Moreover food insecurity and low dietary quality cause huge public health problems Malnutrition is responsible for physical and mental development impairments various infectious diseases and unacceptably high numbers of premature deaths Since the Green Revolution a constant increase in crop productivity have experienced however there is concern that yield improvement is not enough Current rate of annual yield increases for major crops ranges between 0.8-1.2 % which needs to be doubled to feed the ever increasing human population The classical breeding techniques contributed toward the development of superior crop varieties which helped in achieving food security for ever increasing human population However with the passage of time these classical breeding approaches are lagging to meet global food requirements and scientists are working on novel plant breeding techniques NPBTs and other breakthrough agricultural techniques to reduce hunger Recently OMICs genome wide association studies GWAS QTL mapping Next Generation Sequencing NGS and genome editing GE approaches etc have proven to be powerful tools that we have at our disposal to overcome substantial obstacles in the way of efficiency and productivity of current agricultural practices In addition recently there has been a rapid development of online forums methods protocols and application strategies for genome based techniques and their applications for crop improvement
