Music in World War II Pamela M. Potter, Christina L. Baade, Roberta Montemorra Marvin, 2020-10-06 A collection of essays examining the roles played by music in American and European society during the Second World War Global conflicts of the twentieth century fundamentally transformed not only national boundaries power relations and global economies but also the arts and culture of every nation involved An important unacknowledged aspect of these conflicts is that they have unique musical soundtracks Music in World War II explores how music and sound took on radically different dimensions in the United States and Europe before during and after World War II Additionally the collection examines the impact of radio and film as the disseminators of the war's musical soundtrack Contributors contend that the European and American soundtrack of World War II was largely one of escapism rather than the lofty solemn heroic and celebratory mode of war music in the past Furthermore they explore the variety of experiences of populations forced from their homes and interned in civilian and POW camps in Europe and the United States examining how music in these environments played a crucial role in maintaining ties to an idealized home and constructing politicized notions of national and ethnic identity This fascinating well constructed volume of essays builds understanding of the role and importance of music during periods of conflict and highlights the unique aspects of music during World War II A collection that offers deeply informed interdisciplinary and original views on a myriad of musical practices in Europe Great Britain and the United States during the period Gayle Magee co editor of Over Here Over There Transatlantic Conversations on the Music of World War I The World within War Gerald Linderman, 2013-10-16 Gerald Linderman has created a seamless and highly original social history authoritatively recapturing the full experience of combat in World War II Drawing on letters and diaries memoirs and surveys Linderman explores how ordinary frontline American soldiers prepared for battle related to one another conceived of the enemy thought of home and reacted to battle itself He argues that the grim logic of protracted combat threatened soldiers not only with the loss of limbs and lives but with growing isolation from country and commanders and ultimately with psychological disintegration

Tucker, Nicholas B. Breyfogle, Peter Mansoor, 2020-04-02 World War II was the largest and most destructive conflict in human history It was an existential struggle that pitted irreconcilable political systems and ideologies against one another across the globe in a decade of violence unlike any other There is little doubt today that the United States had to engage in the fighting especially after the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor on December 7 1941 The conflict was in the words of historians Allan Millett and Williamson Murray a war to be won As the world s largest industrial power the United States put forth a supreme effort to produce the weapons munitions and military formations essential to achieving victory When the war finally ended the finale signaled by atomic mushroom clouds over Hiroshima and Nagasaki upwards of 60 million people had perished in the inferno Of course the human toll represented only part of the devastation
