Japanese Auto Transplants in the Heartland Robert Perrucci,2017-09-29 The idea for this book was formed during the early 1980s when the author was studying the impact of plant closings on displaced workers and communities In one community workers who were displaced by a plant closing expected to receive retraining funds through the Job Training and Partnership Act JTPA only to find that the state had committed all the JTPA funds to train new workers for a Japanese transplant Soon it became apparent that deindustrialization job loss and economically depressed communities were linked with the escalating interstate competition to provide multi million dollar incentive packages for businesses to settle in their state When Japanese automobile companies considered coming to the United States they fueled the interstate competition for these large projects which promised thousands of jobs and economic growth Niagara Falling Carol D. Miller,2007-01-01 Niagara Falling outlines the social and economic history of a paper mill and its relationship with the community of Niagara Wisconsin Technology Infrastructure and Competitive Position Gregory Tassej,2012-12-06 Global interest in technology based growth politics is growing as technology becomes an increasingly important factor in economic competitiveness In spite of increased efforts in many nations to develop more effective industry strategies most of these endeavors have been ad hoc exercises rather than derived from a consistent framework Technology Infrastructure and Competitive Position provides that missing framework It begins by providing an overview of technology based competition and the relevant issues A conceptual model is developed that emphasizes the roles and impacts of the supporting infrastructure Finally the book addresses the interaction of corporate and governmental roles for providing technology infrastructure some funding issues and mechanisms for cooperative planning and implementation Second Tier Cities Ann R. Markusen,Yong-Sook Lee,Sean DiGiovanna,1999 Over the past thirty years transnational investment trade and government policies have encouraged the decentralization of national economies disrupting traditional patterns of urban and regional growth Many smaller cities such as Seattle Washington Campinas Brazil Oita Japan and Kumi Korea have grown markedly faster than the largest metropolises Dubbed here second tier cities they are home to specialized industrial complexes that have taken root provided significant job growth and attracted mobile capital and labor The culmination of an ambitious five year fourteen city research project conducted by an international team of economics and geographers Second Tier Cities examines the potential of these new regions to balance uneven regional development create good stable jobs and moderate hyper urbanization Comparing across national borders the contributors describe four types of second tier cities Marshallian industrial districts hub and spoke cities satellite platforms and government anchored complexes They find that both industrial and regional policies have been important contributors to the rise of second tier cities though the former often trump the latter Lessons for local national and international policymakers are drawn The authors are critical of devolution and argue that it must be accompanied by strong labor and environmental standards and mechanisms to Jobs, Earnings, and Employment Growth Policies in the United States John D. Kasarda,2012-12-06 John D Kasarda By all accounts the United States has led the world in job creation During the past 20 years its economy added nearly 40 million jobs while the combined European Economic Community added none Since 1983 alone the U S generated more than 15 million jobs and its unemployment rate dropped from 7.5 percent to approximately 5 percent while the unemployment rate in much of western Europe climbed to double digits Even Japan's job creation record pales in comparison to the United States with its annual employment growth rate less than half that of the United States over the past 15 years 0.8 percent vs 2 percent Yet as the U S economy has been churning out millions of jobs annually conflicting views and heated debates have emerged regarding the quality of these new jobs and its implications for standards of living and U S economic competitiveness Many argue that the great American job machine is a mirage or grand illusion Rather than adding productive secure well paying jobs most new employment critics contend consists of poverty level dead end service sector jobs that contribute little or nothing to the nation's productivity and international competitiveness Much of the blame is placed on Reagan Bush policies that critics say undermine labor unions encourage wasteful corporate restructuring foster exploitative labor practices and reduce fiscal support for education and needed social services
