universe but they also offered the potential to explain everything or reveal the existence of God In engaging accessible prose Wolverton takes the reader through the twists and turns of the Millikan Compton debate one of the first major public examples of how heated the controversies among scientists could become and the lengths that scientists would go to settle their disputes What set them apart at least in most cases Wolverton shows was their ability to concentrate finally on what mattered the science Along the way Wolverton probes the forever elusive question still unanswered today about where cosmic rays come from and what they reveal about black holes distant galaxies the existence of dark matter and dark energy and the birth of the universe concluding that these splinters of infinity may not hold the keys to the secret of creation but do bring us ever closer to it

The Spacefaring Earth Michael G. Smith,2024-12-04 This engaging survey of the Space Age links science and technology with politics and popular culture war and peace and crises and controversies It examines the history of spaceflight as a mirror of human thought and action across the Earth The volume encompasses the new astronomy and sciences of the modern era the early dreamers and pioneers after 1903 the national competitions of the First World War the rocket states that prepared for the Second World War the rivalries and space race of the Cold War between the US and USSR as well as more recent developments including the Space Shuttle the International Space Station national space programs orbital technologies transhumanism and military and commercial ventures in space It also stresses the importance of geography in the geopolitics of spaceflight competition and in the nature of the planetary biosphere Taking a chronological approach to lived human experience and threshold achievements the chapters show how these themes have been reflected in literature art music film and our new digital worlds This book is essential reading for students of the history of the Space Age as well as an excellent companion to courses on twentieth century science and technology the Cold War and American history

Exploration and Science Michael Sean Reidy, Gary Kroll, Erik M. Conway, 2006-12-27 This comprehensive volume explores the intricate mutually dependent relationship between science and exploration how each has repeatedly built on the discoveries of the other and in the process opened new frontiers A simple question Which came first advances in navigation or successful voyages of discovery A complicated answer Both and neither For more than four centuries scientists and explorers have worked together sometimes intentionally and sometimes not in an ongoing symbiotic partnership When early explorers brought back exotic flora and fauna from newly discovered lands scientists were able to challenge ancient authorities for the first time As a result scientists not only invented new navigational tools to encourage exploration but also created a new approach to studying nature in which observations were more important than reason and authority The story of the relationship between science and exploration analyzed here for the first time is nothing less than the history of modern science and the expanding human universe

Dynamic Acting through Active Analysis Sharon Marie Carnicke, 2022-12-15 In the 21st century actors face radical changes in plays and performance styles as they move from stage to screen and grapple with new technologies that present their art to ever expanding audiences Active Analysis offers the flexibility of mind body and spirit now urgently needed in acting Dynamic Acting through Active Analysis brings to light this timely legacy born during the worst era of Soviet repression and hidden for decades from public view Part I unfolds like a mystery novel through letters memoirs and transcripts of Konstantin Stanislavsky's last classes Far from the authoritarian director of his youth he reveals himself as a generous mentor who empowers actors with a brand new collaborative approach to rehearsals His assistant Maria Knebel first bears witness to his forward looking ideas and then builds the bridge to new plays in new styles through her directing and influential teaching Part II follows a 21st century company of diverse actors as they experience the joy of applying Active Analysis to their own creative and professional work

Critical Issues in the History of Spaceflight Stephen J. Dick, Steven J. Dick, Roger D. Launius, 2006 In March 2005 the NASA History Division and the Division of Space History at the National Air and Space Museum brought together a distinguished group of scholars to consider the state of the discipline of space history This volume is a collection of essays based on those deliberations The meeting took place at a time of extraordinary transformation for NASA stemming from the new Vision of Space Exploration announced by President George W Bush in January 2004 to go to the Moon Mars and beyond This Vision in turn stemmed from a deep reevaluation of NASA's goals in the wake of the Space Shuttle Columbia accident and the recommendations of the Columbia Accident Investigation Board The new goals were seen as initiating a New Age of Exploration and were placed in the context of the importance of exploration and discovery to the American experiences

The Pre-astronauts Craig Ryan, 1995 Back in the 1950s and early 1960s before liquid fuel rockets had launched us full sail onto what John Kennedy would call the new ocean a small fraternity of daring brilliant men made the first exploratory trips into the upper stratosphere to the edge of outer space in tiny capsules suspended beneath plastic balloons They saw things no one had ever seen and they experienced conditions no one was sure they could survive This book tells the story of these brave and tenacious men as they labored on the cusp of a new age The author captures the drama of their spectacular achievements and those of many of the other space pioneers who made America's stratospheric balloon programs possible Their now largely forgotten programs supplied many systems and processes adopted by NASA Unfortunately some of the valuable lessons they brought back from the edge of space were ignored in at least one case with disastrous consequences Craig Ryan's argument is compelling for the inclusion of these men's achievements in the broad history of space exploration and astronautics In their day before Gagarin and Glenn and American flags on the Sea of Tranquillity these pre astronauts were the space program
