Dirt Track Auto Racing, 1919-1941, Don Radbruch, 2015-03-07. Prior to World War I auto racing featured expensive machines and teams financed by auto factories. The teams toured the country and most of the races were held in large cities so the vast majority of Americans never saw a race. All this changed after World War I though and in the 1920s and 1930s there were approximately 1,000 dirt tracks in the United States and Canada. The dirt tracks offered small time racing, little prize money and minimal publicity but people loved it. This pictorial history documents dirt track racing with what are today called sprint cars around the United States from 1919 to 1941. Information on dirt track racing in Canada during this time is also provided. Regionally divided chapters detail the drivers, tracks and specific races of each area of the country. Some of the drivers went on to win fame and fortune while others faded into obscurity. Tracks included well known facilities as well as out of the way sites few people had ever heard of. The cars ranged from state of the art machines to the more common home built specials based on Model T or Model A Ford parts. Taken together the drivers, tracks and races of this era were instrumental in making auto racing the popular sport it is today.

Hidden History of Horse Racing in Kentucky, Foster Ockerman, 2015-11-30. A behind the scenes history of the Bluegrass State's iconic sport. Horse racing and the Commonwealth of Kentucky are synonymous. The equine industry in the state dates as far back as the eighteenth century and some of that history remains untold. The Seventeenth Earl of Derby made the trip from England to Louisville for the famed Kentucky Derby. Many famous African American jockeys grew up in the area but fled to Europe during the Jim Crow era. Gambling on races is a popular pastime but betting in the early days caused significant changes in the sport. Hidden History of Horse Racing in Kentucky details the rich and the lesser known history at the tracks in the Bluegrass State.
