Racial Ethnic Patterns Of Cancer In The Us 1988 1992:

Racial/Ethnic Patterns of Cancer in the United States, 1988-1992 Barry A. Miller, 1997-07 Hutchinson focuses initially on movement as concept and metaphor affirming its centrality in the conceptualization of all discursive activities He draws on an array of authors including Heraclitus Plato Longinus Rabelais Nietzsche Saussure Frances Yates Kristeva Meschonnic and Deleuze to demonstrate the motion of discourse and of those engaged in it He then turns to Cervantes novels to show how metaphors of movement and travel appearing on nearly every page dominate the conceptualization of the soul the self desire love and life processes Viewing travel as a composite of concurrent modes of experience with differing content and rhythms Hutchinson considers the concept of errancy the nature of place and the traveler s shifting relations with it and the values that travel may have as a motion displacement encounter and goal Of key importance are the means of improvisation developed en route His re examination of Bakhtin s chronotope in light of Cervante s novels reveals the dynamic character of time spaces in which travelers move He shows moreover that unlike typical Renaissance utopias the many worlds of Cervantes novels have the principles of becoming and dissolution inscribed in them Reflecting on the narrative of journeys both as memory and invention Hutchinson concludes with an examination of the relations between travel experience and travel narrative and a discussion of the whereabouts of writers and readers in Cervantes novels The narration of journeys he argues necessitates and encourages improvisatory writing

Racial/ethnic Patterns of Cancer in the United States, 1988-1992, 1996* This monograph provides a concise description of the occurrence of the major cancers among several different racial ethnic groups in the United States Age adjusted incidence and mortality rates are shown graphically by age group and sex for Alaska Native American Indian New Mexico black Chinese Filipino Hawaiian Hispanic Japanese Korean Vietnamese white total white Hispanic and white non Hispanic populations This landmark report represents the most extensive information yet available on racial and ethnic differences in the cancer experience Prostate Cancer Trends 1973-1995, 1999 Atlas of Cancer Mortality in the United States, 1950-94, 1999 Utilizes 1950 1994 mortality data from the National Center for Health Statistics and population estimates from the Census Bureau Rates by 100 000 person years are calculated by race whites blacks and sex for different forms of cancer Includes maps summary tables and figures Accompanying text describes the observed variations for specific cancers and suggests explanations

Women of Color Health Data Book, 1998 Journal of the National Cancer Institute, 2007-12 Each issue is packed with extensive news about important cancer related science policy politics and people Plus there are editorials and reviews by experts in the field book reviews and commentary on timely topics Handbook of Asian American Health Grace J. Yoo, Mai-Nhung Le, Alan Y. Oda, 2012-10-12 Asian Americans encounter a range of health issues often unknown to the American public policy makers researchers and even clinicians National research often combines Asian Americans into a single category not taking into account the differences and complexity among Asian ethnic subgroups The definition of Asian American derives from the U S

Census Bureau's definition of Asian which includes peoples from all the vast territories of the Far East Southeast Asia and the South Asian Subcontinent While Census classifications determine demographic measurements that affect equal opportunity programs the broad rubric Asian American can never describe accurately the more than 50 distinct Asian American subgroups who together comprise multifaceted diversity across cultural ethnicities socio economic status languages religions and generations This volume rectifies that situation by exploring the unique needs and health concerns of particular subgroups within the Asian American community It consolidates a wide range of knowledge on various health issues impacting Asian Americans while also providing a discussion into the cultural social and structural forces impacting morbidity mortality and quality of life The volume is designed to advance the understanding of Asian American health by explaining key challenges and identifying emerging trends faced in specific ethnic groups and diseases illnesses innovative community based interventions and the future needed areas of research

Tobacco Use Among U. S. Racial/Ethnic Minority Groups David Satcher,1999-04      Essentials of Environmental Health Robert Friis,2012 Health Sciences Professions      Toward Environmental Justice Committee on Environmental Justice,Institute of Medicine,1999-03-11 Driven by community based organizations and supported by a growing body of literature the environmental justice movement contends that poor and minority populations are burdened with more than their share of toxic waste pesticide runoff and other hazardous byproducts of our modern economic life Is environmental degradation worse in poor and minority communities Do these communities suffer more adverse health effects as a result The committee addresses these questions and explores how current fragmentation in health policy could be replaced with greater coordination among federal state and local parties The book is highlighted with case studies from five locations where the committee traveled to hear citizen and researcher testimony It offers detailed examinations in these areas Identifying environmental hazards and assessing risk for populations of varying ethnic social and economic backgrounds and the need for methodologies that uniquely suit the populations at risk Identifying basic clinical and occupational research needs and meeting challenges to research on minorities Expanding environmental education from an ecological focus to a public health focus for all levels of health professionals Legal and ethical aspects of environmental health issues The book makes recommendations to decisionmakers in the areas of public health research and education of health professionals and outlines health policy considerations

Tobacco Use Among United States Racial/ethnic Minority Groups United States. Department of Health and Human Services,1998 This Surgeon General s report on tobacco use summarizes current information on risk factors and patterns related to tobacco use among members of four major racial and ethnic minority groups in the United States African Americans American Indians and Alaska Natives Asian Americans and Pacific Islanders and Hispanics In addition this report presents information on national and regional efforts to curtail consumption of tobacco products among members of these four groups Previous Surgeon General s reports on smoking and health have briefly summarized findings related to one or more of the racial ethnic groups covered in this report but this is the first Surgeon General s report to concentrate specifically on the four major racial ethnic groups in the United States Several factors prompted the development of this report First the information in this report has never before been compiled in one source Consequently policymakers community leaders researchers and public health workers have had difficulty determining the extent of the problem identifying gaps in_ formation regarding tobacco use among members of the four groups or being aware of existing tobacco con_ trol programs that have demonstrated effectiveness Thus incorporating such information into the design and implementation of culturally appropriate services has been difficult Second the four racial ethnic groups currently constitute about one fourth of the population of this country and the Bureau of the Census projects that by 2050 the non Hispanic white population in the United States will total only 53 percent Day 1996 Prevent_ ing health problems related to tobacco use among the individuals in racial and ethnic groups will be integral to achieving U S public health objectives such as those proposed in Healthy People 2000 National Health Promotion and Disease Prevention Objectives U S Department of Health and Human Services USDHHS 1991 1995 National Center for Health Statistics NCHS 1994 This report contributes essential knowledge that must be incorporated into efforts to accomplish the Healthy People 2000 objectives
